Ship Settlement Hopes Rise

Pentagon Plans Ready If Berlin Diplomacy Fails

U.S. Denies Red Right To Curb Plane Flights

BY ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thursday's renewed denial of East German right to limit access to West Berlin focused fresh attention on the Pentagon's plans for military action if diplomacy fails.

The State Department bluntly denied that East Germany has any right to impose restrictions on Allied use of the air corridors between West Germany and Berlin, which lies 110 miles within the Communist puppet state.

The department statement rejected specifically an East German decree of Wednesday which provided that after Aug. 1 foreign aircraft entering or leaving East German territory must register with an air service center.

The position taken is not a new one but it served to underscore the determination of the United States not to yield any part of what it regards as its right to unrestricted access to West Berlin.

NSC Meets At White House

The decree and the general background of mounting concern over the West Berlin situation presumably were high on the agenda of Thursday's National Security Council session at the White House. These NSC meetings are tightly closed and detailed reports of its discussions never are released.

The council is made of the President, the secretaries of Defense and State and the heads of several other agencies.

The Defense Department plans for a military showdown—if one comes—also are secret. But it is known there are several contingent plans which constantly are being updated. And the board outlines of some of them are known.

Actually, the plans for Berlin are just one section of strategic plans maintained by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Those plans fall into three categories: a "joint long-range strategic estimate," which covers a period of up to 12 years; a mid-range, "strategic objectives plan" covering a three-year period, and a short-range, "strategic capabilities." It may be asssumed the Berlin recommendations now have been moved into this category.

Blockade Probing Action

The Berlin folio undoubtedly includes the probability of probing action both on the ground and in the air, against blockades in both elements.

The plan for surface action became evident three years ago, when Soviet Premier Khrushchev first began voicing serious threats about ousting the United States, Britain and France from Berlin. The plan at that time—and quite possibly still valid—ran something like this:

If highway and rail blockades were imposed, the Army would first head an unarmed convoy of supplies and some personnel toward Berlin, through East Germany. The convoy would attempt, short of use of arms, to push on toward Berlin.

A somewhat similar tactic

ACCUSED "RIDER" — Katherine Pleune (above), 21, of Chicago, one of the "Freedom Riders" arrested during desegregation attempts in Jackson, Miss., was said yesterday by T. B. Miss. Official Says "Riders" Backed By Reds

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Brig. Gen. T. B. Birdsong, head of the Mississippi Highway Patrol, charged Thursday "Freedom Rides" were "directed, inspired and planned by known Communists."

The charge brought an almost immediate denial from a New York official of the Congress of Racial Equality.

Birdsong told a press conference at least two riders arrested during efforts to desegregate Jackson transportation facilities attended a Soviet-directed seminar in Cuba last February.

He said 202 American students made the trip to Havana and heard addresses by nine officials of the Soviet Union "to teach the students how to make sit-ins, walk-ins, kneel-ins and Freedom Rides."

Birdsong told newsmen the Congress of Racial Equality was responsible for the Freedom Rides and was a Communist - front group.

Earlier this week, Gordon Carey, of New York, field director of CORE, told newsmen here he planned the rides in February.

Birdsong said other Freedom Riders had records of auto theft, burglary, grand larceny and undesirable discharges from military service. He did not identify those riders.

Some, he said, were "Communist-backed, pawns in the hands of Communist powers that be."

Birdsong said the two riders who had attended the Havana meeting were:

Katherine Pleune, 21, a white mimeograph operator from Chicago, arrested on breach of peace charges when she arrived as a Freedom Rider June 19, and James Robert Wahlstrom, 24, University of Wisconsin student from Madison, Wis., arrested with a group of riders June 6.

Judge Rules 'Big Bill' Lias U. S. Citizen

Ex-Bootlegger Held Not Subject To Deportation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge Thursday held that William G. (Big Bill) Lias is a natural-born citizen of the United States.

Lias, fighting deportation, is therefore not subject to being sent from this country as an alien.

Judge Alexander Holtzoff issued the decision in U.S. District Court immediately after the conclusion of four days of testimony.

Holtzoff said the court is of the opinion, weighing evidence on both sides, that the plaintiff (Lias) had established by a fair preponderance of evidence that he is a natural-born citizen of the United States.

Appeal To Be Considered

E. Riley Case, special assistant to the attorney general, said the matter of appealing the decision would be taken under advisement.

Holtzoff, in reviewing some of the testimony, pointed to the lack of any birth certificate issued at the time Lias was born. He said there were only delayed birth certificates issued by West Virginia stating that the former Wheeling, W.Va., bootlegger and racetrack owner was born in that state.

Concerning records in Greece, the court said, there was also lack of conclusive records to show where Lias was born.

Lias Not In Court

The government has contended Lias was born in Gythion, Greece, while Lias has insisted during his trial, a previous U.S. District Court trial and hearings before the Immigration Board that he is a native of West Virginia.

The new court trial was completed in the absence of Lias himself. Testimony by Lias was offered by both sides Thursday in the form of a deposition previously given by Lias.

Holtzoff, who conducted the trial without a jury, had made it clear earlier he felt Lias was not helping his case by remaining away from the courtroom.

Triple Satellite Shot Is Hailed

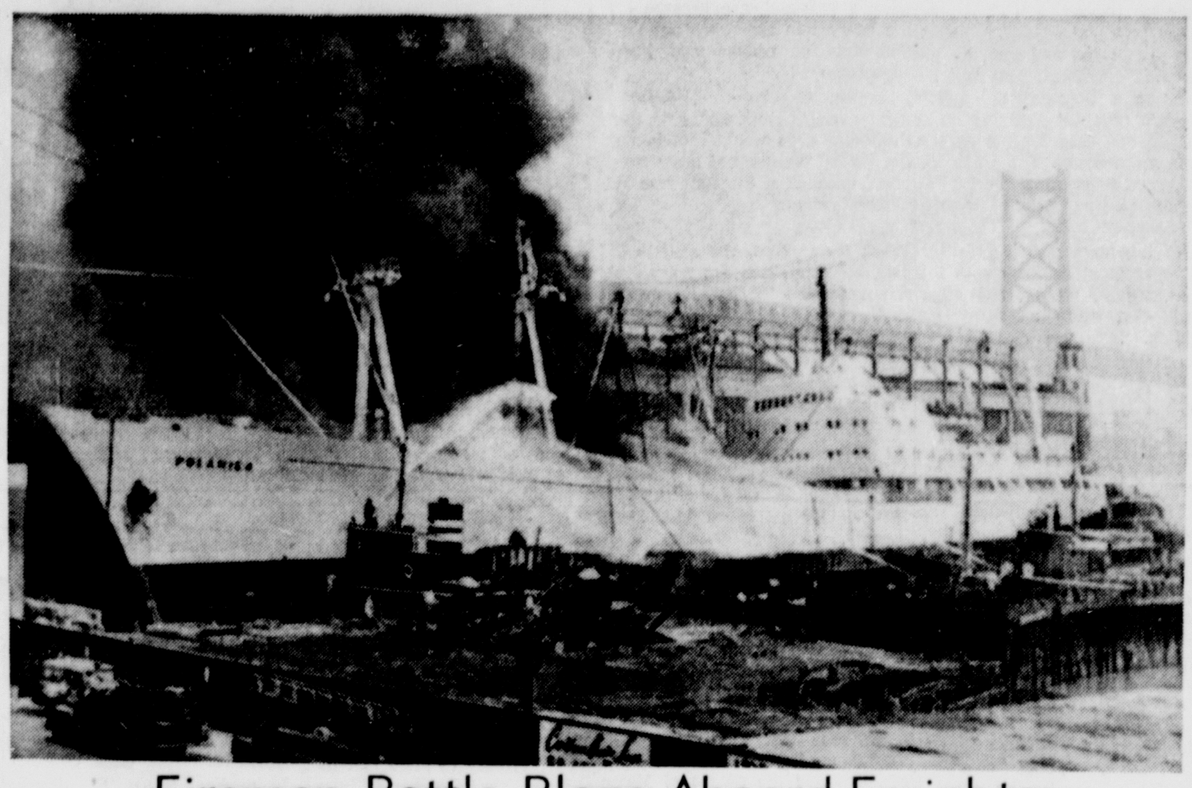

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A navigation satellite hurled into orbit shortly after midnight in a spectacular three-in-one rocket shot was hailed Thursday as a giant step toward the world's "first operational space system."

The 175-pound Transit IV-A satellite — the first to carry an atomic generator for radio power —was accompanied into orbit by two smaller satellites. The three were shot into space simultaneously by a Thor-Able-Star rocket from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

After gathering data from world wide tracking stations, the Navy in Washington jubilantly termed the shot "the most successful launch we have had." By late next year it hopes to have a satellite navigation system that will enable ships anywhere to fix their positions.

The Transit satellite and the two other artificial moons — Greb III and Injun — were launched from Cape Canaveral at 12:23 a.m., EDT. About 3 a.m., the Defense Department announced they were in orbit.

At a later news conference, Vice Adm. J. T. Hayward, deputy chief of naval operations, reported Transit was circling the earth every 104 minutes. He placed its maximum height at 629 miles and its minimum at 550 miles.

Firemen Battle Blaze Aboard Freighter

Fire engines and fireboats fight a blaze in the hold of the Polish freighter Polanica at Philadelphia yesterday. The fire broke out while cargo was being unloaded. The flaming ship was taken in tow, moved downstream in the Delaware River and beached on a sand bar where the blaze was brought under control after a six-hour battle. (AP Photofax)

Sheik Defies Iraq; British Ships On Move

By COLIN FROST

KUWAIT (AP) — The sheik of Kuwait defied Iraq's claims on his oil-rich nation Thursday and said his poeple stand behind him in maintaining the sheikdom's new independence.

Three days of popular demonstrations and a deluge of telegrams from desert Bedouins and oil workers of the Arab middle class confirmed his determination, he said in his first official statement on the crisis. Military support from Britain gave it muscle.

The British are keeping their advisers with the sheik's brigade-size army. British troops at Bahrain, another oil center 270 miles down the Persian Gulf, are reported being strengthened.

The British admiralty in London announced that the aircraft carrier Bulwark is steaming from Karachi to the Persian Gulf with 600 royal marine commandos. Three other British warships also are on the move in the Far East, reportedly bound for the Gulf.

The British, with big oil interests in the Kuwait fields, are pledged to answer any call for military aid by Kuwait's ruler, Sheik Abdullah As-Salim As-Sabah.

But he also is counting on his 320,000 subjects, who have the highest per capita income in the Middle East and the region's best school and hospital system, thanks to oil revenues of $3 million a day.

"At this crucial time in the history of Kuwait," said a statement issued by the sheik, "They (the people) have shown a spirit which has demonstrated to the world that we are ready to defend ourselves."

Kuwait, a British protectorate for 62 years, became independent last week and Premier Abdel Kraim Kassem of Iraq promptly laid claim to the little sheikdom on his eastern border. But his claim gained no support elsewhere in the Middle East.

Expressions of support for Kuwait's independence came from other Arab countries, the latest being Sudan and Libya.

395 Dead, Missing In Japanese Floods

TOKYO (AP) — The worst rainstorms in the memory of Japanese weathermen lashed Japan Thursday and national police said 395 persons were dead or missing in floods and landslides.

The storms broke over the heart of Honshu, Japan's main island, five days ago and have never let up. Wide areas have been turned into inland seas littered with wreckage. The rain was expected to continue at least until Monday.

Forty inches of rain has fallen on the Wakayama seacoast.

Thai Plot Uncovered

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Police said Thursday they have uncovered another Communist plot in Thailand's northeast region bordering Laos.

A police spokesman said 26 persons have been arrested for Communist activities. He asserted the plot called for the use of "foreign troops" in an attempt to take over all of Thailand.

School Bill Dispute Imperils Programs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two federal programs that provide financial aid to a third of the nation's public school children are threatened with extinction in the bitter House fight over federal aid to education.

As the threat becomes generally known, administration leaders hope it will produce a public clamor that will end the tug of war now slowly strangling President Kennedy's entire education program.

The two programs threatened with extinction are Public Laws 815 and 874.

They were first enacted in 1950 to help local school districts meet the burden of educating children whose parents work for the federal government.

Key portions of the law expire Friday and authorization to extend them for three years is included in the $2.5-billion public-school bill now seemingly hopelessly mired in the House Rules Committee.

It was no accident that continuation of the two programs was made part of the public school bill. In the 100 years of their existence they have proved popular with Congress and invaluable to school authorities.

More than $2 billion has been made available for building schools and paying teachers. The aid now goes to 3,821 school districts with 10.2 million pupils. The districts will lose $200 million next year if the programs die.

Of greater importance in the calculations of House leaders is the fact the aid goes to 313 congressional districts. This means more than 70 per cent of the representatives have a direct stake in seeing the programs continued.

Some of the biggest recipients are districts whose representatives have fought other school bills and are opposing this one.

With the school bill now bottled up in the Rules Committee, the strategy of combining the new and old programs is bearing fruit.

School superintendents are firing telegrams to their congressmen saying that school budgets for the fall semester can't be drawn until the two laws are extended. In case any superintendents neglected to write, the House Education Committee has sent the 313 congressmen involved a notice showing how their districts are affected.

Social Security Bill Sent To JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress Thursday cleared the way for about 3.7 million Americans to receive bigger Social Security checks by sending President Kennedy a compromise bill to overhaul the system.

The White House promptly announced that Kennedy plans tentatively to sign the bill Friday, clearing the way for the beneficiaries to start receiving the increased checks in September. Otherwise they would have had to wait until October.

The Social Security legislation extends to men the option women workers now have of retiring at age 62 with reduced benefits. Men now must wait until they are 65, at which time they retire with full benefits.

The bill also provides a 10 per cent boost in widows' benefits, affecting 1.5 million persons, and rises to $40 the present $33 minimum monthly benefit for workers retiring at 65. This means increases up to $7 a month for 2.2 million persons.

To finance this increase in costs and some less important changes, Social Security payroll taxes on workers and employers will be boosted by up to $6 a year each.

Blast Reported In Soviet Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials reported Thursday that an explosion occurred in the Soviet Union Jan. 31.

The force of the blast was estimated as equal to that from 50 to 100 tons of TNT. This could have been an explosion caused by chemical means or by atomic power and officials said they do not know which it was. It occurred east of the Finnish border.

U.S. sources reported they received the advice from abroad after Finnish newspapers published stories about it Wednesday.

The Washington officials said similar reports of other explosions in the Soviet Union are received here from time to time.

A main point of the test ban treaty which the West has been seeking at Geneva talks is creation of an inspection system to make sure unidentified explosions are not nuclear.

Kennedy Asks Permanent U.S. Disarm Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Thursday asked Congress to create a permanent U.S. disarmament agency to find methods for checking the world arms race and means for enforcing any agreements reached.

He sent Congress a bill to create an autonomous "United States Disarmament Agency for World Peace and Security." This would be a sub-Cabinet-level unit replacing the present U.S. Disarmament Administration which is a part of the State Department. The new agency would be the first of its kind in the world.

The present administration is directed by John J. McCloy, the President's special adviser on disarmament, and Thursday's recommendations stem from McCloy's five-month study of the complex problem. The administration was created last October by then President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In a letter transmitting the proposed legislation to the Senate and House, Kennedy wrote: "Today, ability of man to master his environment threatens to outpace his ability to control himself. . . . The people . . . have not yet been able to banish the primitive threat of war. The ingenuity that has made the weapons of war vastly more destructive should be applied to the development of a system of control of these weapons."

The President added the effort to achieve peace cannot succeed solely through control of arms but needs also "measures to sustain and strengthen international institutions and the rule of law. . . . It should drive toward creation of peaceful world society in which disarmament . . . is the accepted condition of international life."

The measure was referred to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The new agency would be headed by a $22,500-a-year director who would be the President's principal disarmament adviser and would report also to the secretary of state.

Although the White House said Kennedy has not made a final choice for the post, William C. Foster is regarded as a likely appointee. Foster is an aide to McCloy who plans to retire to an advisory capacity.

Fact-Finders Given Three Extra Days

Panel's Chairman Reports Progress Toward Settlement

NEW YORK (UPI) — Negotiators appeared Thursday night to be nearing a voluntary settlement in the 14-day maritime strike that has crippled the nation's merchant shipping.

President Kennedy in Washington gave his fact-finding panel three extra days to try to end the strike before reporting to him on whether the walkout is imperiling the nation's health and safety.

David L. Cole, chairman of the three-man panel, said in New York "very good progress" was being made toward reaching a voluntary settlement.

Meet Separately

Cole said his board and federal mediators were meeting separately with the powerful National Maritime Union (NMU) and shipowner representatives. He said the two sides might meet jointly soon.

Cole said progress was being made on all issues, including the major stumbling block — the unions' demands for bargaining rights on U.S.-owned ships that are registered under foreign flags.

Hitherto, shipowners had refused to negotiate on the issue, and unions had refused to drop the demand.

JFK Names Board

The three - man board was named by Kennedy to determine whether the walkout by 75,000 seamen imperiled the nation's health and safety. An affirmative decision could lead to the administration's seeking an 80-day injunction ordering the strikers back to work.

But the fact-finders have also been trying to work out a settlement that would save the administration from having to use a Taft-Hartley injunction for the first time.

Cole said that by the end of Thursday's sessions the board would have met with all five unions in the three-coast walkout as well as with the shipowner groups.

Success Scored

The five unions which went on strike when contracts expired June 15 are: The National Maritime Union (NMU); the Seafarers International Union (SIU); the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association (MEBA); the Masters, Mates and Pilots, and the American Radio Association.

Cole's fact-finders scored a major success as mediators by bringing the powerful NMU and the American Merchant Marine Institute (AMMI) back to negotiations Thursday for the first time since the strike started.

The effects of the maritime walkout have mounted as U.S.-flag ships reached U.S. ports and were tied up. An estimated 250 ships were strikebound. A total of about 900 eventually will become idle if the strike lasts long enough. Shipowners say if the strike continues a month, three - quarters of these will be tied up in ports.

Senate Clears JFK's Plans For FTC, CAB

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, in a victory for President Kennedy, approved his plans Thursday to reorganize the Federal Trade Commission and Civil Aeronautics Board.

By a 47-31 vote the Senate defeated a resolution by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., which sought to disapprove the FTC reorganization. It then defeated a resolution by Sens. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Francis Case, R-S.D., to disapprove the CAB plan. The vote on this one was announced as 37-33.

The roll-call votes gave Kennedy a tally of two victories and two defeats in Congress thus far on his moves to streamline and speed, as he puts it, the operations of various federal regulatory agencies.

Coast Guard 'Copter Crash Kills Three

ROWLEY, Mass. (UPI) —Three crew members were killed Thursday when a Coast Guard helicopter exploded and crashed in dense woods.

The craft was on an instrument check flight when its rotor blades were torn off by the blast and it plummeted to the ground. Two bodies were found in the wreckage near a highway junction. A third was found nearby.

Castro's Prisoners Await Final Reply

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) -Ten Cubans, still hopeful they can interest someone in trading $28 million dollars worth of tractors for their 1,200 buddies, waited Thursday in rainy Key West one more day.

A prisoner spokesman said John Hooker Jr., acting as liaison between prisoners and the defunct "Tractors for Freedom" Committee, called Thursday morning from Miami to say he will return to Key West "after midday Friday" with the former committee's final decision on whether to reorganize.

Marilyn "Resting Well" After Emergency Surgery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actress Marilyn Monroe Thursday night underwent emergency surgery for removal of her gall bladder because of an acute inflammation. A hospital spokesman said afterwards the operation was a "success."

Fred K. Fish, executive director of Polyclinic Hospital, said Miss Monroe was in surgery for two hours and 15 minutes. He said she was then taken to her room where she was "resting well."

"The entire gall bladder was removed," Fish said.

Former baseball star Joe DiMaggio, an ex-husband of the actress, visited her in her room following the operation, a hospital spokesman said.

It was the fourth time in nine months that the shapely blonde actress had been hospitalized.

She underwent minor surgery at a hospital in Hollywood last month, but a spokesman for the actress said he did not believe the ailment was connected with her current trouble.

In February, she entered the Payne Whitney Clinic of New York Hospital for what was described as a "rest and checkup." She transferred to another New York hospital and was discharged about a month after first entering Payne Whitney.

Last September, she was hospitalized in Hollywood after the filming of "The Misfits".

The blonde actress had been carried into Polyclinic Hospital on a stretcher Wednesday suffering from what was at first described as a "mild intestinal disorder."

'The Owl' Gains Freedom After 27 Years In Prison

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Kidnaper Basil (The Owl) Banghart, one-time jailbreaker extraordinary and scourge of lawmen, was freed on parole Thursday after 27 years behind bars.

Banghart, 61, no longer bearing any facial resemblance to the bird for which he was nicknamed, blinked in the strong sunlight when he stepped outside the Stateville Penitentiary.

Banghart was sentenced in 1934 on charges of kidnaping John (Jake the Barber) Factor, a wealthy broker. Factor said Banghart, Roger Touhy and other members of the Touhy gang got $100,000 ransom. Banghart and Touhy maintained the kidnaping was a hoax engineered by Factor so that he would not be returned to England to face criminal charges.

Banghart presented a startling contrast Thursday to the mobster, beer runner and mail robber of the 1920s and 1930s. Silver-haired and wearing a continuous smile, he nodded replies to questioners.

"I'm happy to be out, of course. I'm feeling fine, just fine."

Touhy, paroled in 1959, was gunned down 23 days later by assailants who never were apprehended.

Banghart will remain under supervision of the Illinois Pardon and Parole Board for five years. His immediate home will be St. Leonard's House, Chicago, operated by the Episcopal Church as a shelter for parolees until their futures can be determined.

U.S. Officials Say More Aid Needed To Save S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — American officials believe the United States will almost certainly have to put out more military aid than now planned to save South Viet Nam from the Communists. Just how much is a matter of debate.

Faced with the loss of Laos, and the growing Red guerrilla threat here, the United States recently agreed to foot the bill for 20,000 more troops in the South Vietnamese army.

This was part of a program outlined by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on his visit here in May. The program also included help for the faltering civil guard, U.S. specialists in health, welfare and public works and joint long-range economic development.

Military experts said the troop support must be regarded as only the first step, if an already serious situation is to be kept from growing worse. Among other things, South Viet Nam is seeking direct U.S. training for its armed forces. U.S. officers now advise only on broad planning.

"That 20,000 won't raise the total number of fighting men," said one official. "It will just allow for badly needed training and a rest for some units that have been fighting for a year straight. At best right now we are just containing the insurgency—not licking it."

The new increases will bring the strength of South Viet Nam's armed forces to 170,000. But Vietnamese officials describe as misleading the estimates that they have a 150,000-man army.

The figure includes an air force and navy, each about 4,000 men. Take away the clerks, cooks and support units and about 75,000 combat troops remain. They are split into seven divisions, a half-dozen airborne battalions and three battalions of marines.

Since Communist North Viet Nam is reported to have an army of 300,000 plus auxiliary and reserve units, there is little feeling that the South could stand up long against a direct assault without U.S. help.

The additional 20,000 South Vietnamese troops will cost the United States about $15 million a year to pay and maintain, by Vietnamese estimates. This will be added to a U.S. defense-support program of about $130 million a year that is used for paying the Vietnamese Army. The South Vietnamese government now pays for about 10 per cent of the defense-support costs.

But this does not include the major costs of equipment — the rifles, trucks, planes, and other goods that equip an army for fighting.

123 Persons Seized In Gambling Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Internal Revenue agents rounded up 123 persons and seized more than $110,000 Thursday in their largest nationally - coordinated raid against gambling.

Agents made arrests in 17 states and 50 cities. A Treasury Department spokesman said the number of arrests and amount of money confiscated was expected to increase.

Included in the seizures were 11 autos, one truck, and 26 coin-operated machines having a value of $50,000. A total of 121 locations were raided in such cities as New York, Detroit and Chicago.

Gamblers were charged with failure to have gambling stamps or failure to declare gambling income.

Unemployment Drops Below 6% In Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP)—Unemployment in Maryland and the Baltimore Metropolitan Area dropped below 6 per cent of the labor force last May, the first time since last November.

In a report released Thursday, the State Department of Employment Security said the drop is a temporary one. Unemployment figures for June are expected to show a seasonal rise because of the entry into the labor force of thousands of college and high school students.

Stephen C. Cromwell, department executive director, said the Baltimore area would remain on the list of "substantial labor surplus" because of the June rise in unemployment.

Such areas of temporary dips below 6 per cent, the statistical dividing point, are not normally removed from the list, Cromwell said.

Unemployment in the state was 65,400 in May, compared with 94,500 last February. But the number of jobless workers still was greater than in May 1960.

Employment increased in May for the third consecutive month, rising 14,600 to a total of 1,056,700—the highest since last December.

Gains were noted particularly in manufacturing, construction, trade and agricultural. Seasonal gains in food processing were offset by seasonal losses in apparel, chemicals, printing and leather products, Cromwell reported.

Total employment in the Baltimore area last month reached 693,800, up from both the 686,300 of April and the 689,900 of May 1960.

JFK Signs Highway Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Thursday signed into law the new highway bill which raised taxes on auto tires and truckers, effective Saturday. It also cancelled a scheduled gasoline tax cut.

The bill was designed to keep the interstate road building program on a pay-as-you-go basis. The President said it also would help national defense, spur economic development and reduce the appalling highway accident toll by providing better roads.

The tax on the popular 750-14 tire will increase by 53 cents, from the present $1.81 to $2.34. The tax on a 900-14 tire will jump from $2.38 to $2.96.

A spokesman for the National Tire Dealers Association said that 70 per cent of the estimated yield from the tire tax will be paid by auto drivers, as opposed to truck operators.

The President signed a second measure aimed at attracting to to this country foreign tourists. The main purpose of this law is to help ease a flow of gold and dollars from the United States by attracting foreign funds here.

The law set up a U.S. travel service to conduct travel promotion campaigns overseas. The director was authorized to spend $4.7 million annually except for the first year, starting Saturday, when a $3 million ceiling applies.

Finan Answers Complaint Bill In Court Battle

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland's secretary of state and the Baltimore Elections Board Thursday answered a bill of complaint seeking to nullify referedum petitions against a bill expanding Baltimore's new Municipal Court.

Filing the answer in U.S. District Court was Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan, representing Secretary of State Lloyd L. Simpkins and the elections board.

Northwest Baltimore political leader James H. (Jack) Pollack, who headed the referendum movement, sought Wednesday to have the suit transferred to the federal court from Baltimore Circuit Cour Pollack's attorneys, Patrick A. O'Doherty and William A Hegarty, claim the federal court has jurisdiction because their client's civil and constitutional rights are being infringed upon by actions of public officials.

Simpkins and the elections board are nominal defendants because of their administrative duties in connection with petitions submitted against the court bill by Pollack.

The suit was filed in Circuit Court several weeks ago by Baltimore attorney and taxpayer Howard C. Bregal, a supporter of legislation setting up the court.

He sought to restrain Pollack and others from delaying the effective date of the bill by putting it on a referendum ballot in the 1962 general election.

In answering Bregel's suit Thur day, Simpkins and the elections board "neither admitted nor denied" its allegations.

The validity of several Pollack petitions, each containing up to 36 signatures was termed "questionable" by Finan after a recent investigation of them by the Baltimore Police Department.

Couple's Four Children, Possibly Fifth, Doomed

SALISBURY (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer E. Tarr will find out this weekend whether their 3-month old daughter, Pauline, has the same incurable disease which plagues their four other children.

In medical terms, the disease is called cerebral macular degeneration. Those afflicted lose their eyesight and mental faculties and rarely reach adulthood. So far, medical men have been unable to treat it.

The disease first was discovered in Mickey Tarr, 10½. His blindness has progressed so far that he can only determine night from day.

Next his brother, Darrell, 7, was diagnosed as having the same disease of the central nervous system. Just recently, the Tarr's learned their twin children, Billy and Betty, 4½, both have the disease.

Tests at University Hospital in Baltimore this weekend will determine the fate of Pauline. While there, the Tarr's will visit Mickey, who consented to enter the hospital June 6 only after being promised a pair of cowboy boots.

"It seems like I've lived in a nightmare. It seems maybe I just had a bad dream and some day would wake up from it,' said Mrs. Tarr, 31. "I'll keep on for their sake. I haven't given up hope.

University Hospital researchers believe the disease stems from Mr. and Mrs. Tarr's genes, but neither has any symptoms of the disease. Dr. Samuel Bessman, who is handling the case, told them several thousand dollars had been spent on research to find a cure. cure.

Last year Micky was taken to Switzerland to consult Dr. Paul Niehans, a leading cellular therapist. Dr. Niehans told the Tarrs they had come too late.

Tarr, 43, is a plumbers helper. The trip to Switzerland was paid for from money secured in fund-raising drive in the Salisbury area.

Report By Red Cross Denied By Eichmann

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann challenged evidence from the International Red Cross Thursday that he played a leading part in the operation of Nazi concentration camps, where millions of Europe's Jews were slaughtered.

In the eighth day of testimony in his own defense, the former chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section was asked to comment on a Red Cross report labeling him as "a Reich plenipotentiary in the SS who played a first-rate part in all these concentration camps."

Again he swore he acted "only on orders from my chief."

His defense counsel, Dr. Robert Servatius, read a section of the Red Cross report describing a 1945 meeting in Prague between Eichmann and an International Red Cross representative from Geneva.

The report said Eichmann had told the Red Cross man that SS Chief Heinrich Himmler was considering more humanitarian methods of dealing with the Jews. It added that Eichmann "personally does not approve of these methods but as a good soldier, he will obey orders blindly."

"I did not say anything critical of Himmler. I could not have entertained the thought of criticizing my superiors in the presence of foreigners," he said.

Divers Find Bodies Of Two Plane Victims

LA PUSH, Wash., (AP) — Navy deep-sea divers Thursday recovered the bodies of the remaining two victims of a light-plane crash in which five men died Tuesday.

The bodies of Ed Koterba, 42, of Washington, D. C. United Features syndicated newspaper columnist, and Don Cornwell of El Paso, Tex., were in the plane's wrecked cabin 40 feet under water.

They were brought to this Indian village on the remote Northwest Washington coast to await examination by the Clallam County coroner.

The three other victims were thrown free when the plane crashed in the Pacific Ocean just off shore after clipping a power cable strung to a Coast Guard foghorn on a small island. Their bodies were quickly recovered.

would be used in air operations.

Presumably, commercial air flights would be suspended early. But the military would seek to reinstitute the airlift which kept Berlin going in the blockade of a dozen years ago. First flights by military transports might be attempted, as a test, without fighter escort. If the Communists followed the pattern set in previous crises, it might start with harassment—buzzing of transports by Red jet fighters, sudden "practice" firing by ground-based missiles into the air corridors.

Maryland Park Planners Seek To Hire Expert

BALTIMORE (AP) — A governor's committee directed to draw a master plan for development of Maryland parks asked Thursday for authority to hire a New York expert as special consultant.

The committee at its organization meeting proposed that James F. Evans, retiring state director of parks for New York be engaged. Approval will be up to the Board of Public Works, which will have to provide the requested $20,000 salary, at its meeting July in Annapolis.

Evans has been New York State park director since 1938. He was president of the National Conference on State Parks from 1946 until 1950.

He will be asked to make a quick survey of Maryland's existing park facilities before meeting with the committee in Frederick July 13.

The committee was named by Gov. Tawes in response to a resolution calling for a 10-year development plan. A report is scheduled to be made to the Legislative Council by Oct. 1 with possible action by the General Assembly in January.

This was the recommendation last year of a committee of the Legislative Council, headed by Del. William M. Houck, D- Frederick.

"It is our intent that the plan shall include all proposed and projected state parks," the 1960 committee reported, "and that it shall give priority to the early and full completion of existing state parks."

The committee was severly critical of administration and planning of state parks by the Department of Forests and Parks.

It noted that it had announced twice its intention to revise a master development plan drawn up by the State Planning Commission. It has not been made.

James J. O'Donnell, present director of State Planning, hailed appointment of this year's committee to offer a new 10-year program.

It should provide a "definitive idea of what constitutes state, local and regional parks," he said.

The present system of Maryland parks consists of 19 in 14 counties with a total area of 16,500 acres.

Amish Pledged Aid In Tax Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff said Thursday he is going to look into the possibilities of providing exemption from Social Security taxes for Amishmen of Pennsylvania.

He said any exemption can come only through amendment of existing laws. The study is to determine if something can be developed with the department could recommend to Congress.

Ribicoff met with 11 representatives of the Amish Wednesday in a conference arranged at the request of Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.

Clark recently lost in a Senate effort to amend the 1961 Social Security bill to grant the Amish relief.

Ribicoff said the matter is "very complicated because of the difficulties involved of trying to write an exemption for one group that is sincere and has made no use of social security." he added:

"It involves the matter of religious conviction. The Amish don't accept or take Social Security benefits because it is against the basic tenets of their religion."

The Amish have been pressing for exemption from the Social Security taxes since horses belonging to one of their number, Valentine Byler, New Wilmington, Pa., were siezed and sold by the Internal Revenue Service for taxes.

Two Plead Innocent In Robbery-Slaying

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Two Maryland soldiers pleaded innocent in Carroll County Circuit Court Thursday to charges of robbing and slaying a Ridgeville, Md. grocer in his store last month.

The defendants, John H. Garbutt, 21, of Germantown and James E. Jefferson of Baltimore, are accused of shooting 55-year-old Earl L. Baker May 18. They were arraigned before Judge James E. Boylan Jr.

Maryland News In Brief

WYE MILLS, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Nelson Kriewaidt, 27-year-old occupational therapist at Johns Hopkins Hospital, was fatally injured Thursday in a two-car collision about one mile north of this Queen Annes County town.

State Police said witnesses reported the victim went through a stop light while traveling east on U.S. 50 and was struck broadside by a southbound car on U.S. 213.

The driver of the other car, Miss Mary Ruth Meredith, 31, of Wye Mills, was admitted to Easton Memorial Hospital with knee and head injuries. She was reported in satisfactory condition.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Single-trip passenger car tolls on Chesapeake Bay Bridge will be reduced to a flat $1, starting Saturday.

The current fee is $1.25 for car and driver, and $1.50 for cars carrying passengers.

Commuter fares for cars with extra passengers also will be reduced from 45 cents to 35 cents per trip. All other tolls will remain the same.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A faulty oil furnace and flue pipe has been blamed for a fire which killed nine persons at North Beach Park last April 23.

The Anne Arundel County Fire Prevention Bureau said the blaze was "caused by a deteriorated and substandard flue pipe installation coupled with a sub-standard and poorly maintained heating system."

The victims included William Bowden, his wife, six children, and mother-in-law.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Frank L. Foster, 63, a member of the Naval Academy athletic staff for 41 years, died at Anne Arundel General Hospital Thursday.

He was an associate professor in the Navy physical education department at the time of his death, and had sreved for 20 years as the academy's chief football scout before he retired from that post in 1957.

Survivors include the widow, Helen M. Foster, and a stepson, William H. Morgan. Funeral services will be held Monday, with burial in the U.S. Naval Academy Cemetery.

HEREFORD, Md. (AP) — A tractor-trailer truck loaded with bananas plunged off the Harrisburg Expressway in Baltimore County near here today, fatally injuring the driver, George W. Pollock, 40, of Font Hill, Ontario, Canada.

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — More than 300 Methodist women from Maryland and the District of Columbia are expected to attend the School of Missions and Christian Service here starting July 9.

The six-day conference at Western Maryland College will offer four courses on training in the responsibilities of the Christian church, the work of the Women's Society of Christian service, and the missionary activities carried on by the church.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police and fire department rescue workers Thursday recovered an automobile and its driver from 15 feet of water in Montebello Lake on the northeast side of Baltimore.

The recovery was made shortly after the car plunged down a 125-foot embankment into the lake, but the driver was dead when the car was hauled ashore. He was tentatively identified as Vincent Jasanis, 57, of Baltimore.

Gas Users Will Get Refunds

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. said Thursday about 396,000 local area customers will receive refunds totaling $1.4 million during a 12-month period starting in July.

Residential customers who use gas for heating will receive about $4.50 in refunds, while others will get about $1.10. Electric rates will not be affected.

A company spokesman said the refund is the result of an agreement between the local utility and its natural gas supplier, the Atlantic Seaboard Corp., and approved by the Federal Power Commission.

Atlantic Seaboard charged three rate increases, between July 1957 and April 1960, to its wholesale customers, pending final approval by the power commission.

FDA Plans Research Facility At Beltsville

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration wants to build a $1.75 million research facility near Beltsville, Md.

The Prince Georges County Commissioners and members of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission were informed the facility, which would employ 45 persons, would be built on a 195-acre site on the grounds of the Agricultural Research Center.

The establishment would test additives to foods, drugs and cosmetics.

The project has been approved by the House and is pending in the Senate.

Ship Contract Let

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Maritime Board Thursday awarded a contract to the Marietta Manufacturing Co., Point Pleasant, W. Va., for construction of two ships for the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Late Newspaperman Praised In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ed Koterba, newspaper columnist killed in an air crash Tuesday off the West Coast, was praised in the Senate Thursday as an outstanding reporter and a good friend of senators.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, said Koterba was "always fair" and "never narrow-minded in his concepts."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., called Koterba "one of the fairest of journalists."

Woman's Body Remains Unidentified

BALTIMORE (AP) — Efforts to identify the body of a woman found in a Northeast Baltimore stream continued Thursday after the husband of a missing night-club waitress failed to make identification.

The body, clad only in underclothes, was in a badly decomposed state when found Wednesday night. Authorities said the woman had been dead about one week.

Frederick A. Johnson, a ship's officer now idle because of a strike, said his wife, Marie, 31, had been missing since early last Friday. She was a French war bride.

After examining the body at the morgue, Johnson said it did not appear to be his wife. He said Mrs. Johnson's wedding band was at home, and she apparently never owned one similar to a ring found on the body.

A medical examiner who conducted an autopsy said the cause of death could not be determined.

The Johnsons, who live within a mile of the wooded area where the body was found, have two sons, George, 10, and Randy, 9.

A member of the family said Mrs. Johnson was last seen June 22, when she returned home for some clothes about 10 p.m. and left in a taxicab.

An owner of a downtown night-club said Mrs. Johnson had been employed as a waitress until several weeks ago, but said he could not be sure if she had worked there since.

Klein Klan Elects At Reunion

William W. Klein, Falls Church, Va., was elected president of the Klein Klan, at the annual family reunion of the descendants of the late Albert James Klein of Little Cacapon, W.Va. It was held in the form of a picnic Sunday at Bethel Grove, Bethel, W.Va.

Ralph Hook, Arlington, Va., and Mrs. Barbara Couter, Cumberland, were elected vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Following the picnic, gifts were presented to Albert Klein for being the oldest member of the clan and to Wayne Couter, Jr., the youngest. Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Klein of Norfolk, Va., came the greatest distance.

Also at that time, the annual collection for the upkeep of the graves of the ancestors at Bethel, was taken.

The reunion next year will be held at Bethel June 17, beginning at 1 o'clock. Miss Patricia Todd and Wayne Couter, Sr., will be in charge of recreation at that time.

There were 26 families present. Members of the clan attending were Albert C. Klein, Berkeley Springs, W.Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Klein, Norfolk, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Malcolm and family; Mrs. Nannie Klein, Fort Ashby, W.Va.; Mr. and Mrs. William W. Klein and son; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Corbin, Falls Church, Mrs. Naomi K. Hook, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Klein, Miss Todd, Capt. and Mrs. Kenneth Klein and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hook, Arlington, Mrs. Freda K. Thomas, Waynesboro, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Bryant and son, Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Klein, Romney, W.Va.

Mr. and Mrs. John Day and son; Mrs. Helen K. Day, Mr. and Mrs. Denvin Danhart, Hancock; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hutcheson, Lutherville; Claude W. Largent, Chevy Chase; Jesse M. Kave, LaVale; Mr. and Mrs. Guy D. Kave, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Couter and daughter; Ben Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Ryan and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ryan, Jr., and daughter; Mrs. Edith Larget, Mrs. Hazel Rice, all of Cumberland.

Mrs. Ada Cowgill, Paw Paw, W.Va.; Mrs. Abe Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Portmess also of Paw Paw, were guests.

Tri-State Night To Be Observed

Tri-State Night will be observed by McKinley Chapter, No. 12, Order of the Eastern Star, tonight at 8 at the temple. Guests will include officers of the Somerset, Bedford, Westernport, Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Lonaconing, Cumberland, Keyser, Romney and Berkeley Springs chapters.

All officers of the hostess chapter will present a program, "Friendship's Knot."

Mrs. William E. Bradfield and John D. Whalley will conduct the business session. Degrees are to be conferred on a class of candidates.

A social hour will conclude the evening, with Mrs. Viola Smith, Mrs. Margaret Will, Mrs. Dorothy Tase, Mrs. Josephine Ritchey, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith in charge.

Weight-watching teen-agers should limit between meal snacks to crisp raw vegetables such as celery or carrots, fruit such as oranges or apples, milk — preferably skim milk if a reduction in weight is the goal.

Slow down at mealtimes — if you are trying to add weight. Eat slowly, savor every morsel, learn to enjoy flavors and textures, and don't worry.

Play Is Important Throughout Childhood

Play is a major business throughout childhood. Play is work to a child and it's his way of learning to live in this world. For play, he needs toys to help him play out things he sees going on around him, says Jeanne S. Moehn, extension family life specialist at the University of Maryland.

They help him experiment and discover, investigate and create. Many toys help a child develop motor skills and muscles. Playing with toys gives a child a means of expressing his feelings.

As a child grows, he needs toys that meet the needs of his age. A boy in the gang stage enjoys active games that develop muscles and coordination and those that involve group activity.

Creative play helps a child develop his ambitions, judgements and special talents. He can create pictures or objects from his own imagination with art materials, tool chests and musical toys.

Play is a means of developing dramatic experiences, if the child is provided with dolls, dishes and costumes. Boys find such experiences with airplanes and other toys that represent their future role as an adult.

Social play encourages self confidence and good sportsmanship.

Through play guidance, children may be taught a sense of responsibility in the care of their toys. You can teach your child to be tidy in storing his toys after play. Sharing with other children and learning respect for other's possessions are experiences a child should learn through play.

If storage space is provided that your youngster can reach, he gets satisfaction by doing things for himself — selecting toys for play and returning them to the proper place. An idea for storing balls is placing a shelf or two inside the closet door with three inch guards to hold balls.

Storage space needs changing as the child becomes older. His reach is longer and there may be young children in the family who need the bottom shelves.

Luncheon Planned

Plans for a luncheon were formulated and Mrs. Walter Jeffries appointed chairman at a meeting of the Ladies Shrine Club, held earlier in the week at the temple. It is to be held July 25 at 12:30 p.m., at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Mrs. I. N. Evans presided.

Cards followed the meeting with prizes awarded to Mrs. Ellen Carroll, Mrs. Emma Grenoble, for bridge; Mrs. George Phillippi, Mrs. Sidney Storer, Sr., for 500; Mrs. Frank A. Deffinbaugh, Mrs. H. Loren Elliott, for dominoes; Mrs. John Purucker, Mrs. Howard Vandegrift, canasta, and Mrs. Charles McFerran, a special award. Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Louis Shafferman, Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, Mrs. Kenneth Shafer, Mrs. John Brenneman, Mrs. Paul M. Fletcher and Mrs. Evans.

State Fire Auxiliary Recognizes Local Women

Two local women received recognition at the state convention of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Volunteer Firemen, which was held at Ocean City, last weekend.

Mrs. Nancy Growden, a member of the Bedford Road Auxiliary, was elected historian.

Mrs. Elizabeth Zembower, of the LaVale auxiliary, was appointed chairman of the fire prevention committee, to arrange for next year's contest.

Other officers are Mrs. Loretta Hall, Cabin John, president; Mrs. Evelyn Shultz, Orchard Beach, senior vice president; Mrs. Gertrude Harrington, Lake Shore, junior vice president; Mrs. Oneta Lochary, Bel Air, recording secretary; Mrs. Alvera Miller, Jessups, financial secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Burns, Marley Park, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Deloris Jones, East Port, treasurer; Mrs. Helen Little, New Windsor, chaplain; Mrs. Marion Myers, Aberdeen, vice chaplain; Mrs. Growden, historian; Mrs. Helen Keller, Pikesville, guard; and Mrs. Alice Troth, Kensington and Mrs. Louise Kelly, Benedict, color bearers.

It was decided that the next state meeting will be the fall conference, which will be held in Hagerstown in September. The place will be selected.

Leonardtown Auxiliary won the fire prevention award for its "overall outstanding work." The fire prevention poster contest, with written report of its work was won by Bel Air Auxiliary. It was made like an old Western "Wanted Dead or Alive" poster. The wanted included those with oily rags; kerosine in the basement or closets; using frayed appliance cords, throwing lighted cigarette butts out car windows, or smoking in bed. People were urged to "report to the local fire companies at one" and the "reward being fewer fire fatalities and helpless, homeless citizens.

Hampstead won the second award. Its poster was urging members to enjoy the convention, but remember fire prevention, with pictures and poems about Smokie, Sparkle and Sweepie, giving warning safety rules and to keep Maryland Beautiful and not be a litterbug.

A special prize was given to Aberdeen for its three dimensional poster of a grandmother, in a chair, operated by a motor, rocking over wires. The caption was "Keep Home Fires Burning in the Right Place."

Mrs. Zembower was in charge of credentials, assisted by Mrs. Elda Schell, LaVale, and Mrs. Hazel Swauger, Mount Savage. There were 400 delegates attending, with Western Maryland represented by the Barton Bedford Road, Bowling Green, Clarysville, Corriganville, Cresaptown, Deer Park, LaVale, Lonaconing, and Mount Savage auxiliaries.

Besides the general sessions, there were the past presidents and chairmen meeting at the Pier Club; a memorial service with the firemen, conducted by Mrs. Ruth Forward, Bowley's Quarters, retiring president; the installation and prayer, conducted by Mrs. Mary Alice Lare, Hampstead, immediate past president, surrounded by petals of black eyed Susans, the auxiliary flower, and Mrs. Zembower and Mrs. Forward leading the procession of new officers, their escorts and pages.

Entertainment included the ways and means auction, a crab feast, "professional variety show the parade with trucks, floats, marching units, bands, drum corps and majorettes, ending with a dance.

Honored At Picnic

Rev. and Mrs. Robert Bavender and family were honor guests of the Young Adult group of Cresaptown Methodist Church, at a picnic earlier in the week at the Celanese pool. On behalf of the group Louis Caldwell, past president, presented a gift to Rev. Bavender, who is being transferred to Brentwood.

Gifts also were presented to Paul Cage, chairman of Pack 9, Cub Scouts; and Grady Wolford, Troop 9, Boy Scouts. Games and group singing featured the entertainment. Mrs. Betsy Watkins and Mrs. Delbert Lease were in charge.

Trail Ride Sunday

A trail ride, followed by luncheon, will be held by the Potomac Valley Riding Club Sunday. Members are to meet at the club house, Route 28, at 11 a.m. A business meeting will be held at 8 p.m.

Order Of Rainbow Girls Will Hold Dance, Picnic

A committee for the summer dance was named and plans made for a picnic at the meeting of Cumberland Assembly No. 6, Order of Rainbow for Girls, held at the temple.

The dance committee consists of Roberta Hinkle, chairman; Linda Caswell, Ann McClellan, Sandra Diehl, Patricia Linaburg, Teryl Chaney, Dorothy Miller, Margaret Ellen Filler, Margaret Bennett, Marsha Purucker, Janice Shobe, Dorothy Grim, Shirley Strachan and Bonnie Price.

A letter was received from the Keyser assembly inviting the members of Cumberland Assembly to attend its meeting July 6. All members planning to go should get in touch with Pamela Angle, worthy advisor.

The Rainbow picnic will be held tomorrow at the Celanese pool. Swimming will begin at 1 p. m., and dinner will be held at 5:30. All members are to be notified and each may bring a guest.

A color bar was presented to Dorothy Miller by Mrs. Jessie McElfish, past mother advisor. Pamela Angle, worthy advisor, announced that the dues must be paid by the next meeting.

Guests present were appointed grand officers of the Grand Assembly of Maryland, Jonelle Miller, love; Elizabeth Cornwell, patriotism; grand representatives of Maryland, Teryl Chaney, of Kentucky; Pamela Angle, New Jersey; Jean Purucker, Pennsylvania; Jonelle Mille and Elizabeth Cornwell, past worthy advisors; Mrs. McElfish and Mrs. Mary Settles, past mother advisors.

If your food capacity is small, and you are trying to add weight, try to eat more often. Cut down on your intake of water, tea and coffee with meals — they add volume without calories — and leave room for more food.

If a party is on the schedule for the teen-ager on a weight-reduction program, nutritionists advise the desserts be skipped at mealtimes — thus the "bonus" calories of party treats will not appreciably increase the waistline.

Rehearsal Party To Be Tonight

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Struntz, Sr., Wrights Crossing, will entertain with a rehearsal party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Struntz, Patterson Avenue, tonight for members of the Struntz-Wheeler bridal party and out of town guests.

The marriage of Miss Roberta Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Wheeler, 120 Independence Street, to James Struntz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Struntz, Sr., will be performed at 11 a.m., today in St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Miss Wheeler is a graduate of Ursuline Academy and Kings Daughter Hospital School of Nursing, Martinsburg. She is employed in the operating room staff of Sacred Heart Hospital. Her fiance is a graduate of LaSalle High School and the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy. He also attended Frostburg State Teachers College.

Among the parties given for Miss Wheeler was a shower by Mrs. James Thomas, Washington, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Helen Monahan, Independence Street; and one by Mrs. Ethel Barnhill at her home, Market Street.

MRS. LEONARD W. GARDNER

Dolores Jean McCusker Is Bride Of L. W. Gardner

The marriage of Miss Dolores Jean McCusker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. McCusker, of Little Orleans, to Leonard William Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Martin Gardner, 172 Greenberry Road, Hagerstown, was solemnized May 28.

The double ring ceremony was performed in Christ's United Church of Christ with Rev. Roy C. Snyder officiating. It was by candlelight, with bouquets of white flowers decorating the altar.

Miss Joann Bohrer was the bride's maid of honor and Miss Shirley Trail, bridesmaid. Dayna Bohrer and Wilma Dean Bohrer of Amaranth, Tenna., were the flower girls and Timothy McCusker, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Rev. Wilbur H. Stell of Mentor, Ohio, served as Mr. Gardner's best man, while Carl Gooding, Hagerstown; Floyd Bohrer of Amaranth, and Howard Polk of Hollidaysburg, Pa., were the ushers.

Preceding the ceremony a recital of music was given by Mrs. William Peacher, organist and the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Evelyn Polk, Hollidaysburg, was soloist. Mrs. Peacher also played the traditional wedding marches.

Wearing a waltz-length frock of white organdy and lace, the bride was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Lee Bohrer of Amaranth. The closely-fitted bodice of her gown, designed of point d'Venise lace, was detailed with a Sabrina neckline and tiny sleeves, while the deeply hemmed bouffant skirt fanned from a tucked Empire midriff. The bride wore a veil of imported illusion, gathered to a halo of lace. She carried a white Bible on which was mounted a white orchid.

Her attendants continued the all white theme in summer frocks, girdled with embroidered cummerbunds forming butterfly bows in back. Both wore floral bandeaux. Miss Bohrer carried a nosegay of pink roses and carnations and Miss Trail, one of yellow rosebuds. The little flower girls wore starched white organdy frocks, with floral headbands and carried baskets of assorted flowers.

Mrs. Gardner is a graduate of Flintstone High School, class of 1959, and Scott's School of Beauty Culture, Cumberland.

Mr. Gardner is a graduate of South Hagerstown High School. He has been associated in business with his father as distributor of Mr. Softee Ice Cream. He will begin duties as a distributor with the same company in Huntington, W.Va., when he and his bride return from their wedding trip to Canada.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Gardner, following the ceremony.

For traveling the bride chose a two-piece navy blue costume, with matching accessories and her orchid corsage.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

A surprise bridal shower for Miss Carole Jean Leasure was given by Miss Irene Drumm recently at the latter's home, Bedford Street.

The marriage of Miss Leasure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Leasure, 1804 Bedford Street, to A/2c Robert G. Hausman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Hausman, 28 Utah Avenue, will take place July 8. Rev. Carlton M. Harris will officiate at the ceremony at 11 a.m., in Centre Street Methodist Church.

Miss Leasure was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1960 and has been attending Catherman's Business School. Her fiance was graduated from Fort Hill in 1959, and is serving in the United States Air Force at Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho.

A white shower umbrella concealed the gifts and the pink and white color scheme was carried out in the bridedoll cake and decorations. Mrs. Rose Loible presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Walter Drumm served the cake. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Robert Eyler, Miss Darlene Browne and Mrs. Beulah Dufur. Approximately 18 guests attended.

Janet Isner Elected Pocahontas

Appointive officers will be announced by Mrs. Janet Isner, Pocahontas, at the meeting of Algonquin Chapter, Degree of Pocahontas 54, July 7. At that time also she will select the date for the annual picnic.

Other new officers elected to serve with Mrs. Isner are Mrs. Deloris Webb, prophetess; Mrs. Mary Welsh, Wenonah, and Mrs. Dorothy Twigg, Powhattan.

A report of incidentials for the patients in the pediatric departments of Sacred Heart Hospital and Memorial Hospital, was given. It included scuffies and various games. Plans were formulated to have a cake walk every Friday evening for the benefit of the hospital project. Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Mamie Bramble and Mrs. Romona Harvey comprise the committee in charge.

Concluding the meeting a kitchenware party was held by Mrs. Georgia Myers.

The Get Together Club will meet tonight at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Wolford, 106 Roberts Street.

Directs Cabinet

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — King Hussein told his new cabinet Thursday that a unified Palestine remains the most important cause for Jordan and the whole Arab world.

The King made the statement in a directive to Premier Bahjat Talhouni who formed a new cabinet only Wednesday retaining six members of the old cabinet and replacing four.

Caddy Presents Putter

[illegible] (UPI)—Kim Jung Sook, "No. 1 girl" among the caddies at the U.S. Army golf club, presented a silver putter to Gen. Carter B. Magruder Thursday as a going-away present.

Magruder, who has been serving as supreme commander of U. S. and Allied troops in Korea, retires from active duty Friday.

Lt. Gen. Guy S. Meloy will take over Magruder's command.

Destroyers Have Key Role In Submarine Defense

EDITOR'S NOTE: For many years—virtually since the end of World War II—the United States has been engaged in a "cold war" which has threatened several times to erupt into a "hot war." One of the biggest threats is the Russian submarine. Day and night, America's "cop on the beat — the destroyer — is on patrol to defend against sneak attack or open assault in the event of a clearly defined war. This is the story of that relentless vigilance.

By EDWARD V McCARTHY

NEW YORK (UPI)—U.S. Navy destroyermen quote the frightening statistic that when Adolph Hitler started World War II he had only 57 submarines and that, at this very moment, Russia has more than 400 active undersea boats.

And as recently as March 8, Admiral Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, told the House Armed Services Committee: "The total power of the Soviet submarine force is increasing."

The admiral added the grim warning that "the Soviets now have in operation a number of submarines believed to be capable of launching ballistic missiles, although, as far as is known, none of these are nuclear powered."

"It is almost certain that the Soviet Union is actively engaged in a nuclear submarine construction program," Burke stated.

The U.S. Navy believes one of the big answers to the Soviet submarine threat is the one-two punch which is packed in task forces comprised of one aircraft carrier and from six to eight high - speed destroyers equipped with fantastic new weapons and tracking devices.

Some of these devices still are top secret, but others can be discussed—and they bode ill for enemy submarines trying to penetrate our coastal patrols in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Take, for instance, a neat little gadget which soon will be operational, and which goes under the name "DASH"—sort for drone anti-submarine helicopter. This helicopter is unmanned and is controlled by radio from the destroyer which carries it.

The unmanned helicopter is a particular joy to the Navy simply because it does not have to have a pilot.

With a manned helicopter, operations in bad weather are extremely hazardous at best. Flying one to the submarine contact, firing a torpedo and then landing back on the home destroyer would be rough.

With the drone, if conditions are such that the helicopter cannot be brought back to the destroyer and safely landed—it is expendable without loss of American life.

So much attention has been focused in recent years on nuclear weapons, intercontinental ballistic missiles, air-to-air milles, B58 bombers, the proposed B70 bomber and other modernistic and exotic weapons that the old "tin-can"—as a destroyer is known to sailors—is virtually forgotten or ignored by the general public.

The tin-can, so-called because of its light armor, hasn't been forgotten by the Navy, however.

The destroyers outnumber all other warships in our Navy.

Focus On Health

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Babies, hay fever shots and lung cancer figure in the medical news:

Babies placed on their backs cry twice as much during the first four days of life as babies lying on their stomachs.

And those placed on their stomachs had much less diaper rash, and fewer self-inflicted scratch marks, a team of pediatricians reports

Instead of a series of shots to immunize against hay fever, allergists have been experimenting with a single injection.

The hay-fever allergent designed to produce protection is imprisoned within tiny water droplets surrounded by oil. This way, it is released slowly as the oil is absorbed within body tissues.

Now Dr. Samuel J. Prigal of New York Medical College tells of a new way of preparing the oil emulsion within five minutes.

He says among 95 persons tested, only three had any reactions. These were limited to short periods of excessive sneezing and antihistamines or other drugs took care of that.

Claims for sea-water cures are making the rounds again, says Medical World News.

The National Better Business Bureau, it says, is warning "that a number of promoters are blanketing the country with claims that concentrated sea water is good for arthritis, palsy, cancer, diabetes, Parkinson's disease, Leukemia, multiple sclerosis, anemia, gray hair, baldness and lack of virility."

Lung cancer still is increasing, but the general annual rate of increase is declining, three National Cancer Institute researchers report.

There are variations in the different age groups. But if the trend continues, the disease would reach a peak among white men in the foreseeable future, and then start to decline, they said.

The decline in the rate of annual increase is greater among younger than older age groups.

Called Publicity Stunts

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet test pilot Lt. Col. Vladimir Ilyushin Thursday called Western space flights mere publicity stunts.

"Soviet flyers are storming the stratosphere not merely for sport and certainly not for publicity as is being done in the capitalist countries," he wrote in Krasnaya Zvezda. "The aim of Soviet flyers is to become complete masters of aviation techniques and make them serve man."

A French radio reporter said in April Ilyushin beat Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin into space but Soviet newspapers and radiobroadcasts denied the story.

Frank Costello Gains Freedom After 3½ Years

NEW YORK (AP)—Racketeer Frank Costello gained his freedom Wednesday after serving a little more than 3½ years in two prisons.

He refused to say what he plans to do about the government's efforts to have him deported to his native Italy.

Carrying a large manila envelope and smoking a cigarette, he walked quickly off a ferry that brought him from the city's Rikers Island Prison in the East River.

Costello, 70, was taken there June 20 following his release from Atlanta Penitentiary where he served 3½ years of a 5-year term for income-tax evasion.

His brief term at Rikers Island was for contempt of court in refusing to testify about an attempt on his life in 1957.

Four Salt Companies Indicted In Price Fix

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—A federal grand jury indicted four of the nation's top salt companies Wednesday on charges of conspiring to fix prices of rock salt—used in huge quantities to clean ice and snow from streets and highways.

The indictments leveled the charges against Morton Salt Co., Chicago; International Salt Co., Clarks Summit, Pa.; Diamond Crystal Salt Co., St. Clair, Mich.; and Carey Salt Co., Hutchinson, Kan., which have 75 per cent of the nation's rock salt sales.

Lee Loevinger, assistant U.S. attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, and Miles Lord, Minnesota's U.S. attorney, accused the firms of "criminal violation of the Sherman anti -trust law."

The primary charges were conspiracy to fix prices in sales to municipal and state governments.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Some Wall Street brokers are revising the timetable for the anticipated summer rally.

Things haven't been looking as good as they did a few weeks ago.

The market's failure to respond to seasonal influences, which are normally bullish in June and July, is not encouraging to those who have been hoping for an early resumption of the broad and active advance, says A.M. Kidder & Co.

"About the best that can be said for the general market at this time," according to the firm, "is that the underlying trend should be resumed in time, although perhaps more sluggishly than heretofore and at a later date."

Goodbody & Co. says it isn't willing to state categorically that the summer rally is about to start. It feels that the market may retreat to around 660 on the Dow Jones industrial average. This would not change its opinion that the longer term outlook remains satisfactory.

There is a stock somewhere for every type of investor, and an investor for every type of stock, observes Shields & Co. Arranging that the twain shall meet is a fascinating and difficult task, it concedes.

"There are people who, after laying out perfectly valid investment plans, proceed to wreck them through buying and selling at the dictates of emotion," Shields says.

"Where your own purposes are involved, a stock may be a buy, sell, hold, or one to avoid. Much depends on what kind of person you are and whether your registered representative knows what kind of person you are.

"Unless you happen to be one of those investors who has become experienced in the market and who tends to your homework continuously, it is vital to establish rapport with your broker. Some stocks are your meat and others your poison."

More Beer Consumed

Signs Indicate Heart Ailments On Climb In Southeast Asia

By RELMAN MORIN

ABOARD S.S. HOPE (AP) — Are the "diseases of civilization" —heart attacks and high blood pressure—beginning to catch up with the simple-living rice farmers and fishermen of Southeast Asia?

"Some signs indicate more hypertension than I expected," says Dr. Martin Kohn, San Bruno, Calif., heart specialist.

Kohn is a member of the American hospital ship, S.S. Hope, which is nearing the end of a year-long voyage through Southeast Asia. The ship's primary mission is to exchange scientific information with Asian doctors and to instruct nurses, medical students and midwives in the underdeveloped countries.

It is a direct "people-to-people" project, unique in the foreign aid programs of the United States.

In the past nine months, the Hope has anchored off remote islands and in harbors where the people had never seen an American, a ship of this size, nor such surgical, dental and medical equipment.

The pattern of their lives is radically different from that of the average American.

They eat a low-fat diet, mainly rice, fish, fruit and vegetables. By the nature of their work, they get plenty of outdoor exercise. They are usually thin, almost never over-weight. And presumably—but only presumably — in their quiet environment they are less subject to the pressures and tensions of people in more highly developed societies.

By contrast, the average American eats a high-fat diet, gets less exercise, tends to be overweight in his middle age, and is a high-pressure man in and out of his office.

Many heart specialists believe that these are prime factors contributing to the high incidence of heart attacks, hardening of the arteries, and high blood pressure in the United States.

These same ailments may be increasing in Southeast Asia. Nobody can be sure yet.

One reason is that, out here, statistics are often scanty and unreliable. For example, in some places, religious taboos forbid autopsies. Consequently, there may be more deaths from arterial ailments than any one suspects.

"I had this impression, a surprising impression, just from talking and observing," Kohn said.

He said he found indications that disease patterns may parallel those in Western countries.

Kohn said that in Indonesia tests indicate cholesterol levels averaging between 225 and 250 serum count. That is considered average in the United States.

(Cholesterol is a waxy substance found in the blood. Some specialists believe it plays a major part in depositing material on the walls of the arteries, eventually plugging them—and causing a coronary thrombosis or heart attack.)

South Vietnamese army statistics, however, show an average cholesterol level under 200, Kohn said. This is about the same as the average level in Japan, although the rate of coronary disease appears to have risen there, too, since the end of World War I' and the swift rise in Japanese standards of living.

About tension, Kohn said:

"We may have had some misconceptions. Just because a man lives on a beautiful tropical island, instead of Madison Avenue, doesn't mean he has no tensions. He may be worrying about a million things."

Dr. William B. Walsh of Washington, D.C. — organizer of the Hope project—says political independence may be increasing tensions throughout Southeast Asia, and bringing the usual train of arterial troubles.

India Laborers Build Mansions, Live In Hovels

By PATRICK J. KILLEN

NEW DELHI (UPI)— They build mansions but live in hovels.

They construct most of New Delhi's modern office buildings and apartments and yet they live in crowded mud brick huts with low straw-matted ceilings.

They are the grimy, ill-clad day laborers from Rajasthan, the desert state bordering West Pakistan. Illiterate and underfed, they are some of the hardest workers in India.

City officials estimate the number of Rajasthani laborers in the capital at 70,000. Almost all of them are crowded into 14,000 mud brick hovels, some only a few feet away from the fine buildings they've constructed.

The Rajasthani male is usually recognizable by his spindly bare legs, his full turban and his dirty dhoti, a sort of billowing knee length loin cloth. The women wear baggy long skirts, loose blouses and bangles on their wrists and ankles.

There is little division of labor among the Rajasthanis, with men and women apparently doing the same things. If anything, the women appear to be the harder workers, often carrying several bricks on their heads or wielding picks and shovels with more dexterity.

The entire family of a Rajasthani laborer, except the younger children, usually work at the same construction site. The going rates of per per day is 1.75 rupees for a male, 1.50 rupees for his wife and one rupee or less for the children. In terms of American money, this works out to from 37 cents per day for the man to 21 cents for the children.

The Rajasthani's life is a full one. He works from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. with an hour off for what is usually an unsatisfactory meal. His main diversion appears to be having children.

The majority of the laborers are landless peasants drawn to New Delhi by the promise of regular work. Despite their present situation, there seems to be no desire to return to the farm.

Said a 50-year-old male, "I have land neither here nor in my village. I can earn my bread here, but back in my village I may have to starve."

Butler Predicts

as well. The result is a confusing array of departmental regulations which vary from department to department," Butler said.

"This is caused in no small part by the negative way in which the Hatch Act is written and the negative way in which it is interpreted by the Civil Service Commission."

Butler said his amendments and those of his colleagues will be helpful in correcting "this unfortunate situation."

Can't Establish Cause

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — German and Communist aviation experts said Thursday they had been unable to establish the cause of the March 28 crash of a Soviet-built Ilyushin airliner which killed 52 persons.

Their report neither confirmed nor denied suspicions that the airliner was sabotaged when it crashed in West Germany on a flight from Prague to Bamako in the West African federation of Mali.

Woman To Woman

NEW YORK (UPI) — Report on the causes of fatal accidents on the nation's pioneer super highway contains more than an ounce of prevention for families figuring on a vacation by car over the Fourth of July or later.

During the past decade there were 552 fatal accidents on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. There were 471 deaths — an average of over 55 fatal accidents and 74 deaths a year during the 10-year period.

An analysis of the accidents by the Pennsylvania Medical Society's Commission on Public Health found the following to be the principal contributing causes.

— 30 per cent of the fatal accidents were directly caused by operators who apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

—40 per cent of accidents were caused by excessive speeding beyond the driver's ability to control his car. Seventy per cent of these accidents occurred in daylight when the weather was fair and the road dry, indicating irresponsibility and indifference to safety on the part of the drivers.

—Another factor was intoxication of driver or a driver who apparently was under the influence of tranquilizers, benzedrine, antihistamines, or other drugs which may have hampered his alertness and ability to operate and control his car.

— Inattentativeness while driving also appeared to be a big factor. That is, the driver reaching towards the back seat for a package of cigarettes or some other object, hitting at a wasp in the car, lighting a cigarette or cigar in a car, changing the dial on the radio, thereby taking his eyes off the road and traffic for too long a period, and driving with only one hand on the steering wheel.

"The Commission on Public Health has carefully studied many of the reports and has definitely concluded that 'human behavior' is the leading factor to be considered as the cause of all accidents, it was reported.

"And that human behavior aspects include and involve discourtesy, irresponsibility, inattention, and the unfit physicial condition of the driver at the time of the accident."

The commission suggested that the doctors counsel and advise their patients as to the dangers of tranquilizers, benzedrine, antihistamines and other drugs that the physician may prescribe to patients which might have a dangerous effect on the driver's ability to control his car.

To afford added protection to the occupants of a car if there is an accident, the commission also recommends the use of safety belts.

Expresses Regrets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican National Chairman William E. Miller announced Thursday that Hal E. Short, executive assistant to the chairman, has resigned. Miller said he accepted Short's resignation with "deep regret."

In his letter of resignation, Short said he was compelled to resign by "personal considerations of long standing." No successor to Short was named immediately.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—F. W. Woolworth Co. will move its West Coast regional headquarters from San Francisco to Burlingame, Cal. Henry R. Wilson, district manager, said a new office building would be constructed in Burlingame, which Woolworth expects to move into in March, 1962.

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI)—Hewlett - Packard Company, an electronics manufacturer, announced plans to establish a plant at Bedford, England, and to expand its facilities at Boeblingen, Germany. The Bedford plant to be leased will be used for the manufacture of electronics counters and signal generators.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Trading in the common stock of Stepan Chemical Co. Northfield, Ill., began Wednesday on the American Stock Exchange. The 29-year-old firm, which also has plants at Millsdale, Ill., and Maywood, N.J., produces basic and intermediate chemicals and surface active agents for use in detergents.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Commercial paper dealers Wednesday cut by ⅛ percentage point the interest rate on short-term notes of business borrowers that they sell in the open market. The reduction was the second in the past eight days. It brought the new scale for notes of four to six month maturity to 2¾ percent on those of major industrial concrens. For lesser known companies the new rate is 3¼ per cent.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cenco Instruments Corp. has acquired Mills Hospital Supply Co. of Chicago in exchange for 28,000 Cenco common shares, the two companies announced Wednesday.

The 50-year-old hospital and surgical supply company will be operated as a subsidiary of Cenco. Mills annual sales currently are running in excess of $4 million, net earnings last year were more than $165,000, according to the announcement.

EVERYTHING'S OK—Actress Janet Blair had this wink and "OK" sign for newsmen and photographers as she and her new son, Andrew, left Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in Hollywood yesterday. The baby was born on June 23 and weighed in at eight pounds, nine ounces. Andrew's father is producer-director Nick Mayo. The Mayos have one other child, Amanda, 2½. (AP Photofax)

Butler Predicts Modification Of Hatch Act Before 1962 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler, R-Md., predicted Wednesday the Hatch Act will be "significantly modified" before the 1962 congressional elections.

"The recent presidential election pointed up the many deficiencies and inequities which exist under the present law," Butler said in a news release concerning the act which restricts the political activity of federal employes.

"Employes are not clear as to what they can and cannot do in a campaign and the administra-

Wine Cookery Subject Of New Translation

Wine and civilization have gone hand in hand through the years and further evidence of this compatibility is contained in "The Roman Cookery Book," a collection of recipes from a Roman chef of 2,000 years ago.

The book was translated into English by Barbara Flower and Elisabeth Rosenbaum from the "Art of Cooking" by Apicius, a work of the first century.

In it are contained the recipes of ancient Rome as recorded by Apicius. In many of his writings wine plays a prominent part.

Roman kitchens and cooking utensils, as well as general descriptions of Roman cooking, are also covered in the book.

Many of the recipes call for the addition of pure wine, while in some various wine preparations are required.

The Romans had great respect for wine. One example the book points out is the anecdote that Pliny, the Roman writer, tells about Pollio Romilius, when asked how he managed to become a centenarian, answered: "By using Mulsum for the inside and oil for the outside." Mulsum was wine mixed with honey.

"The Roman Cookery Book" is published by George G. Harrap & Co., of London, Toronto, Wellington and Sydney.

Warm Weather Appetizer

Try this tasty appetizer as a late snack or warm weather party treat. Place whole sardines on thin slices of toast which have been spread with pimiento cheese. Serve hot or cold.

Strawberry-Coconut Tarts Are Delicious

1 package strawberry gelatin
1½ cups boiling water
1 (3-Ounce) package cream cheese
⅓ cup milk
1 cup crumbled coconut cookies
8 sponge cake shells
1 pint fresh strawberries
½ pint whipping cream
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Melt gelatin with boiling water. Chill until just slightly thick. Meanwhile combine cream cheese, milk and crumbled coconut cookies. Spread 2 tablespoons of this mixture in bottom of each cake shell. Top crumbs with fresh strawberries. Ladel slightly thickened gelatin over filled dessert shells. Chill until firm. Whip cream and add confectioners' sugar. Garnish with whipped cream, squeezed through a pastry tube, along outer edge of cake shells.

Yield: 8 Strawberry - Coconut Tarts.

In case of contageous illness in the household, use very hot water (170 to 180 degrees Fahrenheit) and soap or detergent suds for washing dishes and silverware.

Let the dishes soak in the solution until cool. Then wash as usual in fresh water and suds, rinse with boiling water, and drain dry.

When you're poaching fish steaks, add sliced onion, a bayleaf and peppercorns to the water.

Brandied Apricot Topped Cake

1 teaspoon grated lemon rind (about 1 lemon)
3 tablespoons lemon juice (about 1 lemon)
¾ cup apricot nectar
½ cup brown sugar
⅓ cup apricot brandy
½ cup caramel sauce
1 (8- or 9-inch) baker's cake layer
1 quart vanilla ice cream

Combine lemon rind, lemon juice, apricot nectar and brown sugar in a saucepan. Bring mixture to a boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Simmer fifteen minutes. Blend in brandy and caramel sauce. Cut cake layer into 7 equal-size wedges. Top with ice cream and sauce.

Yield: 7 servings.

Drum Cake

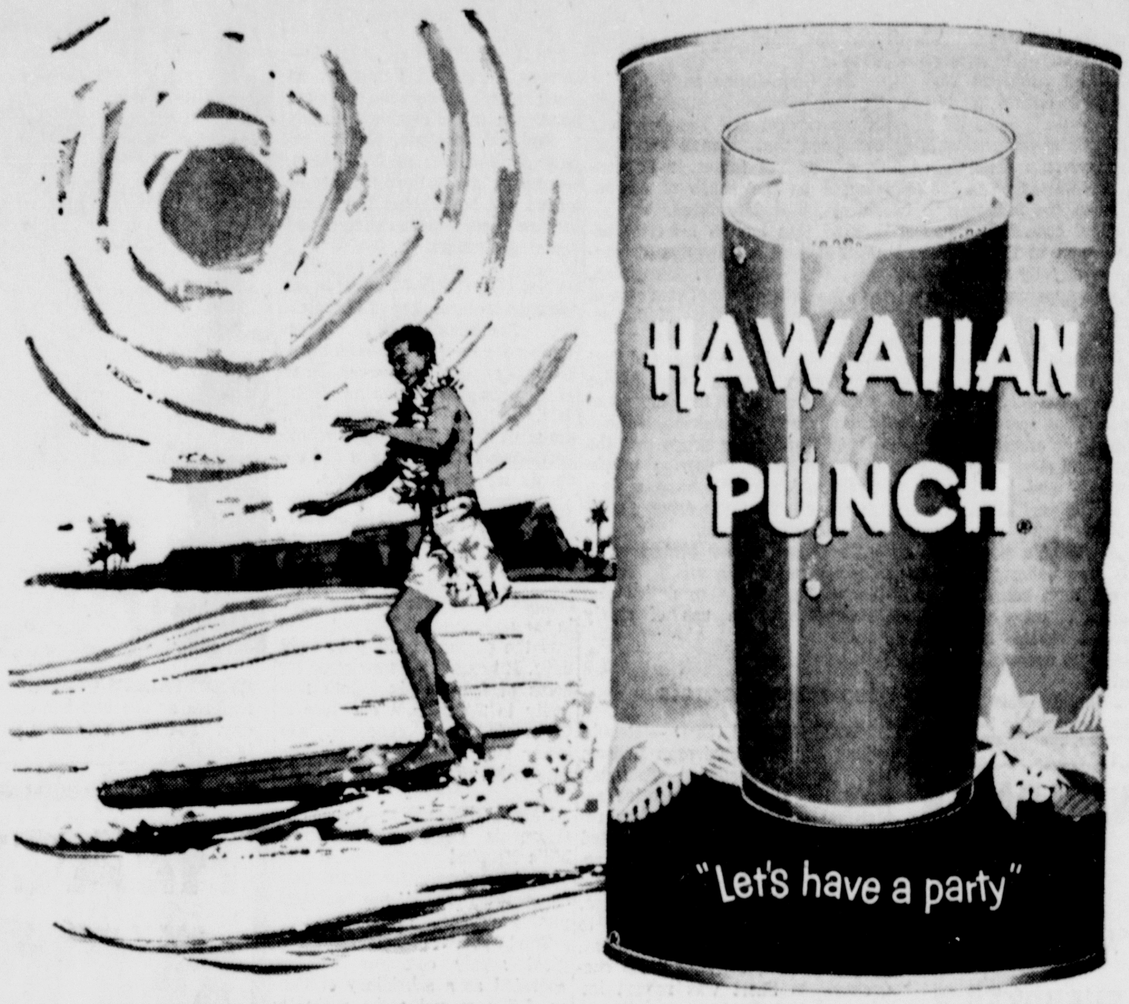

Recall the days of Washington with a Yankee Doodle "dandy"—a DRUM CAKE that can't be beat for easy making. Start with a frosted, 8-inch layer cake from the baker. In zigzag fashion, arrange 18 candy sticks around sides of cake to resemble tension bands of drum. Place candy sticks so that one will be served with each cake slice. For spicy sparkle, position a small gumdrop at top and bottom edges of cake where candy sticks meet. Form drumsticks by placing 2 candy sticks on top of cake, with a large gumdrop at one end of each.

Decorators advise that a collection of any variety — pictures, glasses, trophies, figurines or other items — should be grouped and not scattered. The display is more attractive and gives the objects more importance. To attract further attention to your collection, arrange them against a wall that is a different color from the other three. This creates an interesting focal point in the room.

A constant temperature of 425 degrees can be used for baking a good many pies.

The kingfisher is sometimes called "Old Tousel-Top."

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Khrushchev's television report on his meeting with President contained a dire threat. He virtually demanded that we withdraw our armed defense of West Berlin, and he set a deadline, six months hence—when the canals will be frozen over and transportation will be the toughest. Though Mr. Khrushchev has set deadlines on the Berlin question before and then ignored them, I believe this latest one must be taken at its face value. "A peaceful settlement in Europe must be attained this year," were his words. What he meant by "a peaceful settlement" was almost the exact opposite: A new crisis over West Berlin. Before the year was out, he said, Russia would sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany and give it full control over the access routes to the isolated city. If the West tries to use force to protect its 16-year-old occupation rights in West Berlin, said Khrushchev, "it will receive a proper rebuff."

Khrushchev's real goal is to dominate Berlin. He talks of a "free city," but there would be no real freedom in the city if deprived of Western armed support. For us to withdraw would end the freedom for more than two million West Berliners, to whom we have made definite commitments and for whom we have a definite obligation—aside from our own occupation rights there, actually affecting our very security. Khrushchev threatens that if we do not withdraw from West Berlin, he will make a treaty with his pawns, Walter Ulbright and company of East Germany, giving them complete control over access to Berlin. Mr. Ulbright has disclosed that, among other dire moves, he would close the Tempelhof Airport, which was West Berlin's lifeline in the blockade of 1948.

The cardinal stipulations on Berlin are: (1) Western troops are to remain; (2) Free Western access must be insured; (3) Free access for Germans must be included; and (4) Free access for goods in transit by air, land, or water must also be included. These are unalterables, and cannot be interfered with merely by Khrushchev's signing a treaty with Ulbright. The West must stand firmly and defend its occupation rights—and the lives and freedom of the two million West Berliners—against any and all Communist proposals for change.

The people of our own State of Maryland have little patience with Communism and feel our Government should take a tougher policy when dealing with Communistic countries. This was clearly shown in our questionnaire returns. On the question, "Would you favor our going to war if necessary to prevent being forced out of West Berlin by the Russians?" 76% voted "Yes," and only 13% voted "No."

Mike Poorman, of Towson, last week won first place in a national model-plane competition sponsored by the Federation Aeronautic Internationale, and thus earned a place on a team slated to engage in international competition in Leuthirch, Germany, to take place between August 31 and September 3, this year. The Maryland man took top honors in the power classification in "a race against time."

The Senate last week put back into the Highway Bill the provision calling for a billboard-control bonus plan, then passed the bill, and sent it back to the House of Representatives for final approval. The Highway Bill provides for the expenditure of $11,560,000,000 for construction of the nation's 41,000 miles of interstate superhighways. The billboard-control provision was in the original interstate highway legislation in 1958. Under this provision, States which signed an agreement to bar billboards from routes built under the Federally supported highway construction program were eligible to receive bonus payments amounting to one-half of one per cent of the cost of the projects. Three States—Maryland, North Dakota, and Kentucky—signed the agreement under the expiring legislation, and ten other States are in the process of negotiating agreements. The provision was omitted from the 1961 House-passed measure which the Senate Public Works Committee approved without change. This brought on a 9-hour debate on the Senate floor. Those arguing against the billboard-control bonus did so on the grounds that to bar billboards would cause a loss of revenue from billboard companies and result in unemployment among billboard workers. Those taking the opposite position did so on the grounds that billboards cut off the motorists' view of the natural beauty of the countryside and constituted eyesores, and they pointed out that under the provision no State would be compelled to bar billboards, that the States which loved billboards could still have them.

While the billboard issue was taking the headlines, it was not the only controversy with respect to the highway legislation. The bill as passed by the Senate provided less than half of the increased trucker taxes requested by the President as a means of helping to finance this construction on a pay-as-you-go basis. At the time this is written it looks as though some of the reduction in revenue may be restored.

There are some newfangled ideas about to responsibility for taking care of our elders. People have been growing old for as long as the human race can remember. But only recently has there sprung up a widespread theory that "the aged" are a special class whose welfare should be the responsibility of the Federal bureaucracy. Just why has old age become so much more of a problem than it used to be? Is it a manifestation of an underlying disease—family, cultural and social fragmentation and breakdown? What used to be intimate family problems seem to have become matters for public decision. Under a socialistic trend, grandfather and grandmother, instead of enjoying an honored position in the home, have become a problem for "social" solution. That children have some responsibility for the care of their elders is generally ignored. Indeed, the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, which on occasion has been known to come out with some loonies, recently came out with a new brochure which suggests that parents now live so long that they can no longer expect to remain "a part of their younger relatives' family." The idea of a statute of limitations on family loyalty is something new.

Under the high June sun, vines climb and cling to fences. The delightful fragrance of Maryland honeysuckle takes over. The from school, carry from a nearby hillside and mingle with the chirps of food-hunting birds. A rain owl, at the creek, makes his prediction. A tall white oak rustles lightly and flutters like a sail in the breeze. Daisies and black-eyed Susans, growing wild and untended, stand proudly and compete for your attention with the carefully tended plants in the flower garden. This is June in Maryland, gentle and soft, a month of green opulence and velvety beauty. Its sounds are sibilant, its langourous perfumes intoxicating, its effervescence contagious. As one drinks in the beauty of our Maryland countryside in June, one asks himself, "What more could be offered by any other place on earth?"

According to recent studies made by universities and research foundations, teen-agers rebel against society and parents because they wish to test their ability to think things out independently. The director of a study made by the University of Michigan says they frequently reject all authority because it IS authority.

¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cherry brandy
1 cup whipping cream

Cut cake lengthwise into three equal-sized layers. Wash and slice strawberries. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons sugar and cherry brandy over strawberries. Whip cream and add remaining 2 tablespoons of sugar. Fold whipped cream into sweetened strawberries. Spread mixture between layers and over top of cake. Chill for an hour before serving.

Yield: 10 servings.

Sardine Cocktail Whets The Appetite

Perk up lagging appetites with this jiffy-to-fix first course. Combine the contents of a can of sardines with finely chopped celery. Toss lightly. Chill and serve on small cluster of lettuce leaves. Serve mayonnaise or cocktail sauce on the side. Yield: 4 generous portions per can of Norway sardines.

Zucchini A La Chip Russe

6 Zucchini cut thin
1 large bag potato chips
1 can mushroom soup
3-4 onions

Line greased casserole with sliced Zucchini. Add onions sliced thin. Crumble potato chips liberally over this. Repeat Zucchini, onions and chips. Add mushroom soup mixed with one can water. Bake one hour at 375°.

Sardine Rolls New Taste Treat

Here's a new taste treat. Remove the crusts from thin slices of buttered bread. Sprinkle each slice with salt, pepper and grated cheese. Lay a whole sardine on one end; add dab of mustard; roll firmly, jellyroll style. Stick with toothpicks and dot with butter. Set close together on baking sheet. Bake in hot oven until lightly browned. Serve piping hot.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

It is quite possible that the way to oust Castro and his Communist dictatorship from Cuba can be found in the technique of liberation followed in Guatemala—the only country in the world once firmly under Communist control and now a member of the Western Alliance. It was in Guatemala that Carlos Castillo Armas and his followers developed the technique which he sometimes called, "The Liberation Way." I am indebted to Patrick McMahon, a veteran newsman, for bringing this concept to my attention.

On June 20, 1954, Carlos Castillo Armas led 200 poorly-armed, poorly - trained revolutionaries across the Honduran border into Guatemala. They challenged a standing army of 5,000 — a like number of trained reserves, the best-equipped air force in Central America, and a well-armed workers' militia of more than 10,000. Castillo's tiny force would have been destroyed in hours had the Guatemalan public and armed forces remained loyal to the Guatemalan communist puppet, Arbenz.

But the public defied the government and supported the liberators. The armed forces refused to fight. The workers' militia, on which the Communists heavily relied, ignored orders to mobilize. Recruits flocked by the thousands to join Castillo's forces. This was not a spontaneous reaction such as U. S. officials hoped for in the May invasion of Cuba. It was the result of more than two years of painstaking, intelligent effort. The key factors included:

1. The adoption by Castillo and his followers of a positive and detailed program to benefit all classes of Guatemalans, socially, economically and politically, which they pledged to carry out once they liberated the country.

2. An intensive well-planned propaganda campaign aimed at all segments of the Guatemalan public, continuing day after day for more than two years.

3. The organization of a dedicated, comparatively disciplined underground that carried out the propaganda campaign and other subersive tactics.

4. A carefully-planned conspiracy within the armed forces.

These were the elements which made Castillo's movement a success and which were lacking in the recent Cuban fiasco. Two other aspects of the Guatemalan movement are equally important: one, it was truly a Guatemalan movement (not U. S.-inspired) and so recognized by the Guatemalans; two, a high degree of unity existed among the Guatemalan revolutionaries of the left and of the right. Had the United States bothered to study the Liberation Way, I believe we would have avoided the disastrous blunders of the May invasion of Cuba. And in any event, we certainly should have backed up the anti-Castro Cubans.

Teen-Age Girls Poorly Nourished

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans are in danger of eating their way to poor health, nutrition experts warn.

Dr. Robert S. Goodhart, scientific director of the National Vitamin Foundation, a nutrition research organization, says that fat or thin, the average American teenage girl is likely to be poorly nourished.

She is, in fact, endangering her chances of motherhood by cramming herself with the wrong kind of food in adolescence.

Other nutritionists are concerned about the poor eating habits of Americans in general.

A panel of experts who discussed the subject recently at an Atlantic City, N. J., meeting agreed that ignorance or lack of discipline have caused 25 per cent of the U. S. population to consume so many calories that they are sub-par in both health and vitality.

Many Too Fat

The panel further found that one-fifth of middle-aged Americans are too fat and that the major nutritional problem in the nation today is over-nutrition.

These experts, among them Dr. Willard J. Jacobson, director of a nutrition education research project at Columbia University, and Dr. James M. Hundley, of the National Institutes of Health, agreed with Goodhart's independent conclusion that the main nutritional problem among school-age Americans stems from over-indulgence rather than a lack of food.

"The teenage girl should eat well-balanced meals, getting plenty of vitamin-enriched bread, milk and fortified cereals, along with generous helpings of leafy green vegetables," Goodhart said.

"However," he asked, "What figure-conscious, normal American teenage girl would substitute a well-balanced adequate diet for her self-imposed near starvation rations, with an occasional fling in the form of a cheeseburger or a banana split with her date?"

Models Influence Girls

Some of these figure-conscious girls have been influenced, he said, by the fashion model, who often appears to have been starving herself to death in behalf of the world of haute couture.

At the other end of the figure range is the fat girl, who is equally unhealthy because she has been stuffing herself with ice cream, candy, soda pop and french fried potatoes, Goodhart said.

The truth is, he added, that the teenage member of the family often is the poorest fed, and by her own choice.

"It seems odd," Goodhart said, "that despite an abundance of foodstuffs in the United States, such dietary inadequacies exist among teenage girls, but exist, they do."

Special Curry-Apple Gravy

These Beef Pinwheels with Special Gravy rate tops as a warm weather dish because they're light, tempting, yet satisfying . . . with a bursting flavor that perks up the droopiest appetite. And they are simple to prepare.

The Pinwheels themselves consist of onion - seasoned ground meat spread thick on rich biscuit dough, then rolled up, sliced and baked. In the baking, some of the meat juices trickle deliciously through the biscuits!

But the real glory of these Pinwheels is in their special Curry-Apple Gravy. When the Pinwheels come from the oven, smoking hot, tender, the biscuit a golden glow, you spoon over and around them this lively tasting gravy. Then get them on the table fast while they're at their flavory best.

You can serve the Pinwheels and their elegant gravy to the family or to guests. They fit in any meal for which a hot, light and appetizing dish is needed during the warm months. And note how easy they are to make:

Chopped Beef Pinwheels Filling:

½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 pound ground beef
½ teaspoon oregano
1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning
½ teaspoon salt

Biscuit Dough:

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons shortening
Milk, about ⅔ cup
(Or use 2 cups biscuit mix for the dough)

*Curry Apple Gravy

Saute onion in butter or margarine until golden brown. Add beef and saute 5 minutes. Add oregano, poultry seasoning and salt.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening with 2 knives or pastry blender; add enough milk to hold ingredients together. Roll out on lightly floured board 9"x12". Cover dough with meat mixture. Roll-up jellyroll fashion. Cut in 6-8 slices. Place slices on baking sheet. Bake in hot oven 400 degrees, 25 minutes. Serve hot with *Curry Apple Gravy. Makes 6-8 servings.

Curry Apple Gravy

2 cups canned apple sauce
½ cup apple juice
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients; heat thoroughly. Serve hot over pinwheels. Makes approximately 2 cups.

Cheddar-Ham Rabbit

(Serves 6)

¾ pounds Cheddar cheese, sliced
½ cups California Sherry
¼ cup catsup
¼ cup cream or evaporated milk
1 small can deviled ham
¼ teaspoon dry mustard

Melt cheese in a double boiler. Gradually blend in wine, catsup and cream. Stir in ham and mustard. (If mixture seems a bit thick, add another spoonful of cream.) Serve hot in a chafing dish, or in a pottery casserole set over a candle warmer. Serve with toasted crackers or crisp toast.

Chocolate Fruities

½ pound sweet, milk or semi-sweet chocolate
2 dozen fruit cake cubes, 1-inch
3 tablespoons finely chopped pecans or walnuts

Melt chocolate in top part of double boiler. Using a sharpened fork, dip each cube into greased cookie sheet and sprinkle immediately with about ½ teaspoon chopped pecans. When finished, place Fruities in refrigerator until chocolate hardens.

Yield: 24 Chocolate Fruities

Asparagus Queen Of Summer Salads

Green grows the asparagus. Slender, tender shoots so right for salads. This time of year, with fresh asparagus priced within the average budget, it provides a wonderful flavor note for the salad bowl.

Add cuts of tender-crisp asparagus and sliced garden onions to a basic bowl of tossed greens. Toss with a dressing of golden corn oil and mellow cider or salad vinegar. Or try a Summer Salad of asparagus tips, green beans, peas and radishes marinated in corn oil and cider vinegar seasoned with mustard, parsley and basil. By refrigerating the vegetables in the spicy liquid for about an hour, they absorb the flavor to just the right degree. Pile the vegetables in lettuce cups or in a lettuce lined bowl and garnish with hard-cooked egg slices.

Summer Garden Salad

- ¼ cup corn oil
- 2 tablespoons salad or apple cider vinegar
- 1 teaspoon mild mustard
- 1 teaspoon minced parsley
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon basil
- ½ cup cooked, asparagus tips
- ½ cup cooked, cut green beans
- ½ cup cooked peas
- ½ cup sliced radishes
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced (optional)

Combine first 6 ingredients. Add vegetables, marinate in refrigerator 1 hour, turning occasionally; drain. Serve in lettuce cups; garnish with egg slices and mayonnaise; sprinkle with paprika. Makes 4 servings.

Asparagus Vinaigrette is another early summer salad idea you'll want to try.

Asparagus Vinaigrette

- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen asparagus spears, cooked, drained or 1 can (1 pound) green asparagus spears, drained
- ⅓ cup corn oil
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- ½ teaspoon finely grated onion
- ¼ teaspoon sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Thinly sliced onion rings
- Slices of hard-cooked egg

Arrange asparagus in shallow dish. Combine oil with next 4 ingredients. Pour over asparagus. Chill at least 1 hour, spooning liquid over asparagus 2 or 3 times. Arrange lettuce leaves on salad plates. Place 3 or 4 asparagus spears on each plate. Slip onion rings around asparagus spears. Garnish with hard-cooked egg slices. Makes 4-6 servings.

Dairy Delights

For variation, try some of the "milk plus" drinks. Economical reconstituted nonfat dry milk or even evaporated milk may often serve the purpose well. USDA home economists have some good suggestions for these milk drinks. Be sure the liquid ingredients are thoroughly chilled beforehand. Serve them cold, as is or dressed up with ice cream and topped with a flavor-complimenting garnish.

Try some of these tasty drinks. The ingredients will serve 2. Use either whole, skim or reconstituted dry milk for the following:

... Combine 2 cups milk and ¼ cup maple syrup. Beat to blend.

... Mash 2 ripe bananas. Mix in ½ cup chocolate syrup and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Gradually stir in 2 cups milk. Beat to blend.

... Combine 2 cups milke, ¼ cup each confectioners sugar and orange juice, and 1 egg. Beat to blend.

... Dissolve ¼ cup sugar in 2 cups milke. Mix in a dash of peppermint extract. Tint pink with food coloring. Beat 2 egg whites and ½ cup sugar until stiff; tint pink. Put on top of beverage.

There are some good nonfat dry milk drinks:

... Combine ½ cup nonfat dry milk, ¼ teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg, 1 teaspoon sugar, a dash of salt and 2 cups cold water. Beat until smooth.

... Combine 1½ cups grape juice, ½ cup water and 1 cup nonfat dry milk. Beat until smooth.

Use evaporated milk in the following:

... Combine ¼ cup each evaporated milk and cold water, 1 cup tomato juice, a dash of celery salt, salt and pepper. Beat to blend.

... Combine 1 cup evaporated milk, 1 cup water, 2 tablespoons molasses and a dash of nutmeg. Beat to blend.

For A Bang-Up Fourth

Here comes the parade! The high school band leads off the colorful march down main street that puts everyone in a gay Fourth of July spirit. And after a concert in the park, folks will settle back and look skyward to the long-awaited fireworks display.

But first on everyone's list of "fun things for the Fourth" is, of course, a picnic. This year treat your hungry crowd to Bang-Up Specials. They're perky-looking sandwiches made of the favorite foods everyone from grandpa to the kindergarten set.

Bang-Up Specials are made with luscious chunks of chicken and crisp chopped celery tossed together with a light peppy-salad dressing, then topped with a golden slice of pasteurized process American cheese. Just for fun and in honor of the Fourth, crown the cheese slice with a firecracker! Not the usual firecracker, of course, but a saucy cocktail sausage with a pimiento strip for the wick.

It's a party-type sandwich and especially designed to help make your Fourth of July entertaining a bang-up success.

BANG-UP SPECIAL

- 2 cups chopped cooked chicken
- 1 cup chopped celery
- ½ cup salad dressing
- Salt and pepper
- Sliced white bread, crusts trimmed
- margarine
- lettuce
- Pasteurized process American cheese slices
- Cocktail sausages
- Pimiento, cut into ½-inch strips

Combine chicken, celery, salad dressing and seasonings.

For each sandwich, spread 1 slice of bread with margarine and cover with lettuce and chicken salad mixture. Top each sandwich with a cheese slice and garnish with a sausage and pimiento strip.

Vegetable Aspic Salad

(Makes about 6 servings)

- ½ cup beef or chicken broth or water
- ½ cup California Burgundy or other red dinner wine
- 1 envelope plain gelatin
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
- 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- ½ tablespoon salt
- 1 cup grated carrot
- 1 cup finely shredded cabbage

Combine broth, wine, wine vinegar and gelatin. Heat, stirring, until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat, add remaining ingredients. Spoon into individual molds or small ring mold. Chill until firm. Serve on crisp salad greens with your favorite dressing.

Heart Shells

Mom, give your family a breakfast valentine — "be mine" HEART SHELLS, filled with scrambled eggs. Make the shells the night before and toast them in the a.m. while the coffee perks. Using 3 enriched bread slices for each shell, cut out 3 large hearts with a cookie cutter. With a small heart cutter, cut centers from 2 hearts, leaving frames. Brush top side of large heart and both sides of frames with milk. Stack 2 frames on the heart base to form shell. When ready to toast, brush each shell with shortening. Place on a greased cookie sheet; bake in a hot oven (400°F.) for 10 minutes, or until shells are crisp and lightly browned.

Cake Treat

- 4 slices pound cake
- ½ cup finely broken peanut brittle
- ½ cup whipped cream

Place cake slices on shallow baking pan. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons peanut brittle over each cake slice. Place under low broiler heat for four minutes, or until candy melts. Serve immediately with whipped cream garnish on each slice.

Yield: 4 servings.

Theresa's Ricotta Pie

Pastry

- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup shortening
- 3 to 4 tablespoons Sherry

Filling

- 2 pounds ricotta cheese
- 1 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash nutmeg
- Dash cinnamon
- ½ cup chocolate pieces, chopped
- ½ cup citron, chopped fine

To make pastry: Sift flour and salt together into a mixing bowl. Cut in shortening with a pastry blender or two knives until mixture looks mealy. Add Sherry gradually and mix with a fork until dough holds together. Chill in refrigerator.

Then make the filling: Beat ricotta cheese, sugar, and vanilla together with a rotary or electric beater until smooth. Mix in salt, nutmeg, and cinnamon. Then stir in chocolate pieces and citron. Chill in refrigerator. Start your oven at 450 degrees F., or hot. Roll pastry on a floured board and line a 9-inch pan neatly. Bake 12 to 15 minutes, or until pastry shell is golden. Remove from oven and cool. Spoon filling into baked pie shell. Chill an hour at least before serving. Magnificent.

Jelly Roll Sundae

- 1 baker's jelly roll
- 1 pint brick New York cherry ice cream
- 1 cup cherry sauce

Slice jelly roll into 8 equal-sized portions and ice cream into 4 equal-sized portions. Place a slice of ice cream between two slices of jelly roll for each serving. Top each serving with ¼ cup cherry sauce. Serve immediately.

Yield: 4 servings.

Blueburgers Spark Meal On Holiday

Don't glue yourself to the kitchen or the barbecue grill over the Fourth of July holiday. This is a fun occasion when informal meals that can be put together at a moment's notice are liked best.

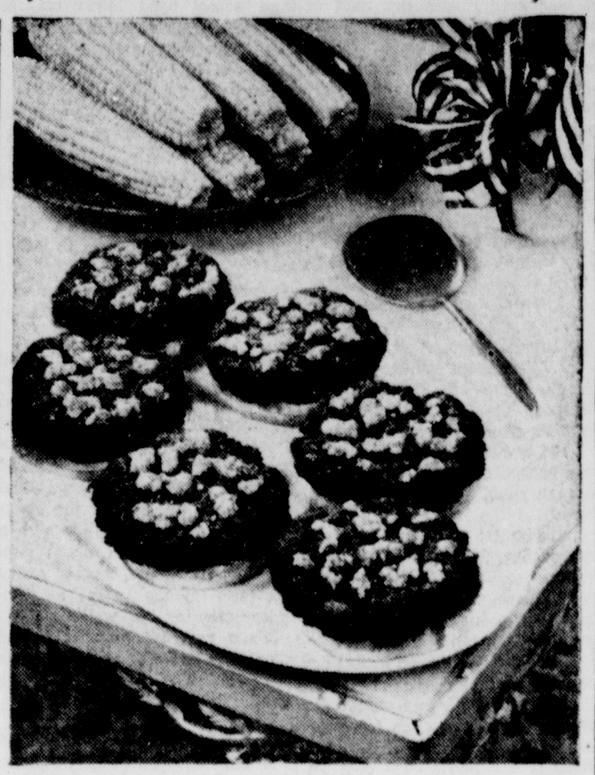

Perhaps the one meal which you'll make special even though it is effortless, is that early supper you serve on the porch or in the yard so that the family will be ready for the fireworks display.

If you want something really distinctive, treat them to tangy blueburgers. They are the gourmet variation of plain hamburgers in which pungent American blue cheese is melted on top of the meat patties. The subtle sharpness of the creamy blue-marbled cheese does wonderful things for these easy-to-prepare burgers.

To make blueburgers indoors, crumble blue cheese on the patties when they are almost cooked and return to the broiler just long enough to barely melt the cheese.

If you are using the backyard grill, either prepare bluburgers by crumbling the cheese on the patties shortly before taking them from the grill, or blend equal parts butter and American blue cheese and spread this delicious mixture on the cooked meat.

In either case, serve the blueburgers immediately on toasted buns. Fresh corn on the cob, a platter of relishes, and fresh fruit complete this meal.

Pungent American blue cheese melted on beef patties transforms plain hamburgers into elegant blueburgers in seconds. Blueburgers can be made quickly on the outdoor grill as well as in the kitchen. If you want an easy but delicious July 4th supper, feature these blueburgers with corn on the cob, relishes and fresh fruit.

Rhubarb Chocolate Cookie Parfait

1 pound rhubarb
2 tablespoons water
¼ cup sugar
Few drops red food coloring
1 package lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 cup crisp chocolate cookie crumbs

Clean rhubarb and cut into 1-inch pieces. Combine rhubarb, 2 tablespoons water and sugar in a small saucepan. Cook over low heat until rhubarb is tender; mix well to form sauce. Add food coloring if necessary for a delicate pink color. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; chill until slightly congealed. Beat gelatin until foamy. Fold rhubarb sauce and whipped cream into gelatin. Place about 2 teaspoons cookie crumbs in the bottom of 8 parfait glasses. Top crumbs with ¼ cup rhubarb mixture. Alternate another layer of crumbs and rhubarb mixture. Sprinkle crumbs on top.

Yield: 8 Rhubarb Parfaits

Get rid of dog odor by bathing your pet in water to which a tablespoon of pine cleaner has been added. Rinse well.

An empty thread spool, painted or shellacked and nailed to floor or baseboard, makes an ideal and costless door stop.

Mocha-Sherry Wine Cake

1 cup milk
1 tablespoon instant coffee
1 package chocolate pudding
¼ cup Sherry wine
1 large angel food cake
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
¾ cup crushed English toffee or molasses chip candy

Combine milk, coffee, pudding and Sherry in a (1-quart) saucepan. Bring mixture to a boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Boil one minute and remove from heat; cool. Slice cake horizontally into 3 equal-sized layers. Whip cream. Fold ½ of the whipped cream into pudding mixture. Divide pudding cream mixture, reserving half for the frosting. Spread about ½ cup of the pudding mixture between each layer. To the other half of the pudding-cream mixture, add the remaining whipped cream. Cover top and sides of cake with lighter chocolate mixture. Sprinkle crushed candy on top of cake. Chill in refrigerator until ready to serve.

Yield: 12-14 servings.

Notes: (1) Instant Pudding may be substituted for cooked pudding, in which case the milk, coffee and Sherry should be mixed with the pudding according to package directions. (2) This cake freezes satisfactorily.

Patio Canape

No fuss, no strain with this canape. Make it right at the patio table. Open and drain a can of sardines. Mash the sardines and blend with sharp cheese and dash of lemon juice. Spread on thin cocktail wafers or toast strips.

Burgundy Lamb Kebabs

(Makes 4 servings)
2 tablespoons olive or salad oil
⅓ cup California Burgundy
½ teaspoon tarragon
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon oregano
1 pound cubed shoulder of lamb, cut in 1½-inch pieces

Combine oil, wine, tarragon, salt, pepper and oregano; mix well. Add lamb and chill 3 hours, turning lamb occasionally. Remove lamb and reserve wine mixture. Arrange lamb on 4 skewers and brush with wine mixture. Broil 4-5 inches from source of heat 5-7 minutes. Turn lamb and brush with remaining wine mixture. Broil 5-7 minutes, or until lamb is desired degree of tenderness.

This Week In Congress

by Rep. Charles Mathias

On June 22 the House of Representatives approved the $4.9 billion housing bill by a record vote of 235-178. The crucial vote on this legislation came on an attempt to approve a substitute program which would have provided for a one-year extension of existing programs at an estimated cost of $1.1 billion. The substitute proposal failed by eighteen votes. I voted for the bill to extend present programs, with amendments, for one year and against the Administration bill.

On May 25, in his special message to the joint session of the Congress, the President here stated:

"Moreover, if the budget deficit now increased by the needs of our security is to be held within manageable proportions — if we are to preserve our fiscal integrity and world confidence in the dollar—it will be necessary to hold tightly the prudent fiscal standards; and I must request the cooperation of the Congress in this regarding to refrain from adding funds to programs, desirable as they may be, to the budget . . ."

That is sound anad sobering advice. It is unfortunate such advice was not adhered to by those who drafted the administration's multi-billion dollar 1961 housing bill.

One example of the inflationary provisions of this bill is the authorization to provide a Federal guarantee of 35-year loans on middle-income-housing with a down payment of only 3 per cent. The Administration originally requested 40-year loans with no down payment. This provision discloses an obvious intent on the part of the Administration to create an inflationary era.

This housing bill is not really in the best interest of the people who need housing or of the Nation because it will surely result in higher costs. This in turn will encourage a market condition which will make it difficult for housing people to operate.

I am disappointed that the advice of the President on preserving "our fiscal integrity and world confidence in the dollar" was ignored. I'm disappointed that the advice of a Presidential task force on what to do about recovering from the recession was ignored when it reported that there should be no liberalization of credit in the field of housing.

The bill, which has already been approved in slightly different form in the Senate, is now being considered in a conference between the House and Senate. The passage of this legislation is a defeat for President Kennedy as well as a defeat for the minority in the House. It may prove to be a disaster for the country.

The Nation was shocked when two self-styled "revolutionaries" destroyed communication installations in the State of Utah. In time of national emergency the security of our Nation could well depend on the readiness of our communication system to transmit the orders and information necessary for our defenses. In a period when the warning before an attack may be as short as thirty minutes, the importance of rapid communication cannot be over emphasized.

The House Committee on the Judiciary, of which I am a member, has given preliminary approval to a bill which increases penal and also extends the protection of the law to privately owned commissions which are used by the Government. I am optimistic that this bill will become law in the very near future.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Mexican authorities are to be congratulated for the rapid apprehension of those responsible for the acts of sabotage in Utah, and this legislation, when passed, will strengthen our security laws and will deter such acts of violence against our Government.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Sediment in your tea kettle consumes fuel and heating time. Remove it often.

Before painting outdoor furniture scrub off all rust with steel wool dipped in kerosene; otherwise, rust will come through paint. An undercoating of red lead or aluminum paint is desirable.

Coffeemakers, tea pots and dish towels are all most convenient when they are stored near the sink.

Scallop Kabobs

- 1 pound scallops, fresh or frozen
- 4 slices bacon, cut into squares
- 1 can (4 ounces) button mushrooms, drained
- 1 green pepper, cut into 1-inch squares
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

½ teaspoon salt—Dash pepper

Thaw frozen scallops. Remove any shell particles and wash. Alternate scallops, squares of bacon, mushrooms, and green pepper on 6 skewers, 7 inches each. Place on a greased broiler pan. Combine butter and seasonings. Brush kabobs with seasoned butter. Broil about 3 inches from source of heat for 5 minutes. Turn carefully. Brush other side with seasoned butter and broil 3 to 5 minutes longer. Serves 6

Blue Cheese Accents Hamburger Stroganoff

Hamburger stroganoff, that elegant but easy main dish beloved of younger cooks and working girls, assumes a subtly different flavor when tangy American blue cheese is added to it.

Blue cheese is combined with dairy sour cream, in this instance, which in turn is blended into a ground beef mixture. The resulting entree is tantalizingly pungent due to the distinctive flavor of the creamy, blue-marbled cheese.

Serve this party delicacy from a chafing dish, if you wish, on hot, buttered noodles.

Blue Cheese Beef Stroganoff

Add 2 tablespoons instant onion, 1 clove garlic, minced, to ¼ cup of butter in skillet. Cook over low heat until butter melts. Add 1 pound of ground beef and brown well. Season with salt and pepper. Blend in a tablespoonful of flour. Add one 10½-ounce can of cream of mushroom soup. Simmer about 15 minutes. Meanwhile crumble ½ cup American blue cheese into 1 cup dairy sour cream. Stir into meat mixture. Heat through on low heat. Serve at once.

Stock Market Declines In Day Of Dull Trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market floundered for most of the session Thursday, then turned lower in what was perhaps the dullest trading of the year.

Activity fell 270,000 shares to 2,560,000, the lowest since last November 17, while the number of issues traded sagged to 1,210, the smallest since Jan. 20.

The interest or enthusiasm simply was not there, Wall Street apparently prefering to sit things out in advance of the July 4th holiday weekend and mull over happenings at the securities probe in Washington.

Two good business news items came too late in the day to have any effect on the overall sluggishness: May orders and sale by manufacturers rose 2 per cent while new construction projects in June also showed a gain.

The housing legislation voted Wednesday by Congress generally benefitted the stocks of savings and loan associations and some building materials. Rubbers and steels were also mostly higher.

Fruehauf Trailer led the market activity with 41,300 shares, off ⅜ to 28⅛.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures climbed sharply in brisk trading Thursday as dry weather persisted in the domestic Northwest and western Canada.

Wheat closed up 1 to 2 cents on the Chicago Board of Trade. Corn was up 1 to 1⅛, oats unchanged to up ⅜, rye off ¼ to up 1½, soybeans up 1¾ to 3½.

Drought conditions brought heavy buying in most U.S. and Canadian grain futures. Several deferred wheat, oats and rye contracts at Chicago made new highs for the season.

Despite a few local showers, crop reporters were concerned about growing conditions in many areas. Grasshopper infestation was said to be expanding. Talk continued that Canada may have to buy U.S. feed grains.

All three wheat futures markets were active and strong. Prices rose sharply as commission and local buying found a little selling pressure. A large pending export trade and news that a baker purchased over 1 million sacks of flour also helped the market.

Commission houses bought deferred corn, while shoris covered in the July. A few merchandising brokers took profits.

Stop loss buying lifted July oats as much as 1⅝ cents before selling increased. Commission houses took deferred months. Offers were light.

Soybeans were stirred up by active demand for deferred contracts and higher oil and meal futures. Short covering also boosted prices. Denmark was reported in the market for a large purchase of soybeans.

An Ambitious Plan For The Capital

From the time Pierre L'Enfant, appointed by General Washington to produce a grand plan for the development of the nation's capital city, first proposed a wheel with huge arteries forming spokes converging on the seat of government, the master design has accommodated well its gigantic growth. Washington has been transformed from a Potomac farm land into a metropolitan area of more than two million inhabitants.

In 1952, concerned that the city's growth would overrun even this efficient design, Congress appointed two bodies, the National Capital Planning Commission and the National Capital Regional Planning Council, to recommend a plan of development to carry the area through population gains envisioned in the next century.

These two groups have made their recommendations to Congress, Virginia and Maryland officials and the District of Columbia commissioners. Both planning groups agreed on the fundamental design of the new city and the urgency congestion placed upon its adoption.

If approved by all concerned, the new Washington would take the shape of a star, with new communities progressing farther out each of the criss-crossing main arteries. The hub of the city would remain the center of official activity, with a greater concentration of rebuilding to beautify the center of government and transform it into a showplace worthy of the people it represents.

Planning now for what is an obvious eventuality will insure an even more beautiful citadel of freedom for future generations. One need only recall the derision heaped upon Pierre L'Enfant for suggesting streets 100 feet wide on the 10 square miles of pasture on which the city was founded, to appreciate the wisdom of foresight.

These Days

New York Politics

New York City politics often affects the fortunes of the parties nationally. The present tumult in the Democratic Party is aimed at destroying the prospects of Governor Nelson Rockefeller as a candidate for the Presidency. It is a political battle waged by amateurs who do not grasp the peculiar composition of New York's population.

The basic fault in New York City politics is that a large part of the population has very little interest in what happens here. Thus, the Democrats have generally been elected to municipal office. If one excludes Fiorello La Guardia who was a man of many parties as he was a man of many languages and many personalities, no Republican has been elected Mayor since 1914 and before that none since 1902. The Democrats must be in very bad shape; their conduct must be so outrageous as to evoke great civic anger before they are defeated.

Men are not elected to the office of Mayor because they are able. They are usually elected because of personal popularity, or because they have made a combination of groups, or because they belong to an important ethnological element. The parties portion out offices on strictly ethnological lines: each ticket must have an Irish Catholic, a Jew, an Italian and a Negro. Otherwise the party is regarded as discriminating and will be opposed by those who get excited about discrimination. This is the way things stand and nobody can make a change.

Mayor Robert Wagner, the incumbent, who has served two terms and who has generally been regarded as an unbeatable candidate, has managed to get himself into a quarrel with the powerful Democratic leaders who are minded to repudiate him now that he has rejected them. This is partly due to the political activities of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and former Senator Herbert Lehman and possibly the Kennedys who want to control New York City so that they might more successfully defeat Governor Nelson Rockefeller in 1962.

A peculiarity in this situation is the Liberal Party. This Party is made up of labor union personalities and certain intellectuals. It broke off from the American Labor Party which President Roosevelt had organized to make it possible for Fiorello La Guardia to pass from the Republican Party to the New Deal. The Liberal Party is Fabian Socialistic, anti-Communist but also not in favor of the social or economic status quo. It polls between 300,000 and 400,000 votes and therefore cannot be ignored in a mayoralty election. Congressman Charles Buckley, the Democratic leader of the Bronx, and a powerful figure in Democratic politics, was the first leader to object to the Liberal Party. Bronx candidates are supposed not to accept Liberal Party endorsements.

Whereas Carmine de Sapio, the Democratic National Committeeman was very slow in coming to the support of John Kennedy at the Democratic Convention, his choice being Senator Stuart Symington which turned out to be an error of judgment. Charles Buckley was the first supporter of Kennedy in the New York area and therefore has expected that he would be consulted by the Kennedy Administration concerning New York affairs.

Whether the Democrats can survive this schism is indeed doubtful. The Republicans have nominated Attorney-General Louis J. Lefkowitz as Mayor. Lefkowitz is a popular personality and has the warm support of Governor Nelson Rockefeller which could mean that the usually poverty-stricken Republican Party might have a sizeable campaign fund.

A week or so ago, one felt that the Democrats would forget their quarrel and would kiss and make up. At this moment it looks as though powerful forces in the Democratic Party in New York City are ready to throw the election. They could do this by running a third party, anti-Wagner, anti-Reform and put it all together, anti-Kennedy.

If Lefkowitz should be elected Mayor, the Democratic organization would be left entirely without patronage, getting none from Washington or Albany or City Hall. The Democratic Party in New York City lives on patronage. It has done very well over the past 30 years. The Republicans, on the other hand, have enjoyed little patronage and are accustomed to political poverty. Should the Democrats be defeated in New York City in 1961, they could easily lose New York in 1962 and thus Nelson Rockefeller would be the Republican candidate for President in 1964.

Berlin May Be Turning Point In U. S. History

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The policy-planning for the Berlin crisis continues to be the all but exclusive preoccupation of the highest level of the government. It is a slow business, precisely because everything hinges upon the answer to a question the like of which no leaders of any government in history have ever had to answer before.

For this reason, in turn, it is high time to stop being mealy-mouthed about this dark but central question. No one has debated it. No one has even mentioned it in a forthright way in any public discussion. But it dominates the private discussion of the Berlin problem by the President and his future probably hangs upon the answer

Is the United States prepared to risk a thermonuclear war in order to discharge its sacred obligations at Berlin? This is the question that has to be answered, fairly and squarely, before intelligible, clear-minded decisions can be taken about the right way to meet the threat to Berlin.

The question would not have arisen if measures had been taken, in the years of the locust, to maintain this country's former commanding margin of military power. There would be no threat to Berlin, one may be sure, if the balance of power in the world today were anthing like the balance of power that existed in 1954. But the measures to maintain the old margin of the U. S. power were considered to be too costly, although democracies badly need some margin in dealing with totalitarian empires.

Thus the question has arisen. In this last month, morover, since Nikita S. Khrushchev has taken a position from which he cannot easily retreat, it has become a sternly insistent question.

The chances are 5-to-1, 6-to-1, 10-to-1—what you will — that Khrushchev will do everything needful to avoid a thermonuclear war if he can only be convinced that there is real danger of one. But one cannot forget the off-chance that Khrushchev's arrogance will prove impentrable, because of grossly over-optimistic military calculations or for some other reason.

Thus the question cannot be dodged or ducked. Yet no real precedent exists to give historic guidance about the best answer.

To be sure, cities and nations and peoples have sometimes in history fought to the last man. How often this has happened is easily forgotten in this rather flaccidly comfortable age. Anyone who wishes to be reminded only needs to read such records as the historian Josephus's account of the siege and destruction of Jerusalem by the Emperor Titus.

Yet two things set the present question apart from the question that was so firmly answered by the iron-willed Jewish zealots who manned the walls of their Holy City with such fearful and unyielding courage. First of all, the defenders of Jerusalem had consciously made their choice, whereas today this country is thinking about everything on earth except the choice that has to be made. And secondly, the scale of the choice is different.

If the Berlin crisis results in a thermonuclear exchange, the peoples of the U. S. and the U. S. S. R. will by no means die to the last man. But a great many millions will quite certainly die, whereas the bloody toll of the fall of Jerusalem was still counted only in tens of thousands. He who makes this choice, and President Kennedy above all, must first peer long and hard into the inferno. That is the sum of the matter.

It is downright frivolous to demand a quick and easy answer from men who must peer into the inferno first. But it is also frivolous, and even shameful, to pretend that the dreadful risk inherent in one kind of answer makes the risks in the other kind of answer any less dreadful.

The answer that we shall stand up and be counted for Berlin involves a certain risk — probably rather a small risk — or a thermonuclear exchange. But the answer that this risk is too awful, and that we shall not stand up and be counted, involves a very much greater though longer term and quite different risk. It involves in fact, an actual probabilitay of a general Western decline which will continue from crisis to crisis, until the final stage of Soviet world domination.

Suppose we are not ready to stand up and be counted for Berlin, where our commitment is so deep, so morally compelling, and so politically crucial. Why then should we stand up and be counted for any other Western position overseas, or for any of our allies, or for Staten Island or Alaska or the state of Washington, for that matter?

That is the other half of the central question, which must also be weighed. And when it is weighed, the fact must be remembered that each failure to stand up and be counted will lead to a new and bolder challenge, in worse circumstances, at a new point still nearer home. In sum, this is a moral-philosophical question of the deep and final sort that controls the course of history.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PRESS RELATIONS — The Washington press corps, which has plainly shown its friendliness to President John F. Kennedy, has received a rude jolt because of the secrecy with which the White House originally handled news of Kennedy's strained back.

A session between the press and White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger on the incident can only be described as the end of the honeymoon. There was hurt, disillusionment and anger on the part of reporters; denials on the part of Salinger.

However, the fact is that Salinger did not "level" with those reporters who had thought they had established the most cordial, confidential and trusting relationship at the White House in many years.

In the face of Salinger's denial of knowledge concerning the nature and extent of Kennedy's injury, and his pleas of ignorance in response to the angry questions of reporters, a new air of distrust is now heavy around the White House press room. It will be a long time before reporters' confidence is restored in Salinger's statements to the point where they will again accept his pronouncements at face value.

Ike's Proposal To Pull U. S. Forces Out Of NATO May Help Nikita

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy had mixed emotions when he invited ex-President Eisenhower to the White House the other day for lunch with Premier Ikeda of Japan and for a personal chat in advance.

The mixed emotions resulted from an earlier talk Eisenhower gave before the Army War College at Carlisle, Pa., which cut the ground right from under Kennedy's position in Berlin. The speech wasn't publicized, but naturally it came back to Kennedy immediately.

What Eisenhower told his old Army friends was that the five American divisions now in West Germany should be withdrawn from NATO because they are too expensive.

This, coming from the man who commanded the first NATO forces in Europe under President Truman, brought strong private reactions from those who heard him. It particularly dismayed President Kennedy. For if Ike should publicly encourage the withdrawal of U. S. troops just before the coming showdown over Berlin, it would destroy Kennedy's bargaining power with Khrushchev.

Furthermore, Ike's proposal came just as the U. S. commander of NATO, Gen. Lauris Norstad, was urging the White House to begin a buildup of American forces in West Germany, and start all-out mobilization at the first sign of toughness by Moscow.

Finally, Ike's statement was made at a time when other Republican leaders, from ex-Vice President Nixon to Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, were urging the Kennedy administration to stand firm regarding Berlin.

Budget-Pruning Philosophy

Behind Eisenhower's proposal that U. S. troops be withdrawn from West Germany is a theory discussed during the last few months of his administration — namely, that we are already committed to defend Western Europe, and that our air bases in England and on the Continent are sufficient evidence of that commitment.

Five U. S. Army divisions couldn't possibly withstand Russian attack in case of war, it's argued, and they might as well be withdrawn. The money-saving, Ike's budget experts told him, would be substantial.

This may have been true before the Berlin showdown, but the psychological impact on Europe right now would be disastrous.

East Meets West

Rudyard Kipling, who lived in India most of his life, once wrote: "East is East and West is West and never the twain shall meet until two strong men came face to face . . ."

Two strong men from the East and the West came face to face in New Delhi not too long ago when Vice President Lyndon Johnson, a rough and ready Texan who served in World War II, met Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, aesthetic Cambridge graduate who led the Indian passive resistance movement against the British Empire.

Nobody quite knew how the two men would get along, and the "New York Times" took some editorial digs at the Vice President's homey manner of shaking hands with plain, ordinary folks in the streets and sidewalks of India. The reaction of the Indian people themselves was quite clear. They loved the opportunity to shake hands with a visiting dignitary. But the reaction of Nehru was less certain.

After Johnson departed, however, Ambassador Kenneth Galbraith, himself a graduate of Harvard, dropped in to see Nehru.

"How did you like our Vice President?" asked the Ambassador.

"Oh, he's the kind of political leader I can understand," replied the aesthetic graduate of Trinity College, Cambridge.

Politics And Schools

Politics, procrastination, and religion have been mixed together in backstage attempts to block the two aid-to-education bills.

While two Catholic Democrats—Reps. James Delaney of New York and Thomas O'Neill of Massachusetts—were blocking the public school bill in the Rules Committee with the help of Republicans and Southern Dixiecrats, GOP members of the Education and Labor Committee were staging a separate blockade of their own.

Their motives were to prevent a school bill of any kind from passing Congress.

For almost two weeks they held up a national defense education bill, providing certain types of loans to parochial schools, as previously established by Eisenhower. Some Republicans sincerely opposed the parochial loans on Constitutional grounds. However, there was another, overriding factor behind the GOP blockade.

The Republicans were well aware that Delaney and O'Neill would never agree to report the federal aid bill for public schools from the Rules Committee while the parochial school measure was held up. So Rep. Carroll Kearns and other Republicans used every delaying tactic in the book to freeze the parochial bill in the Education and Labor Committee.

They either stayed away from committee meetings, to prevent a quorum, or showed up so late that there was little time for the committee to consider various sections of the bill before the bells rang for attendance on the House floor. Meantime, Kearns, a former schoolteacher, and GOP Rep. Robert Griffin of Michigan took turns heckling the Democratic chairman, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York.

"What's the hurry?" Kearns inquired repeatedly as Powell tried to expedite consideration of the defense education bill.

"You're going too fast," complained Griffin, time after time.

Finally, Powell exploded: "I'm only trying to do my job. If I went as slow as you gentlemen would like, we might never get this bill out of committee and the general aid-to-education bill would remain tied up in the Rules Committee, so the House couldn't vote on it. Is that what you really want?

"Do you want to see the general aid bill killed and then try to saddle the blame on Democrats?"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

I'm not quite sure what a second honeymoon is, but Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frechette will soon embark on one and it should be a lulu. They are taking all four children with them — perhaps the dog too — and it should be about as romantic as life in an orphanage during a measles epidemic.

Mrs. Frechette is my older daughter and she has had her eye on the second honeymoon since the first one stopped about five years ago. Charlie may not dwell too much on moonlight and hand-holding, but, when it comes to honeymoons, Ginny doesn't consult him.

Give Charlie a hammer and a mouth full of nails and he'll sit and look at television all day. They have a beautiful ranch house in Lincroft, N. J., and there are always things to be done. The fact that they never get done reminds me of my own early years when I thought that owning a house was fun.

A month ago, Charlie and Ginny tried a weekend by themselves, and it didn't work out. They went to La Concha in Atlantic City without the children. They spent so much time calling home to find out how the babies were that the phone bill was bigger than the room rent.

They're both 24 — real veterans — and they are beginning to learn that, when parents have fun by themselves, a little thing called conscience begins to stick needles under the skin. They return to the little innocents with glad cries and murmurs like "Never again!"

Now the Frechettes are setting up a different honeymoon. Bob Costello of United Airlines has promised that the family will not be evicted from the jet when they show up with the twins — Robin and Pamela, 3; Jim Bishop Frechette 2; and Kevin Frechette 1. Oh, brother. . . .

Ginny now takes whatever they have saved, plus whatever she has shaken out of four piggy banks, and stakes it on California for two weeks. It must be fun to dress four tiny ones every morning — sweating and screaming—and watching all four go toddling off to fall in four separate places in the first 10 minutes of a typical day.

Pamela is the serious one. She doesn't want to see anything hurt. Robin, the other identical twin, believes in fun. She favors devilry of all kinds, and permits her sister to do the worrying, and the talking. Jim is a handsome guy who will give anyone a large smile, and then turn his eyes down bashfully. Kevin is a huge roundhead who squeals with joy when he sees his sisters and brother racing around his high chair.

It is easier, I think, to walk a herd of snails over the Rockies than to transport this brood, but Ginny has made up her mind, and it's like slamming an iron door. Charlie has already applied for service in the foreign legion, but they won't take him.

When they reach California, Ginny will whip out the itinerary. First she wants to take the children to Disneyland. This is great, but is Disneyland ready for it? When these kids get their hands on a roller coaster, they don't let go. They want to take it home.

She also wants to see Jayne Mansfield, who is an old friend of hers. This may not do a great deal for the children, but it is bound to lift Charlie's morale. After that, they want to see Harry Brand at the Twentieth Century Studio, and some of the sights around Hollywood.

If the cowboy stars see the Frechette family first, some of them may hide under their horses. Chicken cowboys. Mind you, no one loves the Frechette family more than I, but six on a honeymoon rocks my sensibilities. It also jars the bridgework.

I have an old-fashioned notion that a honeymoon is a beautiful state of mind involving a man and a woman in isolation. It is a time when love can withstand the knowledge that she hangs stockings on the shower curtain rod, and he squeezes the toothpaste from the top.

A honeymoon is the proving ground for an old mathematical anachronism — that one plus one equals one. It is also the time when she reports to her mother by phone every day, and he gives up television and the ballgames. These are temporary matters followed by others which are called permanent.

The second honeymoon, whether it follows the first by five years or 25, is much more fun, because there are no rude surprises. He watches the ballgames on the hotel television and she phones her mother twice a day.

Jack Sullivan, who owns a lodge in Spring Lake, has a brother who went on a gorgeous honeymoon a few years ago. He was a widower. She was a widow. He had five children. She had four. When they left the church, nine kids were jammed in the back of the car.

Thus, four in a jet sounds almost reasonable. By the time they get back from California, there may be — oh, you thought of it too? . . .

American Men Prefer Simple, Solid Foods

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Food preferences influence how much people eat and waste. Likes and dislikes vary with age, method of preparation, and where the early life was spent. The quartermaster institute for the armed forces conducted an extensive research project along this line.

According to Francis J. Pilgrim, Ph. D., the American male likes his food plain and simple. His preferences correspond generally with those of the entire American population. The most popular foods are fresh milk, grilled steak, French fried potatoes, hot biscutis, and ice cream.

Vegetables are the least liked, especially turnips, broccoli, asparagus, and cauliflower. Iced coffee is not a favorite. Many are partial to fruits except rhubarb and stewed prunes. Desserts are high on the list except for certain items such as raisins and raisin pie.

The more a cook doctors up a dish, the less likely it is to be accepted. This is particularly true when vegetables or cream sauces are added. Combining several foods decreases the preference to the level of the least tempting constituent. Dr. Pilgrim uses salads as an example. When peaches and cottage cheese are served together, those not fond of cottage cheese don't consider this a favorite salad even though they love peaches.

Preferences change with age. Soup and vegetables taste better as the years advance, whereas beverages, cereals, desserts, and fruits become less desirable. Some foods make southerners drool and New Englanders nauseated and vice versa. Staples such as bread and white potatoes are enjoyed by all.

The housewife as well as the army chef must consider the best combination of foods to serve at dinner. Fried potatoes go better with fish; meat is more attractive when the potatoes are boiled, mashed, or scalloped. Rice dishes are not relished by many in this country but go best with chopped or ground meat.

Satiety also enters the picture in that the more filling the food, the more likely it is to be eaten regardless of whether a weight problem exists.

TOMORROW: Stop gulping air.

VIRAL HEPATITIS

G. I. writes: Can hepatitis be passed to another person merely by being in the same room with the victim?

REPLY

No. The exception might be if the visitor had close personal contact with the patient.

ULCER AND MILK

L. P. writes: Can peptic ulcer be treated without drinking milk?

REPLY

Yes, by substituting other bland foods and using one of the many excellent drugs or powders that reduce acidity and quiet the stomach. Skim milk or milk powders can be used instead of regular milk or cream in treating peptic ulcer.

PULSE AND THYROID

C. M. S. writes: Does a slow pulse accompany too little thyroid production?

REPLY

Yes, and the opposite occurs when the thyroid gland is overactive.

WHEAT AND ARTHRITIS

F. W. writes: Could allergy to wheat cause arthritis?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge but there is bound to be someone who develops a swollen toe or pain in the neck after eating white or whole wheat bread.

DOESN'T GO TO THE BLOOD

Mrs. F. M. writes: I was told to lose 70 pounds. When this fat dissolves into the blood stream, can a stroke result?

REPLY

Not from reducing. Fat turns into water and carbon dioxide when used up as energy. The water is eliminated by the kidneys and the gas via the lungs.

EYELID GROWTH

M. W. writes: Is removal of a growth on an old person's left eyelid a serious operation?

REPLY

Not if you refer to the usual types of skin tumors that develop in our senior citizens. The answer depends also on how the lesion will be removed — through surgery, radium, X-ray, or chemically.

MOTION SICKNESS REMEDIES

L. J. C. writes: Do seasickness pills act in the same way as tranquilizers?

REPLY

Yes. Most of these products are antihistaminics and drowsiness is a side reaction.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

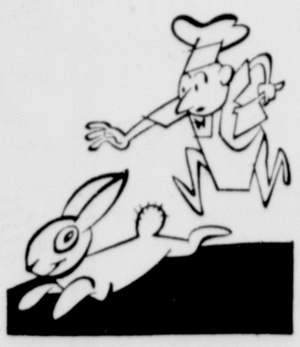

Try And Stop Me

James Thurber, top American humorist, and creator of the immortal Walter Mitty, also dashes off an occasional poem in his spare time. Here are a couple of his two-liners:

1. Though statiscians in our time

   Man wants a great deal here
   below and Womar even more.
2. Men of all degrees should form
   this prudent habit:
   Never serve a rabbit stew before you catch the rabbit.

There's a porter at the American Airlines terminal at Idlewild who is very proud of his job. Recently a traveler asked him if his company serviced Wichita. The porter drew himself up to his full height and proclaimed, "Mister, if there's air there — we go there!"

A darling little sophomore from Vassar, seeking a summer job in a book publishing house, was given an application to fill out. One question thereon caused obvious trouble: "Salary desired?" She finally answered "Yes."

Piedmont To Seek Bids On New Sewage Project

PIEDMONT — Advertisement for bids for the construction of town sewers to connect with the Upper Potomac Commission waste treatment plant at Westernport, and for one or more pumping stations, will be issued as soon as the rights on two parcels of land are acquired.

A meeting of Mayor Donald Mellor and Council was held Thursday with Harry Brenner and Eugene Hai of the Robert T. Regester Engineering Company, Baltimore, who conducted a survey and will ask for the bids.

Also attending the session was John E. Froechlich, a representative of the bonding company of Walter, Woody and Heimingeimer of Concinnati, who will purchase the town's bonds for the construction of the sewage system.

Two separate bids will be asked. Bid A for all construction including two pumping stations, one to be located on Water Street and the other at the east end of town; Bid B for the same construction but only one pumping station. The engineering company has estimated the cost at $130,000.

The town may reject any and all bids, but the engineering company will make recommendations to what bid to accept.

Froechlich said the bonds will not be printed until after the bid has been accepted. An additional amount may be needed for contingency costs that cannot be foreseen at this time.

The contractor who receives the bid will be subject to a penalty if it is not completed in 219 days. The time for the beginning of construction for a federal grant of $34,800 expired last November, but application for its renewal has been made by the engineering company and it is still in force.

Donald C. Hott and Charles W. Smith, attorneys of Keyser and legal representatives of Piedmont advised officials it will be necessary to pass an ordinance authorizing the project.

They presented the mayor with a proposed ordinance for consideration.

Mineral County Cited For Tax Re-Assessment

First In State To Finish Work

KEYSER —A special ceremony citing Mineral County as first in the state to have its re-evaluation and re-assessment program certified was conducted yesterday morning in the Mineral County Court House.

State Tax Commissioner C. Howard Hardesty and other members of his staff, in addition to television and newspapermen from Charleston, flew in to Keyser to make the presentation.

The Declaration of Values was presented to the Mineral County Court by Hardesty in the presence of County Assessor Frank Hott, County Clerk Fred Hamill, Circuit Clerk James Dixon, Sheriff Earl Kemp, Mayor Richard E. Romig, Prosecuting Attorney C. Reeves Taylor, members of the Bar, and members of both state and county staffs on taxation.

Certification came as a result of many weeks of work planned by county officials and the State Tax Commissioners office. Assisting with the program here were Ray Rowan, superintendent of re-evaluation; Bernard G. Sampson, of the Sampson Engineering Co., Fairmont, responsible for Mineral appraisals, W. W. Bowyer, director of equalization, and Thomas Battle, assistant state tax commissioner.

Jesse L. Kimble Will Retire At Luke

LUKE — Jesse L. Kimble, of Barton, will retire July 1 from service with the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper after 42 years with the company. Born in Moorefield, W.Va., he first started work at the mill in May 1919 as a laborer in the boiler house and was a journeyman millwright in the boiler house, Utilities Maintenance Department upon retirement.

Moorefield Girl Second In Contest

CLARKSBURG — Kay Judy Harper of Moorefield, Hardy County, who represented the Martinsburg area in the West Virginia Dairy Princess for 1961 contest, was runner-up to Sharon Lynn Nibert, 18, Apple Grove.

The selection of Miss Nibert climaxed the observance of June Dairy Month in the Mountain State.

Attends Conference

FROSTBURG—Miss Carol Davidson, president of the "Sinjun's" youth group of St. John's Episcopal Church, is attending Summer Conference, at Claggett Diocesan Center, Buckeystown.

At a recent meeting of Allegany-Garrett Assembly of young people of the Episcopal Church, held at Log Church, Altamont, Miss Davidson was elected president of the Assembly.

Work Starts On Sub-Station

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Potomac Light and Power Company has started work on a new sub-station one mile south of Moorefield on U.S. 220. A new road is being constructed in the rear of Miley's Drive-In theater to reach the 400-foot front lot on the highway.

The sub-station, which regulates voltage will serve the Moorefield and Petersburg area. Construction is expected to be completed by September. Heavy equipment will be moved in as soon as the road is completed.

Once erected, the sub-station will be completely automatic with no attendants or employes. New lines will be constructed from the main high tension lines across the South Branch River to the new station.

Class Meets At Penn Alps

WESTERNPORT — Volunteer Bible Class of the Church of the Brethren held a dinner and social meeting recently at the Penn Alps Restaurant at Grantsville with 34 members and guests attending.

Ted Metcalf was master of ceremonies. The entertainment included group singing and a trio comprised of Rev. Levi Ziegler, pastor, Mrs. Ziegler and Mrs. Edna Marsh, sang.

Rev. C. H. Cameron, pastor of the Keyser Church of the Brethren was principal speaker. His subject was "Hitch Hikers." Prayer was offered by Rev. Ziegler.

Lonaconing Presbyterians Mark 100th Anniversary

LONACONING — The one hundredth anniversary will be held July 2 and 3 at the First Presbyterian Church, East Main Street and Scotch Hill. An anniversary program has been printed for the occasion, with pictures and centennial history of the church since 1861.

Morning worship will be Sunday at 11 a.m. The sacrament of adult baptism will be given. The admission to the Lord's Supper will be followed by the meditation and the invitation to the communion.

Rev. John R. McClain, minister; Mrs. James W. Dawson, organist; and Mrs. William M. Ternent, directress of music; will be at this service.

Evening worship at 7:30 Sunday, will open with the Prelude and the Call to Worship. Pastoral prayer will be offered by Rev. John O. Miller, minister of Center United Presbyterian Church, RD 2, Grove City, Pa. Rev. Chalmers H. Goshorn, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, Grafton, W.Va., will give the sermon.

A reception will be held in the education building following this service. Refreshments will be served by the ladies of the church.

The one hundredth anniversary dinner will be held Monday at 6 p.m. William E. McCormack will be toastmaster. The blessing will be given by the Rev. John R. McClain, minister.

Rev. John O. Miller of Grove City, Pa., will give his remarks as a former pastor. A duet, "Mansion Over the Hilltop" will be sung by Mrs. John Turnbull, and Mrs. George Gardner. Rev. Charlmers H. Goshorn, Grafton, W.Va., a former pastor, will speak.

Harold W. Moyer will sing a solo. The one hundredth anniversary sermon will be given by Rev. Fred M. Weber, General Presbyter, The Presbytery of Baltimore. Remarks will be made by the toastmaster.

The anniversary committee is general chairman, Miss Eleanor Cuthbertson; invitations, Mrs. Leslie L. Henry; program, Mrs. William Ternent, John Wattenschaidt and Earl Kiddy; evening reception, Mrs. A. F. Green; picture and other historical items, Mrs. Irene Wilson, Mrs. John Stevenson, Miss Beverly Wattenschaidt; publicity, Mrs. James Staup; history, Miss Margaret Hepburn and Miss Eleanor Cuthbertson.

VFW Picnic Set

KEYSER — The annual VFW basket picnic will be held Saturday at the Knights of Pythias grounds at Burlington. All post, auxiliary and social members and their guests, have been invited to attend. Refreshments will be available on the grounds.

Midland Legion Festival Ends Saturday Night

MIDLAND—A highlight of the third annual summer festival being sponsored by American Legion Post No. 169, will be the "Huck Finn" dance tomorrow from 9 p. m. to midnight at the post home.

Gene Dawson, general chairman, said music for dancing will be played by Les Clifford and his orchestra. Prior to the dance, "Huck Finn" will be crowned by James Ricker, post commander.

"Huck Finn" will receive a bicycle which is being presented to the youngster who sells the most tickets to the dance. Those attending the dance are being asked to dress in overalls, straw hat etc. and go along with the "Huck Finn" atmosphere.

There will be a free dance this evening from 9 to 12, according to Mr. Dawson, who said the same orchestra will play for the dance.

Among the rides, entertainment and games on the legion post grounds is an old time merry-go-round. The festival will close Saturday night.

GOP Club Sponsors Holiday Dance

ELLERSLIE — Closing service for the Vacation Bible School will be held this evening, at 8 o'clock in the Methodist Church. Following the program, handwork will be on display in the church hall.

Music Instructor Joins Frostburg College Faculty

FROSTBURG — Howard Boyasian, of New York City, will join the faculty of the Music Department at Frostburg State Teachers College in September, according to President R. Bowen Hardesty.

With a bachelor of science degree from Juilliard School of Music and a master of music degree from Oberlin Conservatory, Boyasian did additional graduate work at Columbia University and held a doctoral teaching fellowship at Boston University.

Among Boyasian's teaching positions have been Alabama State College, Bucknell University, Boston University and the University of New Hampshire. He has held fellowships at both Oberlin Conservatory and Boston University.

Organizations in which Boyasian holds membership are the Musicians Union, American Contract Bridge League and the Music Educators National Confederation. He is married and has a ten-month old daughter, Julie.

County Road Unit Accepts Two Projects

Federal, state and county road officials Wednesday inspected two Allegany County road projects that were undertaken through participation in federal aid.

The County Roads Department then accepted the 1.7-mile relocation of the Mexico Farms Road built in connection with the new overhead bridge across the B&O Railroad and the one-mile stretch of the Bear Hill Road in eastern part of the county.

The Mexico Farms Road, built at a cost of $188,000, actually cost $80,000 in county road funds with the remainder coming from the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

The Cumberland Contracting Company did the work on this project, but employes of the County Roads Department did the one-mile Bear Hill Road.

The latter cost $18,300 with $9,000 coming from federal aid sources.

The Bear Hill Road had a six-inch compacted base with double surface treatment.

Taking part in the inspection were Allan Richards, inspector for the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads; John Knepp, Maryland State Roads Commission inspector; John D. Bushby, District 6 SRC engineer; George Geary, assistant District 6 engineer in charge of construction; Earl Robertson, secretary-treasurer of the Cumberland Contracting Company; John J. Rowan, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners; Harry Skelly, supervisor of the County Roads Department, and Roy Loar, Skelly's assistant.

Youth Gets Two Years In Murder

Prison sentences were given three Fort Bragg, N. C., soldiers, one of them an Oakland youth, Wednesday in Fayetteville, N. C., when they were found guilty of the second degree murder of a paratrooper.

The Garrett County defendant, Lindsay A. Lewis, 18, was given two years in prison, while his companion, James A. Allen, Atlanta, Ga., received a similar term.

A third youth, Ricardo Risendez, Los Angeles, was given from 20 to 30 years.

A Superior Court jury in Fayetteville, deliberated a little more than an hour Wednesday afternoon before returning its verdict.

The victim was paratrooper Oler Martin, 22. He was the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest O. Martin of Cedar Bluff, Ala. He was fatally stabbed and his body found near an apartment last June 1. Officers said Martin had been fighting with a group of soldiers shortly before his death.

Resendez, Allen and Lewis had pleaded innocent. The state offered as evidence written statements it said the three gave shortly after the slaying in which they admitted complicity.

July Court Term Opens Monday

The civil docket for the July term of Allegany County Circuit Court will be called Monday at 10 a. m. in the Court House, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris announced yesterday.

The July term begins on the first Monday of the month and Judge Harris said any attorneys wanting cases tried may do so by appearing Monday.

The April petit jury will be on call for any jury cases, he added.

Some criminal trials will be heard for defendants who have asked for immediate hearings and have criminal information filed by the state's attorney in their cases.

Garrett Airport Ceremonies Set Sunday

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Garrett County Airport at McHenry will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. at the site of the field on the White Face Farm, 12 miles north of Oakland and near Deep Creek Lake.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners yesterday received notice from the Federal Aviation Administration to instruct the contractor to proceed with his work.

Low bidder on the project was the George F. Hazelwood Company of Cumberland. It is anticipated by the commissioners that Hazelwood will begin work next week.

Attending the ceremonies in addition to the commissioners will be representatives from the State Board of Public Works, the contractor; State Aviation Commission, mayors of various Garrett County communities, Garrett County's legislators, members of the Board of Governors of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and Charles White, former owner of the farm on which the airport will be located.

Carl D. Schell, board president, said any interested person may attend as the board did not have sufficient time to mail invitations.

The Hazelwood firm submitted a low bid of $246,003. The Federal Aviation Administration is paying one-half of the cost, with the County Commissioners and the State of Maryland sharing the other one-half.

Burglar Leaves Note

LONDON (UPI) — Mrs. Janet Winn opened her diary at lunchtime Thursday and found an entry written in an unfamiliar hand:

"House burgled five a.m."

She checked and found the burglar had stolen $67.20 from her purse while she slept.

Police, Fire Unit Plan Annual Picnic

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association will hold its annual family picnic on Sunday, July 9, at the Mt. Calvary picnic grounds on Mason Road.

Handling the arrangements for the event are John Chaney and William Valentine, for the Police Department, and James Sisk and Robert Meister, Fire Department.

The picnic will be closed to members and their families.

Library Lists Schedule For Summertime

The summer schedule of hours for Allegany County Library will start Saturday when the library will close at noon, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, who said the same closing hour will be observed on that day through July and August.

The library also will be closed on Tuesday in observance of Independence Day, Miss Walsh reminded. Officials said the LaVale Library also will be closed that day.

Miss Walsh said the bookmobile schedule for next week has been revised because of the holiday.

On Monday, the unit will be in Ellerslie from 10 to 11:30 a. m. at the EUB Church parking area; in Corriganville from noon to 1:30 p. m. at the DeHaven parking lot, and at Bedford Road Baptist Church from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Wednesday's schedule calls for stops at Armstrong's Store in Rawlings from 10 a. m. to noon, at Calvary Baptist Church, Cresaptown, from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m., and at Bowling Green, in the Fire Hall parking area, from 3 to 4:30 p. m.

The bookmobile will service the Oldtown Road area, at the Hess service station, from 10 to 10:30 a. m., the Sliders Knoll area of Oldtown Road from 11 to 11:30 a. m., and be in Oldtown, at the school parking area, from noon to 1 p. m. Thursday. Other visits that day will be made at Mt. Tabor Methodist Church, Millstone, from 1:30 to 2 p. m., and at John Humbird School, this city, from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m.

On Friday, the bookmobile will pay a 20-minute visit in Clarysville, on Route 55 across from Clarysville Inn, beginning at 10 a. m. Vale Summit will be visited from 10:30 to 11 a. m., Moscow, at Shaw's service station, from 11:30 to noon, and in Barton, across from the American Legion home, from 12:15 to 1:30 p. m. The concluding visit will be made in Lonaconing, on Union Street, from 2 to 4 p. m., Miss Walsh said.

LaVale Library officials stated that the library will be closed on Saturdays during the summer months, beginning this week.

The schedule for the summer calls for the library to be open from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m., Monday through Friday, the spokesmen said.

Does Not Apply

LONDON (UI)—A foreign office spokesman said Thursday new East German restrictions on the use of radio sets by aircraft flying over East German territory did not apply to either civil or military allied aircraft.

The spokesman said that the air safety center in Berlin was set up under four-power agreement and any East German announcements could not affect this agreement.

Until the end of the 17th century, poor people in England were buried without coffins, wrapped in cloth or even just covered with flowers.

GETS SCHOLARSHIP — Miss Linda Highland, daughter of Mrs. Thomas H. Highland, Williams Road, and the late Mr. Highland, has been awarded a R.M. Watkins four-year scholarship to the University of Maryland. A 1961 graduate of Fort Hill High School, she plans to enter the University in September. In high school she served on the yearbook and newspaper staffs and was a member of the National Honor Society, Thespians, Fort Hill Players, Alpha Beta Tri-Hi-Y and A Capella Choir.

Garrett Opens Liquor Sale On Monday

Garrett County's two county dispensaries of whisky will be open for business in time to take care of the Fourth of July holiday tourist rush. The stores will open Monday and will be open daily except Sunday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners has selected a site in Oakland for the liquor store, the premises on the Mt. Lake Road in Oakland formerly occupied by the Spiker Trailer Sales.

The other county store will be located at the Woodmen of the World Building at the intersection of Route 40 and State Route 495 in Grantsville.

Ralph Glotfelty and Harry Bender will operate the Grantsville store while the Oakland employes have not been selected by the board.

The legal sale of whisky in county stores and in four election districts by the drink were approved in a referendum June 21.

East Oakland, Grantsville, Avilton and Finzel district voters authorized the legal sale, making Garrett County the last county in Maryland to approve liquor. Beer has been sold legally for many years.

The county commissioners also announced that the first hearings for applicants for licenses for sale of whisky by the drink will be held Friday, July 14.

The applicants are:

John C. Keister, for Rustic Inn, on Star Route, Grantsville.

John Braskey, Hill Top Restaurant, Grantsville.

J. P. Thayer, Thayer's Barn, on Route 219 on Deep Creek Lake.

Louis H. Cornish, Cornish Manor, Oakland.

Glen Haven Inc., restaurant operated by Wilbert Glen Lyson, on Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake.

Three clubs also have applied for liquor licenses. They include the American Legion posts of Grantsville and Oakland and the Oakland lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose.

The church of St. Peter's in Rome holds approximately 35,000 people.

Safe Driving Urged For Holiday Period

A five-day holiday weekend that starts this evening has brought a reminder from Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale State Police barracks, that safe and sane driving procedures should be observed over the July 4 holiday.

Pointing out that Gov. J. Millard Tawes has proclaimed the five-day weekend a "Holiday From Traffic Accidents" period, Lt. O'Hara said a full complement of State Police will be patroling the highways in an attempt to enforce the governor's proclamation.

All leaves for troopers have been cancelled from the period beginning this morning and extending through until Wednesday morning, according to Lt. O'Hara.

The area has been fortunate in recent years, he continued, pointing out that only two highway fatalities have been recorded for the July 4 holiday since 1957.

One of the fatal mishaps occurred last year when four-year-old Earl E. Shilling darted into the path of a moving vehicle near his Homewood Addition home. The other holiday road death was registered in 1958 when Ronald L. Minnicks, 19, of this city, was fatally injured when the car he was driving ran off U. S. Route 220 near the Pennsylvania line.

Lt. O'Hara said the governor's proclamation points out that 45 miles an hour is deemed the maximum safe speed on crowded highways. The barracks commander said he urges all drivers to heed that advice since there were 371 persons killed or injured in highway accidents over last year's Independence Day weekend.

Of that total, Lt. O'Hara said, 129 deaths or injuries were attributed to excessive speed. Those statistics, he observed, should serve as a sober warning to all motorists that a safe and sane July 4 can be observed only by constant caution at the wheel.

Businessman Fined On License Count

A Cumberland businessman was fined $50 and assessed court costs at a hearing yesterday before Trial Magistrate Paul W. Barnett on a charge of operating his business without a license.

Fined was E. W. Humbertson, who operates a television service on National Highway in LaVale. The case was prosecuted by Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, on complaint of Charles E. Floto, Maryland license inspector.

A similar charge against Allen M. Sell, operator of the Allen M. Sell and Son Construction Company, will be heard next week.

24 Building Permits Issued In June

June building permit valuations amounted to $151,594, the building engineer's office reported yesterday.

There were 24 permits issued, 19 for new construction and five for additions and improvements. The new construction included 13 dwellings, estimated to cost $108,600.

The June permits brought to $689,669 total estimated construction in the city for the year. This compares with $1,780,960 for the first six months a year ago.

Last month, the city issued 13 permits for a total valuation of $170,275.

Fuel Company Dispute In Equity Action

An equity suit involving capital common stock of the Maryland Fuel Company of Frostburg and a proposed meeting next month of the Board of Directors was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris signed a court order in which the defendant corporation is restrained from holding a directors meeting on July 5 provided that the corporation may move for a dissolution of the restraining order upon five days notice to the complaintants or their attorney.

Complaintants in the suit are James Jenkins Sr., Lutherville; Rheta J. Leimach, Baltimore; Violet J. Oberhaus, Phoenix, Ariz. and Marguerite J. Ross of Leesburg, Va.

The bill of complaint states that Jenkins is the legal owner of 95 shares of the capital common stock of the corporation out of a total of 210 shares of said corporation issued, outstanding and entitled to vote.

The three women allege that Jenkins had transferred the stock to them but the corporation has refused to cancel the certificate outstanding in the name of Jenkins and to issue new certificates to the women.

The complaints pray that the defendant be restrained from holding the meeting until the corporation and William E. Jenkins, secretary-treasurer, allow them to inspect the by-laws and accounts of the defendant corporation.

They claim that they were not permitted to examine the by-laws and books of account and are unable to determine whether the meeting is permitted according to the by-laws.

Attend Sales Clinic Here

DMV Head Warns Drivers

John R. Jewell, commissioner of motor vehicles, has reminded motorists preparing for the holiday weekend that the penalties for driving under the influence in Maryland can be severe.

Under the law, conviction of drunken driving calls for mandatory revocation of the driver's operator's permit for a period of at least 90 days. In addition, Jewell said, persons whose driving privileges have been revoked must undergo complete re-examination, including driving tests and law examinations, before they can be reinstated, and also pay an additional $5 for a new learner's license.

"It is important," Commissioner Jewell stated, "that our drivers be made fully aware of all the penalties involved for driving under the influence and realize that conviction of same becomes part of their permanent driving record. These are public records, and as such, are made available to employers and insurance companies upon request."

Since January, Jewell pointed out, the Driver Licensing Division of the Department of Motor Vehicles has revoked the licenses of more than 1,200 motorists convicted of drunken driving.

Shepard Highway

SALEM, N.H. (AP)—The first leg of a highway named for astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. will be opened to traffic Saturday.

The legislature named the southern 26 miles of Interstate Route 93 in honor of Shepard. It eventually will go through the astronaut's home town, Derry, N.H.

Science At Work

By The Associated Press

Yuri Gagarin's spaceship, telephone voices and vox pop on atomic energy are topics for science at work.

Yuri Gagarin says the cabin of the Soviet spaceship that orbited him around the earth was much more spacious than an airplane's cockpit.

The cabin had all of the controls needed for observing earth, keeping contact with people on the ground, controlling the flight and if necessary, piloting the ship independently.

To his left, Gagarin wrote in the newspaper Pravda, were controls for the radio telephone, cabin temperature, manual operation and re-entry engines. To the right was a radio, food containers, and spaceship controls. Before him was the instrument panel, and below was a porthole for observation of earth, and a television camera to observe the astronaut.

People do speak louder on long distance telephone calls than on local calls, a Bell Telephone Laboratories survey shows. Voices rise about one decibel or sound measurement unit for every 1,0000 miles the voice has to cover.

In addition, men talk louder than women. And New Yorkers talk louder than other people. Women, while they speak more softly, make more social calls, while most male calls are on business.

American men read and hear more about atomic energy than do women, but the women do more talking about it, a survey indicates.

Some 67 per cent of the men contacted recalled seeing, reading or hearing something about atomic energy in recent months, as against only 58 per cent of the women. The men recalled more specific topics than the women could.

For Navy ships patrolling the frigid waters of the polar areas, ice is a real problem. It coats decks and bulkheads and the added weight sometimes affects the stability of the ship.

Now the Navy is working on new polysiloxane paints that hold promise. Ice doesn't stick to them. In one test, a gloved hand could brush away ice up to ⅛ of an inch thick off bulkheads painted with the special preparation, while ice could not be brushed off untreated areas. Still the new paints lose their ice resistance in a short period, and more work remains to be done to develop the right kind of paint.

Politics Breaks

Long said. "proves Pendergast was looking in another direction from 1950 to 1958 when Maryland endured a Republican governor whose chief accomplishment was the cutting of ribbons opening roads constructed by a previous Democratic governor."

Long said Tawes has accomplished more in his 2½ years in office than his Republican predecessor (Theodore R. McKeldin) did in eight years. To disprove the "ineptness" charge, Long listed Tawes' accomplishments as:

Reduction of highway death rates; reorganization of the State Roads Commission and building of highways such as the Baltimore and Capitol beltways; reduction of mental hospital population; regulation of Maryland's savings and loan industry; establishment of Baltimore's Municipal Court; and distribution of $14 million in State aid to political subdivisions for schools, teachers salaries and welfare programs.

Most Democrats are going on the assumption that Tawes will seek reelection. But this hasn't stopped strong speculation that he will have a primary fight.

The best known Democrat reported considering a challenge to Tawes is George P. Mahoney.

If Tawes does cross up the guessers by not running, there is more than likely to be a flood of Democratic candidates seeking the nomination.

The figure of former two-time governor, Theodore R. McKeldin, is looming largest among the possible Republican candidates.

But even J. Glenn Beall, one of the two Republican U.S. Senators, wouldn't rule himself out. He could run for governor, lose and still remain in the Senate since his term in Washington runs until 1964.

The other Republican Senator, John Marshall Butler, intends to seek re-election next year.

County Planning

able persons to be interviewed for the job. Some applications have been received to date.

Mr. Mason was of the opinion that if at all possible the person employed should be from Allegany County. He also suggested that a planning engineer be employed. The men could act in an advisory capacity for other county work and the county possibly could subsidize for the difference in salary.

The matter was tabled until the next meeting.

Mr. Mason said the date for a public hearing on the interim zoning ordinance will depend on when the commission can come to full agreement on the initial draft which was being studied closely last night.

Other members of the planning commission at last night's meeting were James A. Perrin, Ralph M. Race and Carl O. Belt.

YOUNG THIEVES ARRESTED

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Charleston police Monday picked up seven boys — one of them only 7 years old and said the youngsters were responsible for a number of recent thefts and purse snatchings here. Five of the youths — the oldest 14 — were accused of the theft of about $180 from a cash register at a gas station.

Monday Is Work Day

The long Fourth of July holiday will be enjoyed by some workers but state employes and Court House workers will have to work as usual next Monday, July 3.

Allegany County Road Department employes will go on vacation at the end of the work day today and will not report back until Monday, July 10. Only an emergency crew will be available for the department if needed.

The county commissioners will meet next Monday due to the regular meeting day being Tuesday, the Fourth.

City of Cumberland employes will work as usual Monday and the Mayor and Council will meet the same day at City Hall.

Industries such as the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company and Works 7 of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will also work as they are continuous process type manufacturing. The B&O and Western Maryland rail lines will also work Monday but office workers not involved with the movement of trains will be off Tuesday.

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory will give office employes Tuesday off but some production workers will work that day. Cumberland stores will be open as usual next Monday to 9 p.m.

Trial Magistrates Court, 111 Union Street will be open as usual on Monday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Police Court will be held in the Public Safety Building at 2 p.m. There will be no court in either place on Tuesday.

Turkey Reports Plot; Orders Martial Law

ISTANBUL (UPI) — The government announced Thursday night it had uncovered a plot to overthrow Turkey's revolutionary regime and promptly proclaimed martial law.

In a "martial law communique" the government said it has detained several members of a subversive group which it called the "Ciftci" organization.

One of those detained, Ahmet Ciftci, was presumed to be the leader. The government said a declaration inciting Turks to violence was found in his posession.

Witness Says His Testimony Was Not True

Shreve Called In Second Trial

The trial of Wilson C. Zirk of Old Fields, W. Va., the second man to face a charge of conspiracy to murder a Virginia salesman, took an unexpected turn yesterday when one of the prosecution witnesses testified in Hardy County Circuit Court at Moorefield that he had "lied" in two previous trials in that court.

Nolan Shreve of Pendleton County, W. Va., was the surprising witness. He too has been indicted on a charge of conspiracy to murder Eldridge Lee Ritter, 33, of Stephens City, Va., who was found dead in a parked car near Moorefield last July 14.

When first called to the witness stand yesterday, Shreve pleaded the fifth amendment. After he was reminded by Judge H. Gus Muntzing that his previous testimony was already in the record he agreed to testify. Zirk originally was charged with murder but the trial ended last December with a hung jury.

Rexroad Guilty

John Rexroad, 42, of Moorefield, who operates a filling station and welding shop, was convicted Wednesday by a jury in Moorefield on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder in the second degree. Yesterday he was freed under bond. His attorneys say they plan to appeal the decision. This conviction carries with it a sentence of from five-to-18 years. Judge Muntzing has not indicated when he will pass sentence.

Shreve's admission that his earlier testimony was false came upon cross examination by Ralph J. Bean and John Hamilton, attorneys for Zirk. Immediately after the witness said he had lied in the first Zirk trial and during Rexroad's trial earlier this week. Attorney Bean demanded that Shreve be charged by the state with perjury. It was Shreve who accompanied Ritter from Virginia to Moorefield and his testimony concerned details about a party the night of last July 13 in Rexroad's service station.

Moomau Takes Stand

Another unexpected event yesterday was the calling of Lewis Moomau, Hardy County prosecuting attorney, to the stand. He and George Sponaugle, Pendleton County prosecuting attorney, are conducting the prosecution of the conspiracy trials.

The question addressed to Mr. Moomau by Mr. Sponaugle concerned a conversation the prosecutor had with Cletus Ritter, a relative of the deceased salesman. However, Judge Muntzing ruled that he could not answer the questions while prosecuting the case.

Otherwise, yesterday's trial was very much like the one earlier in the week. In all some 12 witnesses were heard. Among them were State Trooper J. L. Baker, who found Ritter's body in a parked car, and Dr. M. H. Maxwell, who examined the body. He attributed death to loss of blood. Ritter's arm had been pulled across the jagged edge of a broken automobile window in a sawing motion.

The prosecution promises to rest this case this morning after calling one final, unidentified witness.

Two women and 10 men are serving on this second jury in Hardy County. They include Mrs. Leona Brill and Mrs. Denver Bergdoll, Paul Tallent, William Mathias, Guy Wilkinson, Brooke Evans, Odell Combs, Earl Sims, Marshall Clark, Walter Link, Donald Biller and Freel Shipe.

Others facing the conspiracy charge are Junior B. Miley and Paige Weese, both of Moorefield.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter from "Mother" who complained about the lewd lyrics of today's rock and roll music broiled my eyeballs.

I'm an average teen-ager who listens to the radio every weekend from morning 'til night. I enjoy all kinds of music — popular, classical, religious, long hair, short hair, and rock and roll. I've never heard the song "Mother" referred to about the teenager who fell asleep in the drive-in. I think she made it up.

My Mom is no spring-chicken —in fact she's your age. She tells me that today's songs are no worse than the ones they listened to 25 years ago. In fact Mom sang a few bars of a tune called "She Takes Me To Paradise" and I almost swallowed my bubblegum. Any comment? — CLASS OF '62

DEAR CLASS: True, there were some pretty trashy songs on the air when I was a teen-ager (back around the time the earth's crust cooled) but they didn't fill the air from thousands of radio stations night and day.

In the past twenty years radio and TV have become an important part of our lives. The American public should be aware that it will get the kind of entertainment it demands. I don't buy the idea that we are a nation of morons —satisfied with a few good programs, a great many mediocre shows, and an appalling amount of garbage.

DEAR ANN: I sympathize with the guy who married the college girl who mopped the floor with the dish rag. I married the same kind of slob who put dish towels into washer with the car wiping rags. I'm still puzzled as to why she washed dish towels at all. I never recall that she dried any dishes.

When I asked for a clean shirt she'd say, "Buy some. You're very low on shirts." Of course I was low on shirts, who wouldn't be with three dozen wadded up in the closet corner?

We never wasted time writing love letters in the sand but believe me I could have traced Homer's Iliad in the dirt on the floor. And please none, Ann, this wife of mine who was a home Ec major thought Brillo was a South American dance, and Ajax was something that lifts a car when you change a tire.

You can say what you want about love conquering all, but when the cockroaches and ants start coming at you from all directions, love flies out the window. — SIR SPENCE

DEAR ANN: Recently you had a letter from a seventh grade student whose teacher erased math exercises so fast he couldn't copy them down or learn them. Here's how a group of sailors in Uncle Sam's school solved the very same problem.

Their professor would put complicated problems on the board, give a quick explanation, erase the board work, and go on to the next problem. Finally one of the fellows got so disgusted that he took one of those 60-second cameras to class and stopped the professor just before he erased his work.

"Just a moment, please, sir," he said as he rose from his seat and snapped a picture of the blackboard. The class had no further copying difficulties. — HELPFUL

DEAR HELPFUL: This may work fine for grown up bell-bottom trouser boys, but I don't recommend it for a seventh grader. A stunt like this might create problems the poor kid could never solve.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

Opening lead: King of ♣

It is not always easy to place one's self in the position of the person who is required to make a quick decision under fire. The reader, with all hands in view, is not so much inclined to applaud the schemer as he is to look upon the victim as a "sap." Take the case of West in today's hand for example.

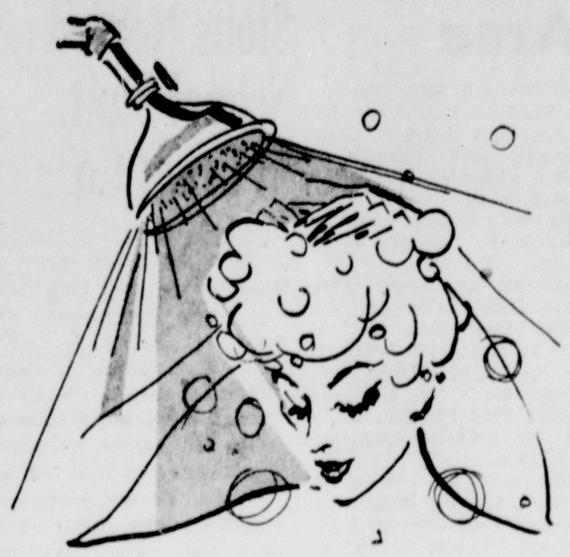

His strategy throughout the auction was unimpeachable. The bidding developed in a manner far beyond West's wildest dreams, and the double of four hearts was made with visions of a comfortable old age. One false step, however, deprived him of the fruits of his well laid plot.

The king of clubs was opened and won by the ace. A low club was ruffed by declarer, who was convinced that West held two trump tricks as well as the ace-queen of spades. He saw a chance to make the hand if he could induce the doubler to pass one lead of trumps. He therefore led a low heart toward the eight in dummy. West could not see any danger in ducking since he still held two sure trump tricks. Whether or not he should have done so is another matter.

When the eight held, declarer ruffed another club, laid down the ace of hearts, and then led a diamond to the queen. The ace and king of diamonds were cashed next, and the last club was ruffed, leaving West with nothing but two high trumps and the ace-queen of spades.

He was given the lead with a trump and forced to lead from the ace of spades, setting up South's king. The possession of that low heart at this point would have permitted West to use it as an exit card and wait for declarer to lead spades.

Hair tints stay lively longer with quick and gentle shampoos.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A Swift Shampoo Will Spare Your Tint

The speedier you are in shampooing your tinted hair, the longer the color will last. This advice applies to "permanent" coloring as well as to color rinses.

Even hair in its natural shade is all the better for quick washing and rinsing. All soaps and detergents, however mild, tend to be drying. And water is a well-known oil robber, especially when it's steaming hot.

If all hair must be handled with care in washing, then artificially treated hair must have the gentlest care of all. Use only mild shampoos those especially concocted for tinted tresses. Stronger suds will only hurry the possibility that your new shade will begin to fade after a few weeks.

If you've always enjoyed massaging your scalp during your shampoo, don't decide to skip that stimulating step — simply to shorten washing time. Instead, change sequence. Give your scalp its tingling workout BEFORE the shampoo is under way.

Step into the shower for the next steps, if you want to be as fast and thorough as possible. Whip up that first lather without delay, then rinse immediately in tepid—NOT HOT—water. Let your busy fingers work hard during rinsing. It's important that soap does not remain in the hair nor on the scalp any longer than necessary or should rinsing itself be prolonged. (This is why a shower-spray beats pitcher-rinsing.)

The second lathering is always easier and faster and requires a not less shampoo than most women realize.

The second rinsing, in cool water, can last an extra minute, to make sure not a trace of shampoo clings to scalp or hair. Then, for luster and manageability, pour a cream-rinse solution over your clean hair.

If your hair tint is brand new, you are just beginning to realize that your wardrobe can have dramatic new color dimensions. You should be able to wear more exciting fashion tones than you ever believed you could. Why not explore this extra potential to be prettier than ever?

Before you plan any major changes in your present wardrobe, send for my booklet, "Your Color Type." It can be yours for just 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Direct your request to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, and your copy will be delivered in about two weeks.

Tip-Top Trim

SEOUL (UPI) — U.S. and Korean officers said Thursday South Korea's army is in tip-top fighting trim, ready to deal with any new aggression the Communists might attempt.

"The technical and tactical ability of the ROK (South Korean) army to resist Communist aggression is high," said Maj. Gen Hamilton H. Howze, who is winding up a two-year tour as chief U.S. military adviser in Korea.

SOLDIER TO STUDENT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — CBS-TV's "Dobie Gillis" sheds Army khaki for collegiate clothes next fall. He'll be discharged from the service and enroll in a junior college — on the program.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — It was a very enthusiastic Shirley Maclaine who told me that she and Paul Newman will meet her producer husband, Steve Parker, in Tokyo tomorrow. " He briefs us on a variety show he is putting on in Manila at the request of the U. S. Navy," Shirley told me.

"The Philippines are so loyal to America and they love Americans and our show on Friday and Saturday will commemorate their independence day."

Stephen Boyd, making "The Inspector" in Europe, dined tete-a-tete with Brigitte Bardot the other night. But hold the romantic rumors. According to word from Steve, it was an all-business session.

Boyd and writer Claude Reynolds have formed a partnership to make Reynolds' original comedy "The French Mare" in Ireland this fall and Brigitte is being sought to play the part of the French heiress who brings her thoroughbred race horse to Dublin and becomes involved with a tour. Steve.

Bet you don't recall that Steve and Brigitte made a picture before, in 1957, "The Night the Heavens Fell" in Paris. They are old friends.

I was glad to hear from Natalie Wood. She telephoned me and said one reason she hadn't talked to anyone was because she has had the flu and has lost a lot of weight again and has been feeling miserable. She said she hadn't talked to William Orr about "Lovers Must Learn" which she is supposed to start in July at Warner Bros. studio in Burbank. "I haven't been up to discussing anything," she said.

Natalie told me she and Bob had talked things over but had reached no conclusion. I told her I hope they will give their marriage another trial.

George Hamilton's voice came over the telephone from London as clear as if he were in the next room. He says while he loves being in "Light in the Piazza" he is terribly homesick and will be glad to get back after three more weeks shooting in London.

I asked him about Susan Kohner. He said he feels that if Susan and he can't trust each other they aren't old enough to get married. He said, "she gets upset over articles in the newspapers and I am upset when I read that she is indifferent."

Unexpectedly, Albert (Cubby) Broccoli flew into town and closed a deal with United Artists for seven pictures based on Ian Fleming's novels. Cubby, who was given a welcome home party by David May, said that he has a new partner, Harry Saltzman, producer of the very successful but erotic "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning."

The first of the Fleming pictures will be either "Dr. No" or "Diamonds are Forever".

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Troy Donahue says that it's a cruel, cruel rumor that he and Lili Kardell, his girlfriend, have separated. He says she'll join him in Miami, Fla., July 10 when he appears in some "Surfside 6" TV segments before he starts "Lovers must Learn."

TV actor Bob Conrad ("Hawaiian Eye") took his wife and two daughters to Disneyland on Sunday, which answers the question whether or not he's married.

Azadia and Rouben Mamoulian are back in their Beverly Hills home after having been away for over a year.

Talk about the long arm of coincidence. Arthur Hoffe, who is doing the film version of "The Great Sebastians" which will star Judy Holliday, 20 years ago worked on the switchboard of the Mercury Theatre. Every Wednesday his replacement on the job was a young actress named Judy Tuvim, whose last name in Hebrew means—Holliday.

When Andy Williams opens in "Pal Joey" on the straw hat circuit his co-star in the revival will be Julie Wilson.

The 4th of July night Sheilah and Gordon MacRae know exactly what they're going to do—they'll open at the Cocoanut Grove.

Tomorrow is the 50th anniversary of the Maryknoll Fathers, and Father Francis J. Caffrey says the fathers would like to thank the motion picture people for all their kindness over all these years.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Fairchild And Umbaugh Sign New Agreement

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Umbaugh Aircraft Corp. of Ocala, Fla. and Fairchild Stratos Corp. of here Wednesday signed a new agreement concerning production of a modernized gyroplane being developed by Umbaugh.

Under the agreement, Fairchild will manufacture and treat the sheet metal parts for the rotary-wing aircraft. Umbaugh, which has a branch here, will retain the responsibility for design, flight testing and engineering and will assume responsibility for subassembly, final assembly and quality control.

Under an old agreement between the two firms, Fairchild was to manufacture the entire plane. Fairchild voided that agreement early last year, however, when it claimed Umbaugh was taking too much time developing the aircraft.

Umbaugh hopes to turn out 10,000 gyroplanes a month after FAA approval has been received.

So far only five of the gyros have been manufactured for test purposes and display.

Sions Named School Supt. In Grant Co.

PETERSBURG — A meeting of the Grant County Board of Education was held recently, at which time appointment was made of C. D. Sions to replace A. Neil Frye, resigned, as superintendent of schools.

Sions is a graduate of Shepherd College and received his master of arts degree at West Virginia University. He was principal of Petersburg Grade School for 12 years, and resigned that post three years ago. He was employed for a year as educational advisor to the director of observation after terminating his employment with the county school system, and is presently employed as district manager for World Book Encyclopedia.

Sions will assume his duties as the new superintendent in August when the resignation of Frye becomes effective.

No successor to James Butcher, assistant county superintendent who also submitted his resignation, has been named. It is believed the matter will be settled at the next meeting of the board Monday.

Mary Alice Sawyer, Mrs. Hughes Lead At CCC With 81s

64 Compete In Opening Round Here

Mrs. Wilson Howard, Anne White Post 83s Five Tied For Fifth

Mary Alice Sawyer, 16-year-old ace of the Clifton Park Country Club, Baltimore, and Mrs. Robert Hughes, of Richmond, Va., the defending champion, yesterday posted gross scores of 81 to tie for the lead at the halfway point in the eleventh annual invitation golf tournament of the Women's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club.

Mrs. Hughes, who was Miss Barbara Diggs, of Washington, D. C., is seeking to gain permanent possession of the Old Export Bowl which she won in 1960 and 1959 and can retire the trophy if she finishes in front today when the 36-hole event is concluded.

Sixty-Four Participate

Miss Sawyer, making her first appearance in the CCC event, is one of Baltimore's outstanding young golfers and is regarded as a "darkhorse" in the annual event which has attracted a total of 64 players from West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Wilson Howard of the Argyle Country Club, Washington, D. C., and Miss Anne White, Uniontown, Pa., carded 83s to tie for third place at the end of the first 18 holes.

Five Shoot 84s

Five players, namely, Mrs. Paul Streit, Chevy Chase, Md.; Mrs. Frank Cush, the 1961 Maryland State champion from the Argyle Country Club; Miss Midge Kauffman, of Woodholme Country Club, Baltimore, runner-up in the Baltimore City championship tourney; Miss Jane Schiller, of Salisbury, University of Maryland student, and runner-up to Mrs. Hughes in the 1961 Middle Atlantic Tournament, and Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, of Cumberland, were deadlocked for fifth place with 84s.

One stroke farther back were two Cumberland players, Mrs. G. William Bibby and Mrs. Royce W. Hodges with 86s.

Women's par at the Cumberland Country Club is 72.

Miss Sawyer Has Net 72

In addition to tying Mrs. Hughes for first place, Miss Sawyer had low net for the field on opening day with 81-9—72.

Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie and Mrs. Fuller B. Whitworth, Cumberland Country Club; Mrs. Wilson Howard, Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Noel Parent, of the Nemacolin Country Club, Charleroi, Pa., tied for the runner-up spot with net scores of 73.

Their gross, handicap and net were as follows: Mrs. Bowie, 84-11—73, Mrs. Whitworth 87-14—73, Mrs. Howard 83-10—73 and Mrs. Parent 85-12—73.

Ten From Argyle

Representatives of 21 clubs participated in yesterday's opening round. The largest turnout from an out-of-town club was ten players from the Argyle Country Club of Washington. Sixteen members of the host organization participated. The Naval Medical Center Golf Club at Bethesda, Manor Country Club, Washington, and Johnstown, Pa., were each represented by four contestants.

The final round is slated to get under way at 8:50 a.m. today. At the conclusion of the 36 holes a total of 25 silver trophies will be distributed among the players.

Hyndman Vets Beat Ellerslie Third Time 2-1

Brelsford Victor Over Vern Lowery

The Hyndman Vets turned back Ellerslie for the third straight time this season as Junior Brelsford bested Vern Lowery in another hurling duel yesterday, 2-1, at Hyndman.

The loss was the fourth in a row for Ellerslie and marked the second time this week Brelsford and the Vets beat the former league leaders who lost 2-0 to Hyndman on Tuesday.

Brelsford picked up his 11th triumph with a three-hitter, the only run coming on Faulkner's homer in the second inning.

Dick Emerick hit a pair of three-baggers which accounted for both Hyndman tallies. He tripled and scored on Vohn Lehman's sacrifice fly in the first and then hit his second three-bagger to score Stanley Robertson who got aboard on a fielder's choice.

In another game at Stringtown, Melody Manor pounded Paul Stair for nine runs in the first two innings and went on to defeat Stringtown, 9-3.

Ray Troutman hurled a six-hitter for his fifth victory as Ronnie Neubiser collected three hits, Bob Cessna hit a double and single and Sonny Glass smacked two singles for the victors. Rose had a two-bagger and a single for the losers. The results:

Maroons Down Eagles For 10th Pen Mar Victory

The LaVale Maroons downed Cresaptown, 7-5, to rack up their 10th triumph of the year in the Pen Mar Little League yesterday, handing the Eagles their 11th straight setback at Parkside.

Mike Freeman struck out 10 and picked up the win when Jim Evans homered to center to tie the score 5-5 in the fifth and Jeff Williams singled home the winning runs later in the same frame. Williams had two singles and Dave Pittman garnered a double and two singles for the winners.

Barrelville kept pace with the league leaders by belting the LaVale Orioles, 14-0, at Barrelville as Jim Williams pitched a three-hitter. The winners scored 11 runs in the fourth inning to ice the verdict.

Gary O'Baker with three hits and Williams and Steve Wilson with a double and single each paced Barrelville at the plate. Moses and Loren Phillips each doubled for the losers.

Tri-State Memorial's Steve Lee belted a home run in the bottom of the seventh to give the Cresaptown aggregation a 14-13 win over Wellersburg in a slugfest at Cresaptown.

Lee had a triple and single in addition to his game-winning homer while Carl Cecil belted a homer and single and Tom Barton had three hits for Tri-State. Robinette and O'Baker each had a homer for the losers with Robinette also belting a triple. The results:

Pirates Rally In 8th, Beat Dodgers, 4-2

Earl Francis Scores First Win, Fans Ten

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates tore a page out of their come-from-behind book that won them a 1960 world's championship by scoring all their runs in the eighth inning Thursday to chase southpaw ace Sandy Koufax and defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2.

Koufax had struck out Bill Mazeroski and pinch-hitter Bob Skinner and appeared headed for his 11th victory when the Pirates regained their 1960 magic. Bill Virdon singled to center and Johnny Logan singled to right. Dick Schofield ran for Logan and then Roberto Clemente smashed a two-run double and went to third on the throw to the plate to tie the score at two-all. Larry Sherrry came in from the bullpen and Dick Stuart greeted him with a grounder that bounced off Junior Gilliam's glove for a run-scoring single that put the Pirates ahead. Then Don Hoak insured the game with a triple to center.

Koufax struck out 11 batters to mark the 26th time in his major league career that he had struck out 10 or more.

Earl Francis challenged Koufax's strikeout prowess by setting down 10 himself. He was relieved for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning and Elroy Face made the familiar trek from the bullpen to preserve Francis' first victory of the season.

Senator Homers Beat Tribe 3-1

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Billy Klaus and Marty Keough each hit homers to account for all of the Washington Senators runs Thursday night in a 3-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians that was credited to Johnny Gabler.

Klaus hit his home run after Danny O'Connell had opened the game with a single. That gave the Senators a 2-0 lead in the first inning. It was Klaus' sixth homer of the season. Keough hit his fifth homer of the year in the fourth inning.

Redmen Top Purple Heart

Largent Defeats Ken Perdew, 2-0

Allan Largent outdueled Ken Perdew to give the Redmen a 2-0 triumph over Purple Heart in a nine-inning Rec Softball League thriller yesterday at Naval Reserve field.

The win was the fourth in a row for Largent while Perdew suffered his third setback in seven decisions.

The Redmen supplanted Purple Heart in second place in the National Division of the league when a walk to Frank Young, a bunt single by Largent, a throwing error, a sacrifice fly by Deb Payton and a single by Bill Cook plated the two runs for the Redmen in the second overtime inning.

Largent struck out 16 and walked only one in going the route on a two-hitter. Perdew and Hitchins obtained the two singles for Purple Heart.

In an American Division contest LaVale Speed Wash walloped Potomac Edison, 11-0, as Jack Long twirled a one-hitter over the five-inning route. The win was the second for LaVale while PE went down to defeat for the fifth time in six games.

Galen McGregor, Hene Horton and Don Hudson each obtained two hits for LaVale. Kline's single in the fifth was the only safe blow allowed by Long who chalked up his second pitching victory. The results:

This "glass highway" shows you the biggest advance in tires today...

THE BIG EDGE!

A highway paved with glass! High-speed cameras whirring beneath it as a car drives, turns, stops on the glass! Thousands of pictures taken from under the road show you exactly where today's tires work most, wear most. Show you how a radical new tire tread design developed by B.F.Goodrich gives motorists a big edge in mileage and safety. Read how this great advance in tire design puts more rubber where the wear is—in THE BIG EDGE!

See the severe distortion in the outside edges of this turning tire, photographed from under BFG's glass highway. It explains why you find the first tread wear not in the center of your tires, but on the outside ribs.

You see, in today's driving with new suspension systems and faster speeds, you get terrific loads on your tires' outside edges, little in the center—whether you're driving straight, passing, turning a corner or stopping.

That's why B.F.Goodrich puts up to twice as much rubber as other major-brand, first-line tires in the outer edges. That's The Big Edge—more safety, more mileage than ever before!

Other tires have narrow shoulders, as this diagram shows. The rubber is concentrated in the "dead center" where the action and the wear are least.

BFG Silvertown gives you, for the same money, up to twice as much rubber in the outside ribs, where tires work most, wear most. Only B.F.Goodrich has The Big Edge!

Don't buy any tire till you see the Big Edge demonstration at your B.F.Goodrich dealer!

Ft. Cumberland Post Nine Cops Fifth Straight

Legion Loop Leaders Defeat Farrady, 12-4

Belting the offerings of three pitchers for 15 hits, including a homer by Mike Long, a triple by Melvin Nines and two-baggers by Ronnie Manges and Glenn Shipway, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 extended its winning streak to five games in the Mountain District American Junior Baseball League by walloping Farrady Post No. 24, of Frostburg, yesterday at Campobello by the score of 12-4.

By winning, the locals (5-1) increased their lead to 2½ games over Victory Post of Westernport (2-3). Frostburg suffered its fourth defeat in five outings.

Bill Norris sparked the winners at the plate with three hits while Ronnie Evans, Shipway, Long and Nines had two blows each. Four of Farrady Post's six hits were shared by Bobby Uhl aand Allan Eisel.

Cumberlaand won the game in the first inning when it scored six runs.

Melvin Nines, who hurled the first five innings, got credit for the win. Jim Stewart finished on the mound for the victors. The loss was pinned on Dave Jones.

Manager Bert Lawler's Braves took over the lead in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday by turning back the Athletics, 15-10, in a slugfest at Penn Avenue for their fifth straight victory after an opening game loss to the Tigers.

The Braves tallied eight runs in the last inning to snap a 7-7 tie, five of the runs coming after two were out.

Herbie Springer had five straight hits including a home run while Perky Yates chipped in with a homer, double and two singles for the winners.

Jim Brannon also homered and George Frankland had a triple and single for the Braves. The Athletics were paced at the plate by Bob Nave's three for four including a double and Harry Minnick's homer in the sixth.

Manager Al Manges' Senators snapped a five-game losing streak to register their first win of the year, a 12-5 triumph over the Tigers who went down to their third straight defeat after three wins.

The Senators broke a 4-4 deadlock in the fourth with eight runs on three hits, three walks and two errors. Eddie Plummer was the hitting star for the Senators, reaching base five straight times on a single and double and three walks. He had five runs batted in. The results:

Lary Wins 11th On McAuliffe's Triple

DETROIT (AP) — The American League-leading Detroit Tigers extended their margin to two full games Thursday by downing the Chicago White Sox 5-2 while the second-place New York Yankees were idle. Frank Lary outlasted veteran Cal McLish in a pitcher duel which was as hot as the 93-degree temperature at Tiger Stadium for seven innings.

In that seventh, rookie shortstop Dick McAuliffe blasted a two-run triple, scoring Jake Wood and Mike Roarke who had opened the inning with successive singles.

Those two singles removed McLish from the scene and Turk Lown came on in relief. He struck out Lary for the first out before McAuliffe's big wallop.

Billy Bruton brought McAuliffe in with the final run on a long sacrifice fly.

Lary (11-4) yielded more hits than McLish and Lown but kept them well scattered and was aided by a sparkling defense.

Bruton started the Tigers' scoring in the third with a two-run homer and Floyd Robinson of Chicago homered with nobody on in the fourth.

Malzone Hits Two Homers For Boston

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) —Frank Malzone's two homers and a costly Minnesota error Thursday led Boston to a 9-5 victory that saw rookie Arnold Earley gain his first major league win.

Malzone hit a solo homer in the fourth and a three-run blast in the fifth to bring his season's total to seven. Both round-trippers were hit off Minnesota starter and loser Bert Cueto.

Boston came up with six unearned runs in the fifth after an error by Twins' shortstop Zoilo Versalles opened the floodgates. The big blows of the inning were Malzone's homer and Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double.

Cubs Blast Reds, 15-8

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Cubs blasted four Cincinnati hurlers for 17 hits Thursday, including four homers and four doubles, to gain their third consecutive win over the league-leading Reds, 15-8.

George Altman, the league's leading hitter, drove in four runs with a homer, single, and sacrifice fly as Don Cardwell, who needed seventh-inning relief aid from Don Elston, won his third in a row over the Reds and upped his season record to 7-5.

Cardwell, Billy Williams and Al Heist, also homered for the Cubs. Ron Santo hit three singles and scored four runs and Jerry Kindall drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double.

Optimists Top Jaycees, 3 To 2

Cumberland's Optimists and the B. P. O. Elks won their fourth straight games yesterday in the Hot Stove Baseball League.

The Optimists (10-1) edged the Jaycees at Penn Avenue Field, 3-2, while the Elks made it five wins in their last six outings by downing Bedford Road Optimists by the score of 5-3.

Bill Lueck notched his third win for the league leaders, limiting the Jaycees to two hits while fanning an even dozen.

Tommy Keyser drove in all the Optimists runs. In the first inning he came through with a two-run single, following a walk, hit and stolen base and in the 6th he doubled home Howard Reynolds who had singled. The Jaycees scored their first run on an error and the second on a walk, sacrifice and Mike Adams' double.

In addition to starring at the bat, Keyser picked off Jaycee runners at first and second base.

Dave Price, of the Elks, tossed a 4-hitter and struck out eight in notching his fourth win of the season. Dick Knipple blasted a pair of homers and Tom Bowers had two singles for the Elks while Lee Miller homored and singled and Jim Willis had a two-bagger for Bedford Road. Willis was the losing pitcher. Sturdivant, Mahoney Sent To Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The Columbus Jets of the International League Thursday obtained pitcher Tom Sturdivant and infielder James T. Mahoney from the Washington Senators in exchange for pitcher Tom Cheney.

Sturdivant, 31, who won a total of 32 games with the New York Yankees, was obtained outright by the Jets, while Mahoney was taken on option.

The Jets hope he will provide the team with a consistent double-play combination, it now lacks.

Cheney, obtained from the Pittsburgh Pirates in May, has won five and lost two with the Jets.

Ritter's Cops Battle For 3d

Beat Caseys, 6-3, VFW, Moose Win

Ritter's A.C. broke the tie for third place in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday by downing the Knights of Columbus at Post Field by the score of 6-3 behind the 6-hit pitching of Glenn Kauffman, who posted his seventh win of the season.

The R.A.C. is 9-6 for the season while the Knights have won eight and lost seven.

Bunk Warnick, John Horwath, Joe Scarpelli, Dave Ritter and Fred Meeks garnered two hits each for the winners. Jim Angellatta and Larry Geiger rapped doubles for the Knights.

Ronnie Cage hit a grand slam homer during a six-run first inning to lead the front-running V.F.W. to a 9-0 victory over the C.&P. Telephone Company at East Side Field.

Pete Elliott (5-2) held the Phonemen to two hits, singles by George Evans and John Brown, and struck out five. The win was the 13th in 15 starts for the league leaders.

George Stevenson homered in the third, doubled and singled and Fred "Beef" Corbin smacked a double and single for the winning team.

At Fort Hill Field, the Loyal Order of Moose trounced the Elks, 11-1, under a barrage of 16 hits. Hayden Phillips pounded a triple, double and single, John Price garnered three singles, and Roy Manges and Paul McGregor had two hits each. Leo Rhodes had two of the four hits yielded by Phillips, who fanned seven and registered his second straight win of the season. The loss was the fourth in a row for the Elks and the fifth for Rhodes who has won five games.

NEW YORK LAWYER INDICTED IN CAGE SCANDAL

NEW YORK (AP)—The college basketball scandal continued to spread Thursday when Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan announced the indictment of a New York lawyer as another alleged fixer and injected the names of the universities of Detroit and Oregon into the probe.

Charles Tucker, 25, a New York lawyer, was indicted on three counts of bribery and one of conspiracy involving players from Connecticut, Detroit, Columbia and New York University. The indictment also described an alleged attempt to reach Oregon players that never was fulfilled. Tucker later was released on $1,000 bail.

Tucker played basketball for Kalamazoo (Mich.) College in 1955 and 1956.

The far-reaching investigation in New York and North Carolina that first broke March 17 now has involved 39 players in 22 colleges. It will continue.

Two former students at the Los Angeles City Junior College—Lou Barshak, 21, and Michael Siegel, 21, both of New York—and Dave Budin, former Brooklyn College captain, were named as co-conspirators with Tucker but not as co-defendants.

As in previous cases in New York, the players who testified before the grand jury were granted immunity. The players named Thursday were Charles North, 22, and John Morgan, 21, both of Detroit, and James Granta, 21, of New York, a sub on the Oregon team a year ago.

Braulio Baeza, who won the Belmont with 65 to 1 Sherluck, started riding at 15 in his native Panama. His father and grandfather were jockeys.

Crawford Tops Italian Ace At Wimbledon

Reaches 4th Round With McKinley

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—An irate Chris Crawford eliminated third-seeded Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy Thursday in the biggest upset of the Wimbledon tennis tournament and advanced to the fourth round along with Chuck McKinley.

Otherwise, it was a disappointing day for the Americans as they lost six men while the field was narrowed to 16 survivors.

Crawford, a tall 21-year-old power-hitter from Piedmont, Cal., became angered after a series of debateable line calls helped lose him the first set, and he blasted Pietrangeli out of the tournament, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

McKinley, regarded as America's strongest contender for the men's title, had a comparatively easy route to the fourth round, beating Poland's Wieslaw Gasiorek, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2.

Crawford's victory pitted him against Iyo Pimentel of Venezuela in Friday's fourth round, while McKinley, who is seeded eighth, qualified to play Warren Jacques of Australia who attends Lamar Tech in Beaumont, Tex.

The biggest disappointment among the beaten Yanks was 18-year-old Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., who won the first two sets of his match against Mike Sangster of England then lost, 6-8, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

Other Americans ousted in the third round were: John Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif.; Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif.; Don Dell of Bethesda, Md.; Bill Bond of La Jolla, Calif., and Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla.

Campbell Leads In Flint Open

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Joe Campbell of Chattanooga, Tenn., sank a 25-foot shot from a sand trap on the 18th hole Thursday and seized a one-stroke, first-round lead in the $53,000 Flint Open.

Campbell had a four-under par 68 and led Stan Sikes, a rookie on the pro tour, by the margin of his spectacular shot from the sand.

Campbell and Sikes rocketed past more experienced pros Lionel Hebert, Jerry Mages and defending champion Mike Souchak who all shot 70s.

Mays Hits 3 Homers In Giants Win

San Francisco Beats Phils 8-7

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Willie Mays hit three homers to bat in five runs Thursday night and his third, which opened the 10th inning, gave the San Francisco Giants an 8-7 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Wondrous Willie hit his 18th off Dallas Green with one on in the first, repeated with one on off Green in the third and then won the game with his 20th, a line blast into the upper left field stands off Frank Sullivan in the 10th. He also had a single.

Juan Marichal, the fifth Giant pitcher who worked the final two innings, won his sixth of the season.

The twi-nighter was scheduled as a follow up to Wednesday night's 15-inning tie which lasted five hours and 11 minutes.

Mickey Wright, JoAnn Prentice Pace Open Golf

Post Opening Round 72s At Baltursrol

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Mickey Wright, a big money winner of women's golf, and JoAnn Prentice, who never has won a tournament as a pro, shared the first-round lead Thursday in the Women's National Open Golf Championship. They shot 72s over the big, rough Baltursrol lower course.

Mickey posted her round of 37-35 early in the day. It looked good enough to stand up as the wind rose and made the 6,372-yard, par 36-36—72 course play longer and tougher than ever. Then JoAnn came along with a matching round.

Two strokes behind were Betsy Rawls, the defending champion and only four-time winner of the Women's Open, and a pair of star amateurs, Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Fonthill, Ont. and Mrs. Helen Sigel Wilson of Philadelphia. At 75 were pro Ruthie Jessen of Seattle and amateur Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio.

Not many of the 30 pros and even fewer amateurs in the field of 82 managed to break 80 on rugged Baltusrol, with its deceptively rolling greens and deep traps full of soft sand.

Mickey, who has won three tournaments this year, trails Louise Suggs by about $200 in money winnings.

Cards of Thanks

The family of the late George Carl Wachter, Sr., wishes to thank their many friends and neighbors for their kindness and expression of sympathy during their recent bereavement. They also wish to thank the staff of Memorial Hospital, the pallbearers, and those who loaned cars for the funeral.

Wife and Sons

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Nancy Karnes who departed this life, June 30, 1959.

Dear mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
Sadly missed by

Youth Is Held In Burglary At Barton's Dairy

Police Recover Portion Of Money

An 18-year-old local youth was arrested yesterday by State Police in connection with the theft of $2,000 from the office of Barton's Dairy last week.

Being held at the LaVale barracks is David William Shank, 207 Beall Street, a former employe of Barton's Dairy.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, arrested Shank in Cumberland yesterday morning and questioned him at length concerning the burglary.

Sgt. Baker said another youth also is being sought in connection with the breaking and entering which was discovered when employes came to work last Friday morning.

Entry was made into the dairy by breaking a window, Sgt. Baker said. He added the money was taken from a steel safe which had been forced open.

Sgt. Baker said the two youths apparently went on a spending spree and purchased an automobile and several other items. However a large portion of the goods purchased with the stolen money was recovered along with $150 in cash.

Assisting Sgt. Baker with the investigation is Tfc. Milton G. Hart and Tfc. Bernard J. Chabot.

Robert, Mrs. Troy Marks Jr., Mrs. Paul Stevens, Mrs. William B. Riffle and Mrs. Harold C. Wickard.

N.Y. Central 'Raid' Is Not Aim Of C&O

ICC Hears More Merger Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroads, seeking affiliation, Thursday said the proposed combine has no intention of attempting a "raid" on New York Central's freight business.

They also told the Interstate Commerce Commission that they do not want to bring Central into the proposed combination, at least not at this time.

C & O senior vice president John E. Kusik said a three-way merger such as Central has proposed overburden "even the financially strong C & O," asserting his company would not put its cash and credit behind the ailing B & O without complete control of a projected B & O rehabilitation program.

Central has expressed concern that an 11,000 mile C&O-B&O rail system from the mid-west to the Atlantic Seabord might prove ruinous to it.

Vice President J .W. Phipps Jr. of B&O testified there is no intent "to raid the freight traffic of the New York Central," and said he believed that any such raid "if attempted would be a complete failure."

The B&O official said his company did not expect any great increase in freight traffic at the expense of other railroads, but that a C&O affiliation would provide the means "to compete effectively" against trucking operations and barge lines described as having diverted major business from B&O.

Devine described the C&O and B&O systems as complementary rather than competitive, noting his company specializes in delivery of metallurgical coal to steel mills, while B&O's hauling of steam coal is principally to public utility plants.

Devine said there is a large potential for developing new steam coal mines in the northern West Virginia fields and expressed the view this development "will come about only if the combined resources of the C&O and B&O are available to support it."

Noting that C&O is now in position to take over 61 per cent control of B&O, Kusick asked the ICC to require Central and its parent, Alleghany Corp., to sell some of its more than 20 per cent of its stock holdings to C&O so that the latter could obtain at least an 80 per cent control.

He explained an 80 per cent control would be required to make possible the filing of consolidated C&O-B&O federal income tax returns involving potential tax savings of $50 million in the next five years.

Politics Breaks Summer Lull In Maryland

Mathias, Long Exchange Shots

By The Associated Press

Next year's wholesale statewide elections has taken the doldrums out of summer politics.

The sparring is unusually brisk with only 10 months before the May primaries.

The lone Republican congressman, Rep. Charles McMathias, and Dr. Clarence D. Long, state Democratic co-chairman, exchanged jabs Thursday.

Called Inept

In Annapolis Wednesday night, the director of research for the Republican National Committee called the Democratic administration of Gov. Tawes inept.

The state Democratic organization has been going around the state at a series of planned regional meetings tolling off what they say are the accomplishments of the Tawes administration.

And there has been brisk undercover activity by would-be candidates.

The unusual summer politicking is caused by the number of offices to be filled in the 1962 election.

To be chosen are governor, attorney general, comptroller, eight representatives, a U. S. senator and 123 members of the General Assembly.

Mathias is the only Republican among the seven incumbent Repsentatives and so the Democrat fire in that division will be concentrated on him.

Long started it quickly with a statement Tuesday rapping Mathias for voting against an administration housing bill.

Mathias replied Thursday, saying that the $4.9 billion was "distinctly out of line with the needs of the country." He voted for a one-year extension of the present program costing little more than $1 billion.

Mathias Replies

At the same time, he advised Long "when the people of Western Maryland want to ask a question of their Congressman they are capable of doing it on their own."

Mathias was elected by voters in Montgomery, Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties.

The Republican attack from national headquarters heard in Annapolis came from Dr. William B. Prendergast, a former Naval Academy professor and former unsuccessful candidate for the House of Representatives.

"The quality of government on both the state and local level is the worst I have seen," Prendergast told a meeting of Young Republicans.

"I have never seen a governor as inept as Millard Tawes, who works hard to dodge the issues and keep from making the decisions a governor should make."

Long issued a reply Thursday, saying the statements by Prendergast "provide the citizens of Maryland with valid proof that the GOP is just as incapable of performing accurate research as it is in providing efficient State government.

Charges that Tawes is inept,

Red Cross Gray Ladies Given Caps, Certificates

Eight Gray Ladies of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, received their caps, pins and certificates at a capping ceremony held yesterday at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

A dutch treat luncheon preceded the capping program. Robert Little Ebert, chapter chairman, was master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary, presented caps to the Gray Ladies; Mrs. Edward Naughton, Gray Lady chairman, presented pins and Mr. Ebert presented certificates. Mrs. Robert Gerson, chairman of volunteers, welcomed the new Gray Ladies and presented them with Red Cross identification cards.

Special guests were Miss Margaret Keller, nursing arts instructor at Memorial Hospital, representing Mrs. Gladys Brooks, director of nurses at the hospital who was unable to attend; Mrs. Mary Etta Early, director of nurses at Sacred Heart Hospital; Sister Anna Frances, sister supervisor of Sacred Heart Hospital, and Earl Grim, superintendent of Allegany County Home. Each gave brief remarks and extended a welcome to the Gray Ladies who will exercise their duties at the respective institutions.

A Red Cross film "A Little Bit More," was shown.

Other guests were Mrs. Bertha Claar, Mrs. Frances Wallace, Gray Ladies, Miss Edith Darnley, executive secretary, and Mrs. Norman Geatz Sr., chapter treasurer and volunteer member of the Red Cross Motor Corps.

Gray Ladies receiving certificates were Mrs. Raymond E. Chaney, Mrs. John Gideon, Mrs. Robert Hunter Jr., Mrs. Troy Marks Jr., Mrs. William B. Riffle, Mrs. Mary H. Robert, Mrs. Paul Stevens and Mrs. Harold C. Wickard.

Dr. Cameron Named Acting Health Officer

Dr. Ross Cameron, Hagerstown, deputy state health officer for Washington County, has been requested by the State Department of Health to fill in as acting head of the Allegany County Health Department for the time being.

Dr. Cameron will take the place of Dr. Ton van Strien, who has resigned as deputy state health officer, effective today. Dr. Cameron said last night that he will be in Cumberland on Monday, and will decide at that time how often his services will be required here.

This will be the second time Dr. Cameron has filled in as health officer for Allegany County. In 1957, following the retirement of Dr. Winter R. Frantz, Dr. Cameron came to Cumberland once a week until the appointment of Dr. van Strien.

Dr. van Strien Honored By Staff

Dr. Ton van Strien, who has resigned his position as deputy state health officer for Allegany County, yesterday was honored with a farewell party by members of the various staffs of the health department. He was the recipient of many gifts from the staff members. His wife and children were also guests.

First Intra-City Playground Event Set For Next Week

The first intra-city event of the City Recreation Department's playground program will be held next week. A games championship, it will feature tournaments in horseshoes, kalah and box hockey, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, who will be general supervisor of tournaments.

The horseshoe event will be held Monday at Pine Avenue Playground beginning at 1 p. m. Three groups will participate. The junior group, ages 8 to 12 will pitch 30 feet; seniors, age 13 and up will pitch 40 feet and girls, all ages, will pitch 30 feet. Referees are Pat Kenney, Marian Wilson, Jean Beckward, William Brown and Gary Thompson.

Johnson Heights playground will be the site for the second event, the kalah tournament, scheduled Thursday at 1 p. m. Boys and girls in three age groups will vie in this event, six, seven and eight year-olds; nine, 10, 11 and 12 year-olds and 13 years old and up. Referees will be Pat Kenney, Marion Wilson, Ronna Grim and Maxine Zehrbach.

On Friday, the box hockey tournament will be held at 1 p. m. at West Side playground, with boys and girls in the same three age groups as for kalah. Referees are Pat Kenney, Marian Wilson, Mildred White, Nancy Close and Bobby McClellan.

Awards will be given winners in each age group in all three events, Mrs. Hogan said.

The past week, individual champions have been selected for the three activities at each of the 14 city play centers.

TopDiscount On County Taxes Ends

Drops To Four During July

Today is the final day you can save five per cent on county taxes, said Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff.

Next month the taxpayer will get a four per cent discount and during August will get three per cent deducted off the county tax bill.

The amount of tax money collected thus far is nearing the three million dollar mark, according to Mr. Orndorff who said that at the close of business yesterday a total of $2,770,131.84 had been collected.

Yesterday employes in the tax office collected a total of $189,044.55. On the final day of collection outside the Court House this month, $11,875.34 was collected in Westernport.

The tax office at the Court House is open today from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. for those who want to take advantage of the five per postmarked before midnight tonight also will be entitled to the five per cent discount.

Injured Youth Returns Home

A local 16-year-old youth, who was injured in a spectacular auto accident February 25 on State Route 28 near Ridgeley, has returned to his home, 100½ Arch Street, after being a patient in Children's Hospital, Baltimore since March 8.

Carl L. Huff will be returned to the hospital in Baltimore in six months for further treatment, according to his father, Carl V. Huff, who said his son was brought home Saturday in the ambulance of the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company.

The boy was riding in a car which went out of control on Route 28, knocked down two utility poles and wrecked along the highway. Several other youths were injured in the accident.

Scout Council Enrollment Reaches 2,423

Goal Of 2,902 Set By December

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, which covers six counties in two states, announces a membership of 2,423 youths in the scouting program.

This represents an increase of 40 boys for the period last year, according to Ivan Hall, council organization and extension chairman.

Mr. Hall said at the end of December 1960, the council had 2,571 youths registered and a goal of 2,902 has been set for December of the year.

A breakdown of this year's enrollment shows 1,113 Cub Scouts, 1,057 Boy Scouts and 253 Explorer Scouts. These scouts are members of 34 packs, 47 troops and 17 posts.

Nemacolin Trail District had the largest registration with 1,453, while Tri-Valley District had 790 and Deep Creek District had 790 boys enrolled.

Counties covered by Potomac Council include Allegany and Garrett in Maryland, and Mineral, Hardy, Hampshire and Grant counties in West Virginia.

Wheels Parade Set Tonight At Gephart

A wheels parade will be held at Gephart Playground today at 7:30 p.m., according to Ronna Grim, playground director. The most original, funniest and prettiest will be awarded prizes.

A Teen-Age Club has been formed at the playlot. Elected officers are Jim Cox, president; Gail Davis, vice president; Linda Lowe, secretary, and Steve Rice, treasurer. The club will meet on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. Tonight the group will sponsor a dance following the wheels parade.

On Wednesday evening a preteen club was also organized.

Game tournaments are being held at the play center in horse shoes, kalah and box hockey.

To Serve Supper

The Wiley Ford Fire Company and Auxiliary will sponsor a chicken supper tomorrow at the fire hall. Suppers will be served from 7 to 9 p. m.

County Planning Unit Hears Consultant

Zoning Ordinance Studied Further

A closer look at the proposed interim zoning ordinance for Allegany County and a report on the survey work completed during the past 10 months for the County Planning and Zoning Commission was made last night during a meeting at the Court House.

Julian Tarrant of Richmond, Va. representative of Ladislas Segoe and Associates, planning consultants for the county, went over the proposed ordinance with members of the commission prior to having a public hearing which is anticipated next month.

Last night's meeting had a dual purpose — settling the interim zoning ordinance and discussing a new contract with Mr. Tarrant.

His initial contract with the planning commission expires today, having been in effect since August 25 last year.

Table Talks

It was decided to table the contract talks and discuss it at the next regular meeting which will be held on July 27 at the Court House. The commission has until July 31 to decide on signing a second contract with Mr. Tarrant and the consulting firm.

Mr. Tarrant with the use of a blackboard borrowed from the court room jotted down a few facts and figures and percentages in reference to land use in Allegany County.

He pointed out that about four per cent of the county land area, or 11,653 acres, is for urban or related uses.

A breakdown shows that cities and towns comprise 4,813 acres; residential (unincorporated) 5,341 acres; business 323 acres; motels and trailer parks, 60 acres; industrial, 607 acres; schools, churches and utilities, 509 acres.

In other land use strip mines and quarries (active) include 1,320 acres; strip mines and quarries (inactive) 1,932 acres; farms, 42,578 acres; rivers and streams, 3,142 acres.

He pointed out that about 77.5 per cent of the land area of the county is mountainous, wooded areas or other vacant land and this amount is a fine reserve for industrial and recreational purposes. There are about 270,000 acres of land in the county.

In his report for the 10 months survey statistics complied include population and economic aspects, census and agricultural material, land use survey, information on housing, future school needs and data for the zoning ordinance as well as base maps of the county area. Mr. Tarrant said he expects to have all the survey material completed within the next two months.

Discussed last night was the employment of a county planner who would be needed when the zoning ordinance goes into effect.

John T. Mason, who acted as chairman in the absence of Richard Winer, suggested that the qualifications probably be lowered or the salary increased. Mr. Tarrant is attempting to locate suit-

McClary Appeals Compensation Ruling

Edward B. McClary, through Attorney Simon F. Reilly, filed an appeal in Allegany County Circuit Court from a recent decision of the State Workmen's Compensation Commission.

McClary was an employe and claimant who the commission ruled June 5 did not sustain an accidental injury arising out of and in the course of his employment on or about December 12, 1960.

Other parties to the appeal are Tidewater-Hazelwood, employer, and Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company, insurer.

Two Injured In Truck Accident

Vehicle Plunges Over Embankment

Two Texas truck drivers were seriously injured early yesterday afternoon when a tractor-trailer went out of control and plunged over a 50-foot embankment on Green Ridge Mountain.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital were Dayson Fleming, 29, Arlington, Tex., and William Arnold, 58, of Lancaster, Tex.

Fleming sustained possible internal injuries, abrasions of the face, arms and legs, and a laceration of the left hand.

Arnold also suffered possible internal injuries, a fractured left leg and a laceration of the chin. Both men were listed as "fair" last night.

Trooper John F. McFarland said the tractor-trailer was headed west on U.S. Route 40 when the brakes on the vehicle apparently failed.

The trooper said when Fleming tried to gear the large truck down it jacknifed, rolled over and plunged over the embankment near the foot of the mountain.

The truck, which was carrying a load of new furniture, was estimated as a total loss, according to Trooper McFarland.

Prospective Lot Buyers Are Warned

Local residents are warned not to be misled by a Florida developer who is selling vacation lots at Lake Youghiogheny in nearby Somerset County, Pa.

Recently many persons in this area have received letters from E L. Parker, Miami Beach, who represents Lake Youghiogheny Estates, a vacation development planned at the lake which is located on U.S. Route 40 about 18 miles from Grantsville.

However, earlier this month the Pennsylvania State Department of Health issued warnings to prospective lot buyers to beware of certain health problems which may exist at the development.

The health department stated it was concerned with water and sewage problems, and that the promoters said they were concerned only with the sale of the lots.

Attorney Paul Fike, Somerset, one of the solicitors for Addison Township where the development is planned, said yesterday the proposed site is a half-mile from Lake Youghiogheny.

He added the township approved the plan for the lots in the development, but refused to accept any roads or streets at the site. Thus, any maintenance of the proposed streets or roads would have to be done by the lot owners.

The letter sent out advertising the development says "property owners will share boat docks, boat ramps, picnic areas, barbecue pits and beautiful beaches, as well as the finest of bathing, boating, fishing and hunting."

Actually all of the land immediately adjoining the water is owned by the Federal Government and is supervised by the Army Corps of Engineers. Private beaches are not permitted on the lake according to the engineers.

Five Counties Discuss Varied Affairs

Colleges, Sewage Chief Among Topics

Apparently unrelated subjects as junior colleges and sewage disposal, which are both a part of community betterment, were discussed by county commissioners of five Western Maryland counties at a quarterly meeting yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club.

The junior college talk first featured a discussion by Atlee Kepler, president of the Hagerstown Junior College, which was organized 15 years ago.

Mr. Kepler told the county commissioners from Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Carroll counties about the financial arrangements for junior colleges in Maryland. Local students pay only one-third of the cost while the state and county pay one-third each. This same arrangement could be made for a resident of either Garrett or Washington county should they attend the planned new community college here. However, out-of-state students would be required to bear all of the cost.

Webster Speaks

Allegany County Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster followed up Mr. Kepler's remarks. He discussed plans for the establishment of the new community college here in the former Carver School building on Frederick Street. The county commissioners have authorized its establishment in the fiscal year starting tomorrow.

Mr. Kepler said this county was fortunate in having a single building to house all of the college classes.

Sewage Question

The sewage question was broached by Frank A. Dorsey, chairman of the Carroll County Sanitary Commission. Carroll, Frederick and Allegany counties all have created sanitary commissions to handle this problem especially in built-up areas near incorporated towns.

Another significant topic was brought up by a guest at yesterday's meeting, Newton F. Butts, Montgomery County's budget director. His county has found that employment of a full-time civil engineer has reduced engineering costs there appreciably. The counties in this Western Maryland Association expressed interest in this prospect of saving county funds.

The Hub City college recently was granted authority by the Legislature to float a $750,000 bond issue for the construction of additional facilities, Mr. Kepler said, adding that under another legislative program the state is paying $225 for each student enrolled. A third of the cost, he continued, is shared equally by the state, county and student.

Mr. Kepler also said the Hagerstown college offers terminal courses, explaining that a better name for the training is technical courses since the majority of persons enrolled in that phase are people who are "brushing up" on matters already studied in college.

The college president attended the meeting along with the Washington County delegation that included Lemuel Kirk, president of the county commissioners, Commissioners Charles Downey and John Easterday, and Carl Parsley, clerk to the board.

The meeting was opened by John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, that was host for the affair. Other county officials were Commissioner John T. Mason, James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county board; Harry Skelly, roads supervisor; William B. Orndorff, tax collector.

Also from this county were Robert Reinhard and Alvin Rankin, members of the County Sanitary Commission, and Judge William A. Wilson of the Maryland Tax Court, a former member of the county commissioners.

From Garrett County were Carl Schell, president of the county board; Commissioner Fred Glotfelty and Paul DeWitt, assistant roads supervisor.

Frederick County was represented by Delbert Null, president, and C. Burton Cannon, of the Board of County Commissioners; Ann McNeal, clerk to the board, and Goodloe Byran, board attorney.

Guests included H. T. Slaughter, Calvert County, president of the Maryland Association of County Commissioners, and Robert Lovelace, lecturer in government at the University of Maryland, who is executive secretary of the state commissioners group.

Representatives from Carroll County were Commissioner Francis Crawford and Frank A. Dorsey, chairman of the county's Sanitary Commission.

New Clerk Is Greeted

Mrs. Ann McNeal, who has been serving as clerk to the Frederick County Board of Commissioners only since May, was a welcome addition to the meeting yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club of the Western Maryland County Commissioners Association. Seated with Mrs. McNeal is John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. Standing are representatives of four other counties at the quarterly meeting. Left to right, they are Francis Crawford, Carroll County commissioner; Lemuel Kirk of Hancock, president of the Washington County Board of Commissioners; Carl Schell, president of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, and Delbert Null, president of the Frederick County Board of Commissioners. Mrs. McNeal was appointed to succeed C. Burton Cannon, when the latter was appointed a county commissioner.
